INVOCATION

Almighty God,

We are assembled in fellowship with the Honorable Members of the City Council of N.Y.

It is a signal privilege for this is the first session of the new century and millenium. It is fitting to quote from the Psalm

For a 1000 years are in thine eyes as a day, as yesterday that passed a humble man prayed than if so God made me a rich man for only just one day. And God responded wait a minute.

May we not be overwhelmed by the thought that we must plan for a millenium — nor even a century. Ours is to presence one minute — God's precious minute.

Thus we pray. May we be freed from crime, terrorism, strife, graffiti, violence and vandalism so that streets and homes be tranquil and secure — so that the city may remain a metropolis of liberty.

Prosper our city in all its industries and commerce. So that there be no want or scarcity.

Reward with the Joy of Goodness, the Charitable and Merciful who aid the poor, and care for the sick and the dedicated who teach the young and all who thirst for knowledge.

Bless the Mayor, the City Council, the Commissioners and Administrators to be loyal to truth and discharge the obligations which test our courage, trust and fidelity.

May we walk fearlessly, may we work confidently and may we live victoriously. Let us all say, Amen.

Council Member Dear moved to spread the Invocation in full upon the Record.

Adoption of Minutes

Council Member Robles moved that the Minutes of the Stated Meeting of Tuesday, December 7, 1999, be adopted as printed.

b. (1) an amount computed at the rate of three-quarters of a mill for each dollar of the portion of its subsidiary capital allocated within the city as hereinafter provided.

Res. No. 1136

Resolution by the Council of the City of New York calling upon the appropriate committee to hold an oversight hearing to review the operations, methodology, and regulatory procedures of the Mayor's Office of Film, Theatre, and Broadcasting.

By Council Members Lopez, Perkins and Freed; also Council Members Leffler, Michels, O'Donovan, Pinkett, Provenzano, Robinson and Rodriguez

Whereas, The Mayor's Office of Film, Theatre, and Broadcasting provides economic development services to the film industry and controls the issuance of permits for location shooting throughout the five boroughs; and

Whereas, According to the Mayor's Management Report (1999), "During Fiscal 1999 the Mayor's Office of Film, Theatre, and Broadcasting facilitated 19,542 total production shooting days and 7,937 total productions"; and

Whereas, The completed film productions generate billions of dollars in revenues, for their producers and shareholders, when they are marketed; and

Whereas, While this process generates jobs, taxes, and other revenues within New York City it also creates havoc in our communities which, without forewarning of shooting schedules, can not plan ahead to minimize disruptions to local commercial and social activities; and

Whereas, To resolve this problem, and also maintain the film industry's access to New York City locations, there is a need to create a review process whereby Community Boards would be notified in advance of shooting schedules and could therefore act in an advisory capacity regarding local disruptions and inconvenience; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Council of the City of New York calls upon the appropriate committee to hold an oversight hearing to review the operations, methodology, and regulatory procedures of the Mayor's Office of Film, Theatre, and Broadcasting.

Referred to the Committee on Parks, Recreation, Cultural Affairs and International Intergroup Relations.

Res. No. 1137

Resolution calling upon the appropriate committee of the Council of the City of New York to hold hearings to determine the practices used by all hospitals in New York City, including all transplant hospitals, to prevent outbreaks of Legionnaire's Disease at their facilities.

By Council Members Oddo, Malave-Dilan, Freed, Miller, Nelson, Rodriguez, Abel and Golden; also Council Members Foster, Harrison, Leffler, Pinkett, Povman, Provenzano and Rivera

Whereas, Patients admitted to hospitals in New York City are entitled to receive health services without incurring the risk of further disease and sickness; and

Whereas, An estimated 8,000-18,000 cases of Legionnaire's Disease occur each year in the United States, 5% to 15% of which result in death; and

Whereas, Legionnaire's Disease has been detected in hospitals and medical centers nationwide, with outbreaks in hospitals in New York, Maryland, Pennsylvania, Minnesota, Arizona, Ohio and Texas; and

Whereas, In particular, the Disease was found in a Maryland Hospital where there have been six deaths since June of 1999, and caused more than 40 suspected cases and three deaths in Ellenville, New York; in Tucson, Arizona, researchers found that the disease may have been active for 17 years, killing 12 people without being discovered; 11 out of 12 hospitals in San Antonio had the bacteria in their water, and 5 out of 6 hospitals in Pittsburgh had contaminated water systems; and

Whereas, Legionnarie's Disease is an acute bacterial disease caused by Legionella pneumopila, bacteria that typically live in water and are commonly found in drinking water, water cooling towers, hot water heaters, hot tubs, and shower heads; and

Whereas, The main source for the outbreak of Legionnaire's Disease in hospitals has been in the drinking water, with bacteria growing and surviving at temperatures between 20-50 degrees celsius; and

Whereas, While it has been determined that hospital-acquired Legionnaire's Disease can be effectively avoided by curtailing the growth of the bacteria through a number of different precautions, most hospitals do not test their water, and

Whereas, Effective controls have been identified, such as copper-silver ionization al superheat al flush disinfecting measures of hospital potable water supply, intensive surveillance for hospital-acquired legionella, and periodic testing of immuno-compromised patients, particularly the elderly; and

Whereas, It has not yet been determined whether hospitals in the New York City area currently take any of the aforementioned precautions to prevent potential outbreaks of Legionnarie's Disease; and

Whereas, A determination of hospital practices regarding the protection of patients from Legionnaire's disease, and a discussion of the causes of the disease and the available remedies in the case of outbreaks, would be beneficial for the protection of the sick and elderly admitted into New York City hospitals; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Council of the City of New York calls upon the appropriate committee to hold hearings to determine the practices used by all hospitals in New York City, including all transplant hospitals, to prevent outbreaks of Legionnarie's Disease at their facilities.

Referred to the Committee on Health.

Res. No. 1138

Resolution calling upon the appropriate committee of the Council of the City of New York to conduct a hearing on the collapse of the building under construction at 54-58 Middleton Street in the Williamsburg section of Brooklyn, and the actions of the Department of Buildings and the Fire Department with regard to construction safety.

By Council Members Robles, Freed and Abel; also Council Members Fisher, Foster, Harrison, Rivera and Robinson

Whereas, On November 23, 1999, a floor in an apartment building under construction, 54-58 Middleton Street at the corner of Lee Avenue in Williamsburg, buckled and collapsed under the weight of freshly poured cement, burying 13 workers in wet cement, concrete blocks and twisted metal beams; and

Whereas, In August of this year, four men were injured when workers overstacked bricks on a floor being repaired in the building at the work site; and

Whereas, When interviewed by reporters after the November collapse, one worker said he complained the prior week to one of the developers that the roof structure was not properly supported, but was told to drop the issue; and

Whereas, The problems at the Middleton Street site were not the first for Industrial Enterprises, a Williamsburg-based company which in 1996 was cited by the federal Occupational Safety and Health Administration for six serious safety violations on another project; and

Whereas, Daniel Eduardo 22, a Mexican immigrant who lived in Brooklyn was killed in the deadly collapse when he was covered with concrete and suffocated when he couldn't get up in time; and

Whereas, In addition, eleven other workers were injured in the collapse, many of whom were picked for the $70 a day job before dawn on a Brooklyn street corner; and

Whereas, The Department of Buildings is the City agency charged with primary responsible for enforcing safety standards in building construction; and

Whereas, According to the Daily News, December 8, 1999, Fire Department officials sent to the Department of Buildings information warning about construction techniques that appear similar to those involved in the November 23rd collapse and the Department of Buildings seems not to have responded appropriately to the information presented by the Fire Department; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the appropriate committee of the Council of the City of New York conduct a hearing on the collapse of the building under construction at 54-58 Middleton Street in the Williamsburg section of Brooklyn, and the actions of the Department of Buildings and the Fire Department with regard to construction safety.

Referred to the Committee on Housing and Buildings.

PROCUREMENT

READER'S GUIDE

The City Record (CR), published each business day, lists notices of proposed New York City procurement actions, contract awards, and other procurement information. Solicitations notices for most procurement above $25,000 for goods or services or above $50,000 for construction and construction related services are published for at least one day.

Unless otherwise specified, the agencies and offices listed are open for business Mondays thru Fridays from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. except legal holidays.

BIDDERS LIST APPLICATIONS

New York City procures approximately $7 billion worth of goods, services, construction and construction related services each year. The NYC's Procurement Policy Board rules require that agencies primarily solicit from bidder/proposer lists developed for each commodity/category. Suppliers interested in being placed on such lists may obtain an application from the following agencies:

Goods

● Department of Citywide Administrative Services, Division of Municipal Supplies, Office of Vendor Relations, 1 Centre St.,18th Floor, NY, NY 10007 (212) 669-8562.

Construction & Construction Related Services

● Mayor's Office of Construction, Bidders List Unit, 75 Park Place, 7th Floor, New York, NY 10007 (212) 788-2502.

All Other Services

● Mayor's Office of Contracts, Bidders List Unit, 253 Broadway, 9th Floor, New York, NY 10007 (212) 788-0010 Applications may also be obtained directly from each City agency. Relevant names, addresses, and telephone numbers are listed in Chapter 4 of the Vendor Information Manual.(see next section)

VENDOR INFORMATION MANUAL

This manual contains information on how to do business with the City. It can be obtained, at no cost, from the Department of Business Services, 110 William Street - 2nd floor, New York 10038. Request should be made to Gordon Richards, Director - Procurement Outreach Program, (212) 513-6356 (Tel) or (212) 618-8899 (Fax).

PREQUALIFIED LIST

New York City procurement policy permits agencies to develop and solicit from prequalified lists of vendors, under prescribed circumstance. When it is decided by an agency to develop a prequalified list, criteria for prequalification must be clearly explained in the solicitation and notice of the opportunity to prequalify for that solicitation must be published in at least five issues of the CR.

Information and qualification questionnaires for inclusion on such list may be obtained directly from the Agency Chief Contracting Officer at each agency, (see Vendor Information Manual). A completed qualification Questioner may be submitted to the Chief Contracting Officer at any time, unless otherwise indicated and action (approval or denial) shall be taken by the agency within 90 days from the date of submission. Any denial or revocation of prequalified status can be appealed to the Office of Administrative Trials and Hearing (OATH) Section 3-11 of the Procurement Policy Board Rules describes the criteria for the general use of prequalified lists.

NON-MAYORAL ENTITIES

PUBLIC ACCESS CENTER

The Public Access Center is available to suppliers and the public as a central source for supplier-related information through on-line computer access. The Center is located at 253 Broadway, 9th floor, in lower Manhattan, and is open Monday through Friday from 10 am to 3 pm. For information, contact the Mayor's Office of Contracts at (212) 788-0010.

ATTENTION: NEW YORK CITY MINORITY AND WOMEN OWNED BUSINESS ENTERPRISE

Join the growing number of Minority and Women Owned Business Enterprises (M/WBEs) that are competing for New York City's business.

In order to become certified for the program, your company must substantiate that it:

(1) is at least fifty-one percent (51%) owned, operated and controlled by a minority or woman and

(2) is either located in New York City or has a significant tie to New York City's business community.

To obtain a copy of the certification application and to learn more about the program, contact the New York City Department of Business Services,

110 William Street, 2nd Floor,

PROMPT PAYMENT

It is policy of the City of New York to pay its bills promptly. The Procurement Policy Board Rules generally require that the City pay its bill within 30 days after the receipt of a proper invoice. The City pays interest on any late invoice after the expiration of a 15-day "grace" period. There are certain types of payments that are not eligible for interest; these are listed in Section 5-07 of the Procurement Policy Board Rules. The Comptroller and OMB determine the interest rate on late payments every six months, in January and July of each year.

To learn more about the City's prompt payment policy, you can obtain a copy of the City's Vendor Payment Guidelines form the Procurement Policy Board51 Chambers Street Room 1126, New York 10007 (212) 788-7820

HOW TO READ CR PROCUREMENT NOTICES

Procurement Notices in the CR are arranged by alphabetically listed Agencies, and within Agency, by Division if any. The notices for each Agency (or Division) are further divided into three subsections: Solicitations: Awards; and Lists & Miscellaneous notices. Each of these subsections separately lists notices pertaining to Goods, to Services, or to Construction. Notices of Public Hearings on Contract Awards appear at the end of the Procurement Section. At the end of each Agency (or Division) listing is a paragraph giving the specific address to contact to secure, examine and/or to submit bid or proposal documents, forms, plans, specifications, and other information, as well as where bids will be publicly opened and read. This address should be used for the purpose specified UNLESS a different one is given in the individual notice. In that event, the directions in the individual notice should be followed. The following is a SAMPLE notice and an explanation of the notice format used by the CR.

A job order contract is an indefinite quantity contract pursuant to which the contractor will perform a series of projects at various wastewater treatment plants and facilities within Regional Group 1 in New York City. The bid documents include a book of construction tasks with preset unit prices and related specifications. The contractors will competitively bid two adjustment factors to be applied to the unit prices. The first adjustment factor is for performing work during Normal Working Hours and a second adjustment factor is for performing work during Other Than Normal Working Hours. The cost for each individual project is determined by multiplying the preset unit prices and the appropriate quantities by one of the competitively bid adjustment factors.

Interested bidders must attend two mandatory pre-bid conferences. The first mandatory pre-bid conference will be held June 20, 2000, at 10:00 am at the Fire Department Training Academy Auditorium on Randall's Island, for the purpose of discussing the specifics of the contract, how the contract will be administered, and the type of projects that will be performed. The second mandatory pre-bid conference will be held June 23, 2000, at 10:00 am at the Fire Department Training Academy Auditorium on Randall's Island, for the purpose of discussing the book of construction tasks, unit prices, and the calculation of the adjustment factor. Attendance at both pre-bid conferences is mandatory. Failure to attend both pre-bid conferences may result in a determination of non-responsiveness.

Bid documents will be available from the Contract Management Unit, 59-17 Junction Blvd., 17th Floor, Corona, NY 11368 after the first mandatory pre-bid conference. For questions concerning this procurement, contact Carol Fenves at (718) 595-3225.

DEVELOPMENT TRANSITIONAL RESIDENCES FOR HOMELESS ADULTS AND FAMILIES AND DROP IN CENTERS FOR ADULTS – CSP – PIN# 071-00S003262 – The Department of Homeless Services is soliciting proposals from organizations interested in developing and operating transitional residences for homeless adults and families and drop-in centers for adults. This is an open-ended solicitation; there is no due date for submission. Proposals will be reviewed by the Department as they are received and contracts will be awarded on an on-going basis, until the agency's capacity needs are met. DHS reserves the right to award a contract on the basis of initial offers received without discussion. Contracts will be awarded to responsible applicants whose negotiated offers are determined to be the most advantageous to the City, taking into consideration the price and other such factors and criteria set-fourth in the RFP. Contract award will be subject to the timely completion of contract negotiations between the agency and the selected proposer.

It is anticipated that the transitional residence contracts will range from 5 to 30 years and the drop-in centers will be for three years with one three year option to renew.

Pursuant to Section 312(c)(1)(ii) of the New York City Charter, the Competitive Sealed Bid procurement method is not the most advantageous method because judgement is required in evaluating competing proposals, and it is in the best interest of the city to require a balancing of price, quality and other factors.

Thus, pursuant to Section 3-03(c) of the Procurement Policy Board Rules, the open ended RFP will be used because the Department will select qualified providers to develop and operate transitional residences in order to address the need to create additional shelter capacity citywide. In addition, this open-ended method will provide interested applicants an opportunity to propose sites for the targeted population, as they become available for shelter development.

All proposers must meet the following minimum qualifications 1) must have a tax exempt status under 501 (c) (3) of the Internal Revenue Code and or be legally incorporated and 2) must demonstrate that they have, or can obtain by the contract start date, site control of the proposed facility location.

Any organization that believes it can provide these services may contact: Calvin Pitter, Deputy Agency Chief Contracting Officer at the Department of Homeless Services at (212) 361-8000, 33 Beaver Street 13th Flr., New York, NY 10004, to request a copy of the application, which is available for pick-up only Monday through Friday on business days between the hours of 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

LOCAL LAWS OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK

No. 26

Introduced by the Speaker (Council Member Vallone) and Council Members Robles, Freed, Rivera, Povman, Clarke, Eisland, White, Wooten and Lopez (in conjunction with the Mayor).

A LOCAL LAW

To amend the administrative code of the city of New York, in relation to requiring an animal shelter in each borough and mandating the sterilization of dogs and cats adopted from animal shelters or purchased from pet shops.

Be it enacted by the Council as follows:

Section 1. Title 17 of the administrative code of the city of New York is amended by adding thereto a new chapter 8 to read as follows:

Chapter 8

Animal Shelters and Sterilization Act

§ 17-801 Legislative findings. The City Council hereby finds that New York City is experiencing a serious overpopulation of unwanted dogs and cats. This is a matter of serious concern affecting the public health, safety and welfare. The Center for Animal Care and Control, which operates animal shelters under contract with the City's Department of Health, estimates that 67,000 unwanted, stray or abandoned dogs and cats entered its facilities in 1998. Of these animals, approximately seventy percent were not spayed or neutered. While wandering the City's streets, homeless dogs and cats reproduce at alarming rates, exacerbating a potentially unhealthy and dangerous situation. As a result of this situation, dog packs have formed in some areas, increasing numbers of individuals and animals are at risk for rabies, and many homeless animals have become the victims of vehicular accidents. These animals also suffer from lack of food and water and exposure to the elements. Given the large and growing number of unwanted dogs and cats, the Council finds that a law providing for a full-service animal shelter in each borough and the spaying and neutering of animals adopted from animal shelters or purchased from pet shops is necessary to protect the health, safety and welfare of New York City residents. The Council also finds that with the advancement of medical knowledge over the past ten years, many veterinarians now advocate and practice early sterilization of pets, as early as eight weeks of age. Veterinarians at animal hospitals and humane shelters across the country, as well as the American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, have performed thousands of early spay-neuter surgeries. Many veterinary associations now also agree that even though any surgery has inherent risks, kittens and puppies heal faster and are lower surgical risks than older animals who may be ill, in heat, or pregnant. If dogs or cats are spayed or neutered before adoption from a shelter or purchase from a pet shop, then the chance that they will add more unwanted offspring to the numbers that already exist will be eliminated.

§ 17-802 Definitions. For the purposes of this chapter, the following terms shall be defined as follows:

a. "Adoption" means the delivery of a dog or cat deemed appropriate and suitable as a companion animal by an animal shelter to an individual at least eighteen years of age who has been approved to own, care and provide for the animal by the animal shelter.

b. "Consumer" means any individual purchasing an animal from a pet shop. A pet shop shall not be considered a consumer.

c. "Full-service shelter" shall mean a facility required to have a permit issued pursuant to subdivision (b) of section 161.09 of the New York city health code that houses lost, stray or homeless animals and:

(1) accepts dogs and cats twenty-four hours per day, seven days per week;

(2) has an adoption program open seven days a week; and

(3) provides sterilization services for dogs and cats and any other veterinary services deemed necessary by a licensed veterinarian at such shelter or at a veterinary facility.

d. "Pet shop" means a facility required to have a permit issued pursuant to subdivision (a) of section 161.09 of the New York city health code, where dogs and/or cats are sold, exchanged, bartered, or offered for sale as pet animals to the general public at retail for profit. Such definition shall not include full-service shelters or other animal shelters that make dogs and cats available for adoption whether or not a fee for such adoption is charged.

e. "Sterilization" means rendering a dog or cat, who is at least eight weeks of age, unable to reproduce by surgically altering the dog's or cat's reproductive organs. Such definition shall include the spaying of a female dog or cat or the neutering of a male dog or cat.

§ 17-803 Animal shelters. The department shall ensure that a full-service shelter is maintained in each borough of the city of New York.

§ 17-804 Sterilization required. a. No full-service shelter or other shelter for homeless animals required to have a permit issued pursuant to subdivision (b) of section 161.09 of the New York city health code shall release a dog or cat to a person claiming ownership thereof, or to a person adopting such dog or cat, unless such dog or cat has been sterilized by a licensed veterinarian; provided, however, that such requirement shall not apply:

(1) if a licensed veterinarian certifies to such shelter that he or she has examined such dog or cat and found that because of a medical reason, the life of such dog or cat would be endangered by sterilization; provided, however, that such reason shall not consist solely of the youth of such dog or cat, if such dog or cat is at least eight weeks of age;

(2) in the case of a dog, if such dog, within the time period provided for by law, rule or regulation, is claimed by a person claiming ownership thereof, and such person demonstrates to the satisfaction of the shelter that such dog has a breed ring show record from the American Kennel Club or United Kennel Club or other similar, registry association, dated no more than twelve months prior to the date such dog entered such shelter, or such person claiming ownership is able to provide proof that such dog has successfully completed the requirements of the American Kennel Club or United Kennel Club or other similar, registry association, for the title Champion or its equivalent, at any time prior to the arrival of the dog at the shelter;

(3) in the case of a dog, if such dog, within the time period provided for by law, rule or regulation, is claimed by a person claiming ownership thereof, and such person demonstrates to the satisfaction of the shelter that such dog is a guide dog, hearing dog, service dog or police work dog; or

(4) in the case of a cat, if such cat within the time period provided for by law, rule or regulation, is claimed by a person claiming ownership thereof, and such person demonstrates to the satisfaction of such shelter that such cat has a breed show record from the Cat Fancier Association or other similar, registry association dated no more than twelve months prior to the date such cat entered such shelter or such person claiming ownership is able to provide proof that such cat has successfully completed the requirements of the Cat Fancier Association or other similar, registry association for the title Champion, Grand Champion or its equivalent, at any time prior to the arrival of the cat at the shelter.

b. No pet shop shall release to a consumer a dog or cat that has not been sterilized by a licensed veterinarian; provided, however, that such requirement shall not apply to a consumer who presents to the pet shop a letter from such consumer's licensed veterinarian, dated within the immediately preceding ten days, stating the reason(s) why, in the opinion of such veterinarian, such dog or cat should not be sterilized until a later specified date, not to exceed four months following the date of such letter. Such letter shall state that such veterinarian will cause such dog or cat to be sterilized at the request of such consumer on or before such later specified date. Such veterinarian shall also provide to the pet shop a certificate, in such form and manner as determined by rules promulgated by the department, stating the date on which such sterilization was performed. Any consumer who provides a pet shop with a letter with respect to a later sterilization of a dog or cat must ensure that such animal is sterilized by the date indicated in the letter.

c. Every pet shop, in accordance with rules promulgated by the department, shall maintain records of dog and cat sales, sterilization procedures performed at the request of the pet shop, and veterinarian letters and certificates received, and shall retain such records, letters and certificates for a period of two years. Such records, letters and certificates shall be made available to the department according to rules promulgated by the department.

§ 17-805 Reporting requirement. The department shall provide the mayor and the city council with a report by February twenty-eighth of each year which shall set forth information regarding the management and operation of all full-service shelters performing services pursuant to a contract with the city of New York, including but not limited to:

a. the number of animals accepted by each full-service shelter during the previous calendar year;

No. 29

Introduced by Council Member Miller, the Public Advocate (Mr. Green), Council Members Pinkett, Spigner, Robles, Carrion, Clarke, DiBrienza, Fisher, Freed, Henry, Koslowitz, Leffler, Linares, Lopez, Marshall, Michels, Moskowitz, O'Donovan, Perkins, Provenzano, Quinn, Reed, Rivera, Warden, Watkins, White, Wooten, Harrison and Eisland; also Council Members Malave-Dilan, Eldridge, Foster, Lasher, Povman and Robinson.

A LOCAL LAW

To amend the charter of the city of New York to establish a system to distribute voter registration forms at certain agencies.

Be it enacted by the Council as follows:

Section 1. Legislative intent and findings. Current federal and state law requires that a sophisticated computerized voter registration plan be put in place in motor vehicle agencies. However, while more than 91% of New York State residents eighteen and over outside of New York City hold driver's licenses, less than 50% of City residents do. In order to ensure that application forms be as widely and freely distributed as possible, this legislation requires certain City agencies to distribute voter registration forms to clients when they first apply for services or when they recertify or change their address. This procedure has been found to be highly effective in registering new voters and updating voter registration rolls in places across the country that have implemented similar programs. This program will serve to facilitate public access to voter registration forms, but not actually register anyone because only the Board of Elections may register a voter pursuant to State Election Law.

§ 2. Chapter forty-six of the charter of the city of New York is hereby amended to add a new section 1058 to read as follows:

§ 1058. Agency based voter registration. Each agency designated as a participating agency under the provisions of this section shall implement and administer a program of distribution of voter registration forms pursuant to the provisions of this section. The following offices are hereby designated as participating voter registration agencies: The administration for children's services, the city clerk, the civilian complaint review board, the commission on human rights, community boards, the depart- Until such time when the agency amends its form, each agency should affix or include a postage paid board of elections for the city of New York voter registration form to or with its application, renewal, recertification and change of address forms;

b. use the board of elections of the city of New York coded voter registration forms which designate such forms as originating from participating agencies: and

c. transmit any completed forms collected in their discretion to the board of elections of the city of New York within two weeks of the receipt of such completed forms at the participating agency. If a completed form is accepted within five days before the last day for registration to vote in a citywide election, such completed form shall be transmitted by the participating agency to the board of elections of the city of New York not later than five days after the date of acceptance.

4. All persons seeking voter registration forms and information shall be advised in writing together with other written materials provided by agencies or by appropriate publicity that government services are not conditioned on being registered to vote. No statement shall be made nor any action taken by an agency employee to discourage the applicant from registering to vote or to enroll in any particular political party.

5. The completion of the voter registration form by an applicant is voluntary.

6. Employees of a participating agency who provide voter registration assistance shall not:

a. seek to influence an applicant's political preference or party designation;

b. display any political preference or party allegiance;

c. make any statement to an applicant or take any action the purpose or effect of which is to discourage the applicant from registering to vote; or

d. make any statement to an applicant or take any action the purpose or effect of which is to lead the applicant to believe that a decision to register or not to register has any bearing on the availability of services or benefits.

7. Each participating agency, department, division and office that makes available voter registration forms shall prominently display promotional materials designed and approved by the board of elections for the city of New York or state board of elections, for use in state agency programs.

§ 3. Severability. Should any provision or application of this local law be determined to be unlawful or unenforceable, all other provisions and applications of this local law shall nevertheless continue in full force and effect.

§ 4. This local law shall take effect ninety days after its enactment.

THE CITY OF NEW YORK, OFFICE OF THE CITY CLERK, s.s.:

I hereby certify that the foregoing is a true copy of a local law of The City of New York, passed by the Council on May 10, 2000, and approved by the Mayor on May 25, 2000.

INVOCATION

Men and Women of the City Council,

We are experiencing a week with an interesting combination of magnificent occasions. It began with the solemn memorial to a man who changed his nation by forcing it to reexamine its conscience. It will be culminated by the Sabbath that commemorates the splitting of the sea of reeds. In hindsight it also seems that Dr. King's work was miraculous in its parting of the sea of prejudice.

This Saturday is also the Jewish equivalent of Arbor Day. This is the time of year when the trees in the land of the Bible begin to rejuvenate after a long winter. So let the winter labors of this City Council bring forth a bounteous springtime yield. Amen.

Council Member Koslowitz moved to spread the Invocation in full upon the Record.

Adoption of Minutes

Council Member Abel moved that the Minutes of the Stated Meeting of Tuesday, December 16, 1999, be adopted as printed.

Report of the Committee on Civil Service and Labor

Int. No. 668

Report of the Committee on Civil Service and Labor in favor of approving and adopting a local law to amend the administrative code of the City of New York, in relation to providing health insurance coverage for former mayors.

The Committee on Civil Service and Labor to which it was referred on December 16, 1999 (Minutes page 2928) the annexed local law respectfully

REPORTS:

This legislation would provide health insurance coverage to former Mayors of the city of New York, upon reaching age sixty-two, who are not covered under a city retirement or pension plan. Such benefits would be the same as provided to city employees, city retirees, and their dependents as set forth in paragraph one of subdivision b of section 12-126 of the city's administrative code. These benefits, however, would not be deemed to be salary, wages or compensation in relation to any retirement or pension system.

Health insurance benefits for city employees, persons retired from city employment and their dependents who are not covered under the city's retirement or pension system have been provided by local law in the past. Specifically, the city has recognized the survivors of police officers, firefighters, correction officers and sanitation workers who died in the line of duty, by providing health insurance coverage accordingly.

Intro. No. 668 would extend health insurance coverage to former Mayors in recognition of their invaluable service to the city of New York.

Fiscal Impact Statement:

Expenditures (–)	$998	$2,189	$998
Net	($998)	($2,189)	($998)

Impact on Revenues: None.

Impact on Expenditures: The cost of this legislation would be equal to the cost of health insurance for one individual.

Source of Funds to Cover Estimated Costs: General Fund

Accordingly, Your Committee recommends its adoption.

Int. No. 468-A

Report of the Committee on Consumer Affairs in favor of approving and adopting, as amended, a local law to amend the administrative code of the city of New York, in relation to licenses for sale of tobacco products.

The Committee on Consumer Affairs to which it was referred on November 17, 1998 (Minutes page 2599) the annexed amended local law respectfully

REPORTS:

Today the Committee on Consumer Affairs will hold a hearing on Proposed Int. No. 468-A, a proposal to amend Titles 11, 17 and 20 of the Administrative Code by transferring the licensing function for retail cigarette dealers from the Department of Finance ("DOF") to the Department of Consumer Affairs ("DCA"), and increasing the penalties for violations of the Tobacco Product Regulation Act.

An initial hearing was held on February 9, 1999, at which time the Committee considered the original legislation, Int. No. 468, and heard testimony from DCA Commissioner Jules Polonetsky, and representatives from anti-smoking organizations (including Smoke Free Educational Services, Committee for a Healthy New York, Memorial Sloan Kettering Hospital), child advocacy organizations (including SHOCK, and Protect Our Youth), and retail dealers (including the Metropolitan Food Council, 7-11, and the New York State Food Merchants).

Subsequently, on November 17, 1999, the Committee considered the revised Int. No. 468-A, and again heard testimony from DCA Commissioner Jules Polonetsky, anti-smoking and youth organizations and advocates, and retail dealer representatives.

The current version of the bill (as well as the version heard on November 17th) differs in several respects from the original draft. The original version contained provisions giving DCA hearing authority over violations committed by non-licensees, and the authority to revoke cigarette licenses for violations of other subchapters of the consumer affairs laws (such as consumer protection law violations). Both of these provisions were removed from the proposed bill. Also, an affirmative defense was added to the legislation for licensees who, while they have committed two violations and would therefore face mandatory revocation, can show that they have implemented a policy in good faith to prevent the sale of cigarettes to minors.

Additional changes were made to the current version of the bill. Principal among these are: (i) the legislation uses the "arms length transaction" standard to prevent the "flipping" of a license where a license for a place of business has been revoked and an applicant applies for a new license at the same location, and (ii) the legislation allows for the retraining of employees on selling tobacco products as an alternative to the monitoring of employees in order to meet one of the requirements of the affirmative defense for a waiver of the mandatory revocation of a license.

According to the Memorandum In Support submitted by the Administration, this bill is intended to streamline the process for licensing retail cigarette dealers and to improve the enforcement of the Tobacco Product Regulation Act in order to reduce the continuing problem of the illegal sale of cigarettes to minors.

The Administrative Code currently places the licensing function (the issuance, regulation, renewal, suspension and revocation of licenses) for both wholesale and retail cigarette dealers with the Department of Finance. Adding to Title 20 a new subchapter 1, entitled "Retail Cigarette Dealers", and amending Title 11 accordingly, Proposed Int. No. 468-A would maintain the Department of Finance's responsibility for licensing matters for wholesale cigarette dealers, but would transfer the licensing function for retail cigarette dealers to the Department of Consumer Affairs.[1]

The annual fee for a retail dealer's license is presently ten dollars (Administrative Code § 1303(g)). Proposed Int. No. 468-A would impose a biennial fee of one hundred ten dollars for a retail dealer's license. The fee for a duplicate license would also be increased, from one dollar to the proposed fifteen dollars.

The proposed local law subjects the retail dealer to the mandatory revocation of his or her license for just two violations of the cigarettes sales laws within two years. Under the present law, retail dealers are subject to the mandatory suspension of their cigarette licenses in the case of third and subsequent violations at the same place of business within a two-year period. Proposed Int. No. 468-A would impose a mandatory "two-strikes" rule, exposing retail cigarette dealers to the mandatory revocation of their licenses for a "second violation occurring on a different day [from the first violation] and all subsequent violations occurring on different days" at the same place of business within a two-year period. The violations that are subject to the mandatory revocation are: selling loose cigarettes (Administrative Code § 17-618); unsupervised employees under the age of 18 selling cigarettes (Administrative Code § 17-619); and the failure to post the proper sign indicating that selling tobacco products to individuals under 18 is prohibited by law and/or selling cigarettes to any underage customer (Administrative Code § 17-620).

Int. No. 468-A now clarifies that for the purposes of mandatory revocation, a second violation is a violation occurring on a different day than when the first violation occurred. Thus, if a licensee has received his or her first two violations on the same day, he or she would not be subject to mandatory revocation unless and until another violation is received on a subsequent day.

Proposed Int. No. 468-A contains a provision that would provide a retail dealer facing the mandatory revocation of his or her license after a second violation the opportunity to avoid revocation by submitting proof that the salesperson who committed the violation(s) of the Tobacco Product Regulation Act did so against the licensee's will, that the licensee utilized extensive precautionary measures to prevent the violations and has terminated any financial or employment relationship with each person who committed the violations or taken significant disciplinary actions against such person. The extensive precautionary measures would require proof that the licensee: (1) implemented a clear policy requiring all persons working in the place of business to strictly comply with the provisions of the Tobacco Product Regulation Act and permitting employees to complete a tobacco product sales transaction only after establishing the age of a prospective purchaser, (2) trained all employees to comply with any such policy before selling tobacco products; and (3) either monitored the performance of persons working in the place of business to ensure that they adhere to such policy, or, in accordance with rules promulgated by the commissioner, conducted periodic retraining of persons working in the place of business.

[1] The Department of Finance retains some control over the licensing of retail dealers. Int. No. 468-A amends 11-1303(d) to place the power to suspend or revoke a retail dealer's license with the Commissioner of Consumer Affairs, but the Commissioner of Finance may find, after a hearing, that the retail dealer has failed to comply with the rules set forth in chapter 13 of Title 13, and notify the Commissioner of Consumer Affairs, who may then suspend or revoke the retail dealer's license. The Commissioner of Finance also maintains the power to examine the books and records of retail dealers (Int. No. 468-A, § 2, at 5), as well as the power to enforce the provisions of chapter 17 of Title 20 of the Administrative Code ("The Tobacco Regulation Act").

This last requirement differs from the prior version of the bill considered on November 17th. The previous version of the bill required that businesses must monitor performance of their workers in order to be eligible for the affirmative defense. However, in keeping with the intent that the affirmative defense against mandatory revocation be available to businesses regardless of their size, the third requirement of the defense has been modified to allow retailers to conduct periodic retraining based on rules promulgated by the commissioner where actual monitoring of performance is not practical, as with, for example, smaller stores that may only have a single employee on the premises.

Proposed Int. No. 468-A also would prevent license holders from avoiding the penalties that result from multiple violations by mandating that violations by any license holder at the same premises be attributed to the initial licensee, unless the subsequent license holder proves that the premises or the business was acquired through an arm's length transaction and not for the purposes of avoiding penalties for violations relating to the original license. An "arm's length transaction" is defined in the bill, essentially, as a good faith sale of the business, and not a sale for the purpose of permitting the original licensee to avoid the effect of violations on the premises.

When a retail dealer's license has been revoked, the proposed bill gives the Commissioner of Consumer Affairs the discretion to refuse to issue a new license for the same place of business, or a business at the same address, for up to two years from the date of revocation, but leaves the applicant an opportunity to obtain a license at such location by presenting proof that he or she is sufficiently independent from the previous licensee (whose license was revoked). In a significant change from the version of the bill considered on November 17th, which required the applicant to submit proof that neither the applicant nor any family member of the applicant is a family member of the previous licensee or had a financial interest (debt or equity) in the business entity that was the holder of the revoked retail license, the current version of the bill requires that the applicant have acquired the premises or business through an arm's length transaction and that the acquisition was not conducted, in whole or in part, for the purpose of permitting the original licensee to avoid the effect of violations on the premises.

The arm's length transaction standard is included to ensure that when a license is revoked, it is not simply passed on to an applicant with a connection to the original licensee for the purpose of avoiding revocation. This practice, often called "flipping," is designed to circumvent license revocation by allowing a principal or owner of the former licensee to continue his or her participation in the new business. While the requirement that any new applicant have acquired the business in an arm's length transaction would prevent this practice of "flipping," it would still allow the original licensee who has had his or her license revoked the opportunity to make a legitimate transfer of his or her business. It would also allow an otherwise qualified new tenant of a premises to obtain a license, even though the former tenant's license was revoked, where the former tenant is not involved with or profiting from the conduct of the new tenant applicant's business.

Int. No. 468-A sets forth three criteria for the issuance of a retail dealer's license: (1) the applicant must meet all of the requirements in Title 20; (2) must be fit and able to conduct the business of a retail dealer; and (3) must be in full compliance with all provisions of chapter thirteen of Title 11 of the Code, and chapter 40 of Title 11 of the code "relating to the sale of cigarettes."

The proposed bill also gives the commissioner the power to deny renewal of a retail dealer's license, or suspend or revoke the license, in the following instances: (1) where a licensee, or, where applicable, a certain agent, has made a material false statement or concealed a material fact in connection with the filing of any application concerning his or her retail cigarette dealer's license; (2) where the licensee has failed to timely pay any civil penalty or judgment, pursuant to the cigarette retail license provisions of the consumer affairs law, or chapter 13 of Title 11 of the Administrative Code, or chapter 40 of Title 11 "relating to cigarette sales;" and (3) where the commissioner of finance notifies DCA that the licensee has violated any of the provisions of chapter 13 of Title 11, or chapter 40 of Title 11 "relating to cigarette sales." The previous version of the bill would have required compliance with all of the sections of chapter 40 of Title 11 of the Code, even those sections wholly unrelated to cigarettes. The present version makes clear that only those provisions of chapter 40 relating to cigarettes are applicable to licensing determinations.

In cases where the Commissioner has suspended or revoked a license, the proposed bill requires the license holder to surrender to the commissioner any cigarette retail license or duplicates thereof, "issued to such holder for such place of business . . ." This differs from the prior version of the bill, which required that all licenses held by such licensee be automatically surrendered when any license has been suspended or revoked.

Cigarette licenses continue to be non-assignable under the proposed bill for both wholesale and retail dealers.

Proposed Int. No. 468-A gives DCA, with respect to retail licensees, the power to adjudicate violations, impose penalties, and, upon notice and the opportunity to be heard, to suspend, revoke, or refuse to renew a license. In addition, the bill provides that DCA's adjudication division would be responsible for all notices of violations issued by employees of DOF for §§ 17-618, 17-619, and 17- 620 of the Tobacco Product Regulation Act.

Proposed Int. No. 468 would amend the Administrative Code to provide for the recovery of not less than $250 and not more than $2,000 per violation in civil penalties, in a civil action, or before an appropriate administrative tribunal. Violations of §§ 17-618, 17-619 and 17-620 of the Tobacco Product Regulation Act would be increased as follows: (1) the maximum monetary penalty for the first violation would be increased from $300 to S 1,000, and (2) the maximum violation for the second and each subsequent violation (violations committed on days subsequent to the first violation), would increase from $500 to $2,000.

The local law provides that it would take effect one hundred and eighty days after enactment but that its requirements would be applicable to any retail cigarette license already issued by the Commissioner of Finance. This would ensure that the Commissioner of Consumer Affairs has the authority to enforce the new provisions against holders of existing licenses.

Fiscal Impact Statement:

	Effective FY2000	FY Succeeding Effective FY2001	Full Fiscal Impact FY2002
Revenues (+)	0	$1.2 million	$775,000
Expenditures (–)	0	($213,000)	($213,000)
Net	0	$987,000	$562,000

Impact on Revenues: The transfer of licensing responsibilities to DCA will result in fees for licenses increasing from ten dollars per year to $110 for two years. The Department of Finance currently collects $150,000 in license fees annually. This act anticipates new revenues to the City (net of the $150,000 formerly collected by DOF), of $1.2 million in the first full year including new fees revenue of $1.09 million and $100,000 in anticipated new fines revenue. The $775,000 in the outyears is comprised of $675,000 from new fees revenue and $100,000 from fines.

Impact on Expenditures: Five positions will be added to DCA for tobacco licensing functions; $131,000 is personal service costs and $83,000 is for other than personal services. The increased revenues will cover these costs.

Source of Funds to Cover Estimated Costs: Revenue from license fees.

Accordingly, Your Committee recommends its adoption, as amended.

Any person who violates section 17-622 shall be liable for a civil penalty of not more than fifty dollars for each violation.

b. A proceeding to recover any civil penalty authorized pursuant to the provisions of subdivision a of this section for a violation of section 17-618, 17-619 or 17-620 of this chapter shall be commenced by the service of a notice of violation which shall be returnable to the administrative tribunal established by the board of health where the department of health issues such notice or the adjudication division of the department of consumer affairs where that department or a designated employee of any authorizing agency or the department of finance issues such notice. Such notice shall contain a statement that any hearing for a [third] second violation or subsequent violations of section 17-618, 17-619 or 17-620 at the same place of business within a two-year period shall also constitute a hearing for the [suspension] revocation of a retail dealer's cigarette license where the retail dealer is found to be in violation of any such sections. Where the department of health finds a retail dealer to be liable for a violation of section 17-618, 17-619 or 17-620, that department shall notify the department of consumer affairs within thirty days of such finding. Where the department of consumer affairs finds a retail dealer to be liable for a violation of section 17-618, 17-619 or 17-620, that department shall notify the department of health within thirty days of such finding. A proceeding to recover any civil penalty authorized pursuant to the provisions of subdivision a of this section for a violation of section 17-621 or authorized pursuant to subdivision h of section 17-621 shall be returnable to the administrative tribunal established by the board of health. A proceeding to recover any civil penalty authorized pursuant to the provisions of subdivision a of this section for a violation of section 17-622 shall be returnable to the administrative tribunal established by the board of health. Such tribunal shall have the power to impose the civil penalties prescribed by subdivision a of this section or subdivision h of section 17-621 of this chapter. The adjudication division of the department of consumer affairs shall have the power to impose the civil penalties prescribed by subdivision a of this section for a violation of section 17-618, 17-619 or 17-620 of this chapter.

e. For purposes of this section, "arm's length transaction" means a sale of a fee or all undivided interests in real property, or lease of any part thereof, or a sale of a business, in good faith and for valuable consideration, that reflects the fair market value of such real property or lease, or business, in the open market, between two informed and willing parties, where neither is under any compulsion to participate in the transaction, unaffected by any unusual conditions indicating a reasonable possibility that the sale or lease was made for the purpose of permitting the original licensee to avoid the effect of violations on the premises. The following sales or leases shall be presumed not to be arm's length transactions unless adequate documentation is provided demonstrating that the sale or lease was not conducted, in whole or in part, for the purpose of permitting the original licensee to avoid the effect of violations on the premises:

(1) a sale between relatives; or

(2) a sale between related companies or partners in a business; or

(3) a sale or lease affected by other facts or circumstances that would indicate that the sale or lease is entered into for the primary purpose of permitting the original licensee to avoid the effect of violations on the premises.

f. Notwithstanding the provisions of subdivision a of this section, the mandatory revocation of a license for a second offense shall be waived if, upon the submission of satisfactory proof, the commissioner determines that the person or persons who committed the violations which are the basis for the mandatory revocation acted against the licensee's will in committing such violations, the licensee utilized extensive precautionary measures to prevent violations of the provisions of sections 17-618, 17-619 and 17-620 of this code, and the licensee has terminated any financial or employment relationship with each person who committed the violations which are the basis of the mandatory revocation of its license or has taken other significant disciplinary action against such persons. The commissioner shall not determine that a licensee utilized extensive precautionary measures to prevent violations of the provisions of sections 17-618, 17-619 and 17-620 of this code unless the licensee submits satisfactory proof demonstrating that the licensee had, prior to the second violation which is the basis for the mandatory revocation of its license, done the following:

(1) implemented a clear policy requiring all persons working in the place of business to strictly comply with the provisions of sections 17-618, 17-619 and 17-620 of this code and permitting persons working in the place of business to complete a tobacco product sales transaction only after establishing the age of a prospective purchaser of tobacco products through identification that has been verified for authenticity or through photographic identification as required by section 17-620 of this code; and

(2) trained all persons working in the place of business to comply with any such policy before they are allowed to sell tobacco products to the public; and

(3) monitored the performance of persons working in the place of business to ensure that they adhere to such policy, or, in accordance with rules promulgated by the commissioner, conducted periodic retraining of persons working in the place of business.

§ 9. Chapter 2 of title 20 of such code is amended to add a new subchapter 1 to read as follows:

b. "Cigarette" shall mean any roll for smoking made wholly or in part of tobacco or any other substance irrespective of size or shape and whether or not such tobacco or substance is flavored, adulterated or mixed with any other ingredient, the wrapper or cover of which is made of paper or any other substance or material except tobacco.

c. "Commissioner of finance" means the commissioner of finance of the City of New York.

d. "Dealer" shall mean any wholesale dealer or retail dealer as hereinafter defined.

f. "Retail dealer" shall mean any person other than a wholesale dealer engaged in selling cigarettes. For the purposes of this chapter, the possession or transportation at any one time of five thousand or more cigarettes by any person other than a manufacturer, an agent, a licensed wholesale dealer or a person delivering cigarettes in the regular course of business for a manufacturer, an agent or a licensed wholesale or retail dealer, shall be presumptive evidence that such person is a retail dealer.

g. "Sale or purchase" shall mean any transfer of title or possession or both, exchange or barter, conditional or otherwise, in any manner or by any means whatsoever or any agreement therefor.

h. "Wholesale dealer" shall mean any person who sells cigarettes to retail dealers or other persons for purposes of resale only, and any person who owns, operates or maintains one or more cigarette vending machines in, at or upon premises owned or occupied by any other person.

1. It shall be unlawful for any person to engage in business as a retail dealer without first having obtained a license as hereinafter prescribed for each place of business wherein such person sells cigarettes in the city.

2. It shall be unlawful for a person to permit any premises under such person's control to be used by any other person in violation of paragraph one of subdivision a of this section.

b. License application. In order to obtain a license to engage in business as a retail dealer, a person shall file an application with the commissioner for a license for each place of business that he or she desires to have for the retail sale of cigarettes in the city. The application for each license or renewal thereof shall be made upon such form as prescribed by the commissioner and shall contain such information as the commissioner shall require.

c. Fee and license term. 1. There shall be a biennial fee of one hundred ten dollars for a license to engage in the business of a retail dealer at each place of business where cigarettes are sold in the city.

2. All even-numbered licenses shall expire on December 31 of the even-numbered year, and all odd-numbered licenses shall expire on December 31 of the odd-numbered year, next succeeding the year in which the license is issued.

d. Issuance of license. 1. A license shall be issued to a person to conduct the business of a retail dealer for each place of business where such person engages in selling cigarettes in the city only where:

(A) an applicant for a license or renewal thereof meets all the requirements prescribed herein and any criteria in addition thereto established by the commissioner by rule as he or she deems necessary to effectuate the purposes of this subchapter;

(B) an applicant satisfies the commissioner that such person is fit and able to conduct the business of a retail dealer; and

(C) the commissioner has not received notification from the commissioner of finance or the commissioner of the department of health that such applicant is not in full compliance with any provision of chapter thirteen of title 11 of this code, or chapter forty of title eleven of this code relating to the sale of cigarettes, or chapter seven of title seventeen of this code, or any rules promulgated by the commissioner of finance or the commissioner of the department of health to effectuate the purposes of such chapters.

2. A retail dealer license shall not be assignable and shall be valid only for the persons in whose names it is issued and for the transaction of business in the place designated therein and shall at all times be conspicuously displayed at the place for which it is issued.

3. Where a license for any place of business licensed pursuant to this subchapter has been revoked, the commissioner in his or her discretion may refuse to issue a license required under this subchapter, for a period of two years after such revocation, for such place of business or for any part of the building that had contained such place of business and was connected therewith, unless the applicant for such license demonstrates with documentary proof, to the satisfaction of the commissioner, that the applicant acquired the premises or business through an arm's length transaction.

4. For purposes of revocation of retail dealer licenses pursuant to section 17-624 of the code, any violation of section 17-618, 17-619 or 17-620 by any license holder at a place of business shall be included in determining the number of violations by any subsequent license holder at the same place of business unless the subsequent license holder provides the commissioner with adequate documentation demonstrating that the subsequent license holder acquired the premises or business through an arm's length transaction and that the sale or lease was not conducted, in whole or in part, for the purpose of permitting the original licensee to avoid the effect of violations on the premises.

5. For purposes of paragraphs 3 and 4 of section 20-202, "arm's length transaction" means a sale of a fee or all undivided interests in real property, or lease of any part thereof, or a sale of a business, in good faith and for valuable consideration, that reflects the fair market value of such real property or lease, or business, in the open market, between two informed and willing parties, where neither is under any compulsion to participate in the transaction, unaffected by any unusual conditions indicating a reasonable possibility that the sale or lease was made for the purpose of permitting the original licensee to avoid the effect of violations on the premises. The following sales or leases shall be presumed not to be arm's length transactions unless adequate documentation is provided demonstrating that the sale or lease was not conducted, in whole or in part, for the purpose of permitting the original licensee to avoid the effect of violations on the premises:

(1) a sale between relatives; or

(2) a sale between related companies or partners in a business; or

(3) a sale or lease affected by other facts or circumstances that would indicate that the sale or lease is entered into for the primary purpose of permitting the original licensee to avoid the effect of violations on the premises, or revocation of a license.

§ 20-203 Recordkeeping and examination. a. A retail dealer shall make and maintain such records of cigarette sales and purchases as are prescribed by the commissioner of finance pursuant to chapter thirteen of title eleven of this code.

b. Such records as are required to be kept shall be available for inspection at the place of business for which a retail dealer license is issued and such records shall be available for inspection by the commissioner of finance or such commissioner's duly authorized representatives as to the extent necessary to ascertain whether such retail dealer is in compliance with the purposes and requirements of chapter thirteen of title eleven of this code.

§ 20-204 Duplicate licenses. Whenever any license issued under the provisions of this subchapter is defaced, destroyed or lost, the commissioner shall issue a duplicate license to the holder of the defaced, destroyed or lost license upon the payment of a fee of fifteen dollars.

§ 20-205 Prohibited sales and purchases. No agent or dealer shall sell cigarettes to an unlicensed dealer, or to a dealer whose license has been suspended or revoked. No dealer shall purchase cigarettes from any person other than a manufacturer or a licensed wholesale dealer.

§ 20-206. Renewal, suspension and revocation of licenses. a. In addition to any other powers of the commissioner, and not in limitation thereof, the commissioner may, after due notice and opportunity to be heard, refuse to renew any license required under this subchapter and may suspend or revoke such license if the person holding such license, or, where applicable, any of its officers, principals, directors, members, managers, employees, or stockholders owning more than ten percent of the outstanding stock of the corporation, has been found to have:

1. made a material false statement or concealed a material fact in connection with the filing of any application pursuant to this subchapter; or

2. not paid, within the time permitted by law, any civil penalty or judgment duly imposed pursuant to the provisions of this subchapter or any rules promulgated thereunder or pursuant to chapter thirteen of title eleven of this code, or chapter forty of title eleven of this code relating to cigarette sales.

b. In addition to the commissioner's power to refuse to renew, suspend or revoke a license as provided in subdivision a of this section, the commissioner shall be authorized to refuse to renew any license required under this subchapter and may suspend or revoke such license upon the notification by the commissioner of finance that the person holding such license, or, where applicable, any of its officers, principals, directors, employees, members, managers, or stockholders owning more than ten percent of the outstanding stock of the corporation, has been found to have violated any provision of chapter thirteen of title eleven of this code, or of chapter forty of title eleven of this code relating to cigarette sales.

c. Upon suspending or revoking any retail cigarette license, the commissioner shall direct the holder thereof to surrender to the commissioner immediately any cigarette retail license or duplicates thereof issued to such holder for such place of business and the holder shall surrender promptly all such licenses to the commissioner as directed.

§ 20-207 Violations. a. The civil penalties imposed pursuant to this section shall be in addition to any other sanctions and orders which may be imposed by the commissioner pursuant to this title including, but not limited to, such sanctions and orders which may be imposed pursuant to section 20-105 or to title 11 or title 17 of this code or pursuant to such other law the commissioner is authorized to enforce under this code.

b. Notwithstanding the provisions of subdivision a and b of section 20-106 of this code, any person who violates any provision of this subchapter or any rules promulgated thereunder shall be subject to a civil penalty of not less than two hundred and fifty dollars but not more than two thousand dollars for each violation, to be recovered in a civil action or in an administrative tribunal with jurisdiction.

§ 10. Subdivisions f and k of section 26-126.2 of such code, as added by local law number 3 for the year 1998, are amended to read as follows:

f. A notice of violation alleging a violation of subdivision a or b of section 27-508.3 of this code shall include an order (i) directing the respondent to correct the condition constituting the violation within thirty days from the date that the order is issued and to file a certification that the condition has been corrected with the department in a manner and form and within such further period of time as shall be established by rule of the department or (ii) directing a respondent who is a record owner of a premises on which a tobacco product advertisement is placed or maintained in violation of subdivision a of section 27-508.3 of this code but who has not posted or placed such advertisement or has not directed, caused or contracted for the posting or placing of such advertisement by a servant, agent, employee, contractor or other individual under such record owner's control, to notify, within thirty days from the date the notice of violation alleging a violation of subdivision a of section 27-508.3 of this code was issued, the person who posted or placed such advertisement or who directed, caused or contracted for the posting or placing of such advertisement, by certified mail or the notice of violation, and to send, by certified mail, a copy of such notification to the department. A record owner shall not be deemed to have directed, caused or contracted for the posting or placing of a tobacco product advertisement by a servant, agent, employee, contractor or other individual under such record owner's control unless the record owner retains the right to cause the content of an advertisement to be changed. A general "compliance with laws" provision in a lease or contract shall not constitute such a right for purposes of this subdivision. A notice of violation issued pursuant to subdivision a or b of section 27-508.3 of this code shall also contain a statement that any hearing for a third or subsequent violation of subdivision a or b of section 27-508.3 by a wholesale or retail dealer of cigarettes shall also constitute a hearing for the revocation of a license issued to such wholesale [or retail] dealer pursuant to section 11-1303 of this code or to such retail dealer pursuant to section 20-202 of this code, where the wholesale or retail dealer of cigarettes is found to be in violation.

k. In addition to the penalties provided in subdivision f of this section, where a wholesale or retail dealer of cigarettes is found liable for a third or subsequent violation, within an eighteen-month period, the license issued to such wholesale [or retail] dealer of cigarettes pursuant to section 11-1303 of this code, or to such retail dealer of cigarettes pursuant to section 20-202 of this code, shall be revoked.

§ 27-508.6 Injunctive relief. Whenever any person has engaged in any act or practice which constitutes a violation of any provision of this article or of [section 11-1303] chapter thirteen of title eleven of this code, or of subchapter one of chapter two of title twenty of this code, or of any rule promulgated thereunder, the city may make application to a court of competent jurisdiction for an order enjoining such act or practice.

§ 12. Notwithstanding any other provision of law, any retail cigarette license issued by the commissioner of finance under the provisions of chapter thirteen of title eleven of the administrative code of the city of New York prior to the effective date of this local law shall be deemed to be a license issued by the commissioner of consumer affairs for the purposes of any provision of title twenty of the administrative code of the city of New York.

§ 13. This local law shall take effect one hundred eighty days after it shall have become a law, provided that the department of consumer affairs and the department of finance may take any actions necessary prior to such effective date for the implementation of this local law including, but not limited to, the adoption of any necessary rules.

Int. No. 663

Report of the Committee on Finance in favor of approving and adopting a local law to amend the administrative code of the City of New York, in relation to the sale of tax liens.

The Committee on Finance to which it was referred on December 7, 1999 (Minutes page 2865) the annexed local law respectfully

REPORTS:

In March 1996 Local Law No. 26 (City Council Int. No. 677-A) was enacted. Essentially, this Local Law restructured New York City's antiquated procedures for selling its tax liens. Tax liens, which had not been sold for almost fifty years prior to the enactment of Local Law No. 26, arise from unpaid property taxes, water and sewer rents, and other lienable City charges, and represent a legal claim against the properties to which they are attached. When this legislation was enacted, the Administration contended that amending the City's archaic tax lien sale laws would facilitate tax lien sales and ensure the fair treatment of all real property taxpayers in New York City. In addition, it would provide the City with an opportunity to maximize proceeds from the sale of its tax liens.

Specifically, Local Law No. 26 amended the timing provisions in the law for both the tax lien sale process and the foreclosure process that can begin after tax liens are actually sold. While it was deemed important for investors to earn high interest rates and purchase well-secured investments, it was considered equally important that an effective foreclosure remedy be made available to ensure that the majority of all tax liens purchased are eventually paid.

Since tax liens have a prior position to mortgages and many other types of liens, they represent an extremely well-secured interest in a property, and in many cases, the property will be worth significantly more than the total amount of the tax lien. Tax liens also tend to yield significant rates of interest. Additionally, because owners do not want to lose the equity they have accumulated in their properties, and mortgagees do not want to lose their property interests in a foreclosure action, a large percentage of tax liens are eventually paid in full by such owners and mortgagees. For all of these reasons, the Administration concluded that potential investors would consider tax liens a very attractive investment. In fact, at the time Local Law No. 26 was enacted, there was a significant investor demand for municipal tax liens, thus providing a ready and liquid market for New York City's tax liens.

Tax liens can be sold on an individual basis or in bulk. They can be sold through a competitive or negotiated sale to third parties for cash or a combination of cash and other consideration. Additionally, tax liens may be sold at face value or at a discount from face value, or they may be sold in a securitized transaction. In a securitized transaction, a private trust is first established which issues securities to acquire a portfolio of tax liens from the City. After it is created, the trust sells senior notes to institutional investors for cash, and thereafter gives the cash proceeds and a subordinate note to the City as consideration for the tax lien portfolio. The trust also retains a servicer who works with delinquent property taxpayers to help them pay off their tax liens. Any proceeds received by the servicer are first used to pay off the senior notes. After the senior notes have all been paid off, the City begins to have its subordinate note paid down.

During the hearings that were held on Int. No. 677-A, the Administration testified that tax lien sales are an enforcement mechanism used by many cities in the United States. These lien sales increase tax collections (thereby lowering the delinquency rate) and generate cash. At that time the Administration stated that each percentage point increase in the tax collection rate would be worth approximately $80 million to the City of New York. Additionally, the purchase of tax liens provide immediate budgetary relief to cities by generating additional cash for operations. At that time, the Administration claimed that the annual real property tax delinquency rate had increased by 150%. According to the Administration, this increase represented an additional $240 million per year in uncollected receivables and had resulted because of the real estate recession and the City's reluctance to enforce its remedies pursuant to its In Rem program. Delinquent property owners had become confident that the City would not aggressively pursue its enforcement remedies against them. According to the Administration, the City's main enforcement weapon in the area of tax collections had been the In Rem program. The Administration stated that the City's projected cost to manage the In Rem portfolio for the next 19 years (from 1996) would be approximately $10.6 billion. The City's In Rem program, according to a report prepared by the consulting firm of Arthur Anderson, contained serious weaknesses. Although each In Rem property owner only owed an average of $36,000 in back taxes when the City took title, each In Rem property was costing the City an average of $2.2 million to acquire, manage and prepare for sale. In addition to this extremely high cost, the In Rem program removed properties from the City's tax rolls for an average period of 19 years. The program also removed properties from the City's list of tax delinquency properties, artificially inflating the tax collection rate. These trends led to an increased inventory of property tax receivables in the City — receivables that have a very substantial value. Like almost all receivables, as property tax receivables age, it becomes more difficult to collect them from property owners and their value consequently decreases. According to the Administration, New York City had become an involuntary lender to delinquent taxpayers, and due to the In Rem program, had become the largest landowner in the City.

Local Law No. 26 was designed to restore fairness and equity to the property tax collection system, increase the property tax collection rate, develop confidence in New York City's overall property taxation system and hopefully relieve upward pressure on property tax rates.

Under Local Law No. 26, "a tax lien or tax liens on a property or any component of the amount thereof may be sold by the city when such tax lien or tax liens shall have remained unpaid in whole or in part for one year, provided, however, that a tax lien or tax liens on any class 1 property or on class 2 property that is a residential condominium or residential cooperative, as such classes of property are defined in subdivision 1 of section 1802 of the real property law, may be sold by the city only when the real property tax component of such tax lien or tax liens shall have remained unpaid in whole or in part for three years . . . ." Additionally, Local Law No. 26 does not permit the City to sell any tax lien or tax liens that do not contain a real property tax component. For example, tax liens on any property that are comprised solely of unpaid water and sewer charges and/or non-property tax lienable charges cannot be sold by the City. For purposes of tax lien sales, liens on delinquent assessments or charges for properties located within Business Improvement Districts are defined as non-property tax lienable charges.

Local Law No. 26 also provides the Commissioner of the Department of Finance (the "Commissioner") with the authority to determine the pool of tax liens that will be sold. According to the Administration, selection of the pool is based on factors such as the financial goals of the City, housing policy and marketability. In addition, the Commissioner has the authority to sell tax liens "either individually, in combinations, or in the aggregate . . ." and to establish the terms and conditions of any tax lien sale.

Under Local Law No. 26, tax liens can be sold through a competitive sale. This type of sale includes an auction process whereby potential purchasers bid on individual liens or pools of liens on a date set by the Commissioner. The Commissioner has the authority to establish criteria for the eligibility of bidders and can reject any or all bids, or accept any combination of bids. In addition to a competitive sale, tax liens can also be sold through a negotiated sale. Under this type of sale, one purchaser is selected through a competitive Request For Proposal process whereby statements of interest are submitted to the Commissioner by several potential purchasers.

To protect purchasers who have purchased a tax lien that is found to be "invalid, void or defective in whole or in part, or not to conform to any representation or warranty" made by the Commissioner with respect to the tax lien sale, Local Law No. 26 provides the Commissioner with the authority to substitute such tax lien with another tax lien that "has a value equivalent to the value of the tax lien or portion thereof found to be invalid, void, defective, or not to so conform, or may refund such value of the tax lien found to be invalid, void, defective, or not to so conform, or may use a combination of substitution and refund."

To ensure fair treatment to property owners, Local Law No. 26 contains notice requirements and requirements concerning the advertising of lien sales. The advertisements are required to include "a description by block and lot or by such other identification as the commissioner of finance may deem appropriate, of the property upon which the tax lien exists that may be included in the sale. Property owners and other interested parties registered with the City must be notified by first class mail of the City's intention to sell a tax lien. After the sale and within 90 days of the delivery of the tax lien certificate, the Commissioner is required to notify the property owner by first class mail that the tax lien has been sold. The Commissioner is also required to provide the property owner with, among other things, the identity of the tax lien purchaser and the terms and conditions of the tax lien sale, and is required to designate an employee of the Department of Finance to respond to inquiries from owners of property for which a tax lien has been sold.

Local Law No. 26 provides that the aggregate amount of each tax lien sold "shall be due and payable one year from the date of sale." The purchaser of such tax lien will continue to be entitled to receive interest from the date of sale and semi-annually, but if the aggregate amount of such tax lien is partially paid, the purchaser will only be entitled to collect interest on the unpaid balance of the sold tax lien until such lien is satisfied. Additionally, the legislation provides the purchaser with the right to "receive and retain a surcharge equal to five percent . . ." of the tax lien.

If the property owner fails to pay his or her tax lien within a year from the date of sale, the purchaser of such tax lien has the right to file a foreclosure action in the State Supreme Court. Tax lien purchasers may also commence a foreclosure action if the property owner fails to pay, within thirty days, the semi-annual interest due on the tax lien from the date of sale.

Additionally, Local Law No. 26 allows a tax lien purchaser to file a foreclosure action if the property owner fails to pay any taxes or assessments due after the date of sale. The tax lien purchaser is allowed to commence the action six months after the due date of such taxes or assessments. At his or her option, the tax lien purchaser also has the right to satisfy such subsequent tax liens and by virtue of such satisfaction, "be deemed to be in the same position as if he or she were a purchaser of a tax lien certificate for such subsequent tax lien." Under this scenario, the tax lien purchaser is not entitled to a five percent surcharge.

Local Law No. 26 also requires the Commissioner to submit an annual report to the City Council regarding the sale or sales of tax liens during the preceding year. This reporting requirement was strengthened by Local Law 98 of 1997 (see below).

In December of 1997 this Committee adopted Int. No. 1080-A which became Local Law 98 of 1997. This legislation extended Local Law 26, which was to sunset on December 31, 1997, for an additional two years and further amended the laws regarding the sale of tax liens. The local law authorized the City to sell "subsequent tax lien[s]" on non-residential property regardless of the length of the delinquency of the subsequent tax lien, and on residential property where the real property tax component of the lien has been delinquent for one year. A subsequent tax lien is a tax lien that arises after the date of sale of any tax lien on a property and which is still unpaid as of the date of publication of the first notice of the sale of the subsequent tax lien. As in the case of tax liens, subsequent tax liens also must have a real property tax component — i.e. they cannot consist of solely water/sewage charges or assessments owed to a Business Improvement District.

Recognizing that the 1996 and 1997 tax lien sales had been securitized transactions in which a single purpose Trust had been created to issue bonds collateralized by the tax liens, Local Law 98 revised the notice requirements for negotiated sales "to a trust or other entity created by the city or in which the city has an ownership or residual interest." This revision, among other things, eliminated the requirement that the notice provide a request for statements of interest, because in these cases underwriters are selected through a competitive RFP process.

Local Law 98 also provided an exception for inclusion in a tax lien sale for liens on property owned by a company organized pursuant to article XI of the State Private Housing Finance Law with the consent and approval of the Department of Housing Preservation and Development. Liens on these companies' properties intended to provide housing for families and persons of low income that are sold pursuant to the tax lien law would be deemed defective and thus excluded from any tax lien sale conducted by the City. Additionally, Local Law 98 required the Commissioner to "designate an employee of the department to respond to inquiries from owners sixty-five years of age or older of property for which a tax lien has been sold or noticed for sale."

The reporting requirement was strengthened to provide that upon request of the Council, the Commissioner's annual report of tax lien sale activity would be arranged by community board, and that the Commissioner would provide any additional information on tax lien sales that the Council requested. Finally, the Local Law also amended the notice requirements in the case of postponed sales, clarified that any purchaser of tax liens would "stand in the same position as the city" had the tax liens not been sold, and authorized the Corporation Counsel to represent tax lien purchasers in any action in which it believed such representation to be in the City's best interest.

The tax lien sales under the new procedures have all been securitized transactions in which a single purpose Trust is established. This Trust issues bonds to institutional investors collateralized by the delinquent tax liens and surcharge liens. The money raised by the issuance of the bonds (as well as a subordinated note issued by the Trust) are then used to acquire a portfolio of tax liens which include City of New York liens (property tax liens), Water Board liens and Business Improvement District liens. The City, the Water Board and the Business Improvement Districts retain a residual interest in the Trust. The Trust hires one or more servicers to work with delinquent property taxpayers to help them pay off their tax liens. Proceeds received by the servicers are first used to pay off the senior notes held by the institutional investors. After these have been paid off, the City, Water Board and BIDs begin to have their subordinate note paid down.

On December 7, 1999, the Committee held an oversight hearing on the City's Tax Lien Sale Program. According to the Administration, the six lien sales in the last four years have raised over $1.1 billion in new revenues for the City. This number includes approximately $600 million generated from the sale of bonds by the Trusts and over $530 million in voluntary payments made during the periods when notices of the lien sales were given to delinquent taxpayers. The Administration also claims that due to an almost 2% decline in the property tax delinquency rate, the City realizes an increase of approximately $160 million in annual collections. No class one properties were included in the first sale in 1996. Since that sale, of the three subsequent sales (other than the high lien to value and residual note sales) the percentage of properties that had liens sold which were class 1 properties, was 41% in 1997, 21% in 1998 and 34% in 1999.

According to the Administration, only 1% of the tax liens sold have resulted in foreclosure on the properties. The Council Finance Division distributed data at the hearing noting that class one properties have a more difficult time removing themselves from the lien sale process than other properties. The data supplied by the Administration reveals that the number of properties going through the tax lien sale program is decreasing with each sale; the revenue being generated by the sales is also generally decreasing. The first tax lien sale after the enactment of Local Law 26, in June of 1996 was by far the largest single sale generating approximately $215 million from the sale of the bonds, whereas the 1999 sale generated only $114 million from the sale of bonds. In addition, the type of sales are changing. In 1998 and 1999 there have been two sales which included liens on properties with a high lien to value ratio (in which the liens represented approximately 50% or more of the value of the property). For the first time in 1999, liens collateralizing the residual note held by the City, which prior to this had not been sold to investors, were sold as part of one of the 1999 sales.

One goal of the tax lien sale program was to increase property tax collections and thereby lower the delinquency rate. According to the 1999 Mayor's Management Report, the real property tax delinquency rate is 3.5%, which is down from rates of almost 5% in the early to mid-1990s. According to the Administration's testimony at the December 7th Oversight Hearing, the delinquency rate has fallen as low as 3.21% in 1998. This delinquency rate decline is probably attributable to both improvement in the local economy as well as to the sales of tax liens, although it is difficult to determine the extent of each of these effects on the approximately one-third decline. The following table shows the property tax delinquency rates from 1995 (the year before the enactment of Local Law 26) through 1999, calculated by the Council's Finance Division from data provided by the Mayor's Office of Management and Budget.

4.87%	3.67%	3.72%	3.51%	3.41%

Today the Committee is considering Int. No. 663, a proposed local law which would extend the authority of the Commissioner of Finance to sell tax liens for almost seven months, through and including July 31, 2000. The law would be effective immediately, although since it would become law after December 31, 1999, it would be deemed to be retroactive to, and in full force and effect, as of January 1, 2000. According to the Administration, it is preparing proposals for changes to the existing tax lien sale procedures which it plans on discussing with the Committee and its staff. The proposed extension would allow the current program to continue without change while any proposed amendments are considered.

Fiscal Impact Statement:

	Effective FY00	FY Succeeding Effective FY01	Full Fiscal Impact FY00
Revenues (+)	$45,000,000	$45,000,000	$45,000,000
Expenditures (–)	–$0–	–$0–	–$0–
Net	$45,000,000	$45,000,000	$45,000,000

Impact on Revenues: It is anticipated that $119,800,00 will be raised from the sale of tax liens in Fiscal 2000. The City has already conducted two sales in Fiscal 2000. In July, the sale of subsequent liens on properties whose liens were included in prior Hen sales raised approximately $5,800,000 in revenue for the City. In October, the City received $69,000,000 from a sale, which included liens in the residual note held by the City from the 1996 tax lien sale and approximately 900 additional liens. The total from these sales was $74,800,000. The City Plans another sale of new liens in June for an estimated $45,000,000 in revenue. Another sale may occur in July for Fiscal 2001. The total estimated revenue from lien sales for Fiscal 2001 is $45,000,000.

Impact on Expenditures: The impact on expenditures is anticipated to be minimal.

Accordingly, Your Committee recommends its adoption.

L.U. No. 581

Report of the Committee on Finance in favor of approving an application No. 20005065 HAK, an Urban Development Action Area Project, located at 192 MacDougal Street, Council District No. 41, Borough of Brooklyn. This matter is subject to Council review and action pursuant to Article 16 of the New York General Municipal Law, at the request of the New York City Department of Housing Preservation and Development, and pursuant to § 696 of the General Municipal Law for a real property tax exemption.

The Committee on Finance to which it was referred on October 13, 1999 (Minutes page 2415) the annexed Land Use resolution respectfully

REPORTS:

Pursuant to Section 696 of the General Municipal Law (GML), Section 577 of the Private Housing Finance Law, and Section 422 of the Real Property Tax Law the Department of Housing Preservation and Development (HPD) requests partial property tax exemptions for properties that will provide housing for City residents as specified in the attached project summaries. These properties are developed under programs initiated by HPD and the Department of Housing and Urban Development. These projects, organized and operated by private not-for-profit Housing Development Fund Corporations (HDFC's) formed under Article XI may be granted exemptions from real property taxes by the local legislative body for a period of up to forty (40) years,

These properties are currently owned by the City, and thus pay no property taxes. Approval of the exemptions will result in partial tax payment on every property.

The City Council Land Use Committee has approved the disposition of these city-owned properties as Urban Development Action Area Projects.

CITYHOME PROGRAM

Under the CityHomes Program, vacant, city-owned, one to four family buildings are rehabilitated for sale to moderate and middle income purchasers. The NY/Enterprise CityHome Housing Development Fund Corporation will purchase the buildings from the City for a nominal fee, rehabilitate and manage the buildings during construction, and sell the completed units as homes, condominiums or limited equity cooperatives to purchasers in eligible income brackets (families of four earning up to 165% of area median income, or $70,950). HPD and private lenders will provide construction loans and permanent financing to be repaid through the mortgage and resale profits.

Pursuant to Section 696 of the General Municipal Law, a partial exemption from real property taxes is granted for twenty years. A full exemption is allowed for the first ten years, and phased out in equal decrements over the following ten years. Full taxes will be paid upon completion of the 20 year term.

TENANT INTERIM LEASE (TIL)

HPD initiated TIL to encourage private ownership and management of low income housing properties and to divest the City of its in-rem stock. The City rehabilitates occupied in-rem buildings and sells them for a nominal fee of $250 per dwelling unit to Housing Development Fund Companies (HDFC) organized pursuant to Article XI of State Private Housing Finance Law (PHFL). In TIL, they are managed by tenant HDFC's as low income housing cooperatives. Tenants are subject to income restrictions pursuant to Section 576 of the PHFL. Monthly rent for such apartments is typically $80-$90 per zoning room but does not exceed 30% of a tenant's annual income.

An exemption from property taxes will be allowed for that portion of the assessed value of the property which exceeds the ceiling amount determined by HPD. The ceiling is increased annually by an amount not to exceed 6%, and cannot increase by more than 20% over 5 years. Full taxes are paid up to the ceiling amount and a total exemption is allowed on that portion of the assessed value which exceeds this amount. This ceiling level was calculated so property tax payments would be approximately 10% of a buildings' entire budget. This level would reflect other property tax exemptions made available through Federal Section 202 and Mitchell-Lama programs.

The assessed value base amount for ceiling calculations was established at $3,500 per residential unit in 1989-90. The Fiscal 2000 maximum ceiling amount has increased to $5,040, which represents property tax payments of approximately $542 for each dwelling unit.

Exemptions under this program are effective until July 1, 2029 and resale restrictions are placed on all properties pursuant to Board of Estimate Resolution 78 of 1980 as amended by Resolution 56 of 1982.

HUD SECTION 202 SUPPORTIVE HOUSING FOR THE ELDERLY

The U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) Section 202 Supportive Housing Program for the Elderly program provides for new construction of rental units to house elderly persons of very low income. Not-for-profit sponsors organized under Article XI of state Private Housing Finance Law are chosen by HUD, and purchase City or privately owned land for the project. Construction and permanent financing of the project will be financed through a HUD capital advance and operations will be supported by a HUD rental assistance contract. The City provides a subsidy through the tax exemption to ensure affordability to the targeted income population.

Pursuant to Section 422 of the Real Property Tax Law, no taxes are paid on the land after conveyance during the term of construction (about 18 months) until the issuance of a temporary or permanent Certificate of Occupancy at which time the exemption and partial payment in lieu of taxes takes effect.

Upon issuance of the temporary or permanent Certificate of Occupancy, an exemption from property taxes will be granted for all of the value of the property in the project (except assessments for local improvements) for the period of the HUD mortgage, but no more than 40 years.

A payment in lieu of taxes of will be made to the City annually. This amount represents 10% of annual shelter rents for the project, arrived at a by a formula established by HPD and HUD. In addition, an amount equal to 25% of any annual increases in actual rents will be added, provided that such partial annual payment never exceeds 17% of contract rents or the amount that would otherwise be paid in the absence of any exemption.

Accordingly, Your Committee recommends its adoption.

REPORTS:

Pursuant to the authority of Section 31 of the New York City Charter, the Committee on Rules, Privileges and Elections will consider this date the nominee of the Mayor for reappointment to the New York City Landmarks Preservation Commission.

The Commission has the powers and duties as prescribed by law with respect to the establishment and regulation of landmarks, portions of landmarks, landmark sites, interior landmarks, scenic landmarks and historic districts.

The law states that the Commission shall consist of eleven members. The membership shall include at least three architects, one historian qualified in the field, one city planner or landscape architect, and one realtor. The membership shall include at least one resident of each of the boroughs and the members are appointed by the Mayor for three year terms.

Prior to appointing an architect, historian or city planner or landscape architect, the Mayor may consult with the fine arts federation of New York or similar organizations.

The members of the Commission other than the Chair serve without compensation but are reimbursed for expenses. The Mayor designates a Chair and a Vice-Chair from the members and the Commission hires an executive director and such other employees as may be required.

The new sections of Chapter 74 set forth the procedure to be followed. Notice of any proposed landmarks designation has to be sent to the City Planning Commission, all affected community boards and the affected Borough President.

Within 10 days of making a designation, the Commission has to file a copy of the designation with the City Planning Commission and the City Council. Within 60 days after the filing, the City Planning Commission has to hold a hearing and submit a report to the City Council with their recommendations. The City Council may modify or disapprove by majority vote any designation of the Landmarks Preservation Commission within 120 days after a copy is filed with the Council provided the City Planning Commission has submitted the report required or 60 days have elapsed since the filing with the Council.

A Council vote shall be filed with the Mayor who shall then have 5 days to disapprove. If the Mayor disapproves the Council may override within 10 days by a two-third vote.

The law also provided for the establishment of an independent panel to be created by the Mayor with the advice and consent of the Council to review determinations of the Commission denying applications for certificates of appropriateness based on the ground of hardship, to demolish, alter or reconstruct. This shall only apply to tax exempt properties.

The nominee appearing before the Committee today is:

VICKI MATCH SUNA, who is being recommended for reappointment for the remainder of a three year term which commenced on June 29, 1999 and expires on June 28, 2002.

After interviewing the candidate and finding her qualified, Your Committee recommends her renomination.

In connection herewith, Council Member Povman offered the following resolution:

Res. No. 1172

Resolution approving the reappointment by the Mayor of Vicki Match Suna, as a member of the New York City Landmarks Preservation Commission.

By Council Member Povman:

Resolved, that pursuant to Section 31 and Section 3020 of the New York City Charter, the Committee on Rules, Privileges and Elections hereby approves the reappointment by the Mayor of VICKI MATCH SUNA, as a member of the New York City Landmarks Preservation Commission for the remainder of a three year term to expire on June 28, 2002.

MORTON POVMAN, Chairperson; ARCHIE SPIGNER, HERBERT E. BERMAN, WENDELL FOSTER, STANLEY E. MICHELS, JEROME X. O'DONOVAN, KATHRYN E. FREED, THOMAS V. OGNIBENE, PETER F. VALLONE—January 19, 2000

On motion of the Speaker (Council Member Vallone), and adopted, the foregoing matter was coupled as a General Order for the day. (See ROLL CALL ON GENERAL ORDERS FOR THE DAY.)

At this point the Speaker (Council Member Vallone) announced that the following items had been preconsidered by the Committee on Rules, Privileges and Elections and had been favorably reported for adoption.

Report of the Committee on Rules, Privileges and Elections in favor of approving a communication from the Mayor — Submitting the name of Jeffrey Elmer to the Council for its advice and consent regarding his appointment to the Citywide Recycling Advisory Board for a term of one year, which will expire on January 18, 2001, pursuant to Section 16-319 of the Administrative Code.

The Committee on Rules, Privileges and Elections to which it was referred on January 19, 2000, the annexed communication respectfully

REPORTS:

The Committee on Rules, Privileges and Elections will consider this date one appointment by the City Council to the Citywide Recycling Advisory Board.

On April 14, 1989 Local Law 19 of 1989 was signed into law and thus-made mandatory the recycling of recyclable solid waste materials. The legislative intent was to establish the most environmentally sound and economically desirable waste reduction recycling and reuse programs possible and that they should be consistent with or surpass the programs established by New York State.

To achieve the above goals the legislation established a citywide recycling advisory board. Section 16-319 of the Administrative Code of the City of New York provides for a board that shall consist of at least one representative from each citizen's solid waste advisory board established in each borough, five (5) members to be appointed by the Mayor and five (5) members to be appointed by the City Council. The membership shall represent community boards, recycling industries, carting industries, environmental groups, government agencies, labor organizations, business organizations, property owners, tenant organizations and members of the general public. Members serve one year terms and they designate a chairperson and a vice chairperson.

The board is to meet at least four times a year to discuss recycling issues. The board is to review annually the Sanitation Department's recycling program and make recommendations to the Mayor and the Council.

The legislation clearly states that the board is "advisory" and has no authority to take a final action on behalf of the city of any action that would require final action by a city agency.

The Council nominee is Jeffrey Elmer.

After interviewing the candidate and finding him qualified, Your Committee recommends his nomination.

In connection herewith, Council Member Povman offered the following resolution:

Res. No. 1171

Resolution approving and referring to the entire City Council the appointment of Jeffrey Elmer as a member of the Citywide Recycling Advisory Board.

By Council Member Povman:

Resolved, that Pursuant to Section 16-319 Of the Administrative Code of the City of New York, the Council hereby appoints Jeffrey Elmer as a member of the Citywide Recycling Advisory Board for a term of one year to expire on January 18, 2001.

MORTON POVMAN, Acting Chairperson; ARCHIE SPIGNER, HERBERT E. BERMAN, WENDELL FOSTER, STANLEY E. MICHELS, JEROME X. O'DONOVAN, KATHRYN E. FREED, THOMAS V. OGNIBENE, PETER F. VALLONE—January 19, 2000

On motion of the Speaker (Council Member Vallone), and adopted, the foregoing matter was coupled as a General Order for the day. (See ROLL CALL ON GENERAL ORDERS FOR THE DAY.)

Report of the Committee on Transportation

At this point the Speaker (Council Member Vallone) announced that the following item had been preconsidered by the Committee on Transportation and had been favorably reported for adoption.

Res. No. 1143

Report of the Committee on Transportation in favor of approving a resolution pursuant to Section 19-511.1 of the Administrative Code of the City of New York to review sixty-four determinations by the Taxi and Limousine Com mission to approve applications for the renewal of a license to operate a base station and to review eight determinations by the Taxi and Limousine Commission to approve applications for a license to operate a new base station.

The Committee on Transportation to which it was referred on January 19, 2000, the annexed resolution respectfully

REPORTS:

Pursuant to Local Law 51 of 1996 the Council has the authority to review determinations by the Taxi and Limousine Commission (TLC) to approve applications for base station licenses, including renewals of such licenses. The Council may, within ninety days after the first Stated Meeting following receipt of such a determination, "call up" a determination for review by passing a resolution and either approve or disapprove that determination by passing a local law. This resolution, a copy of which is annexed hereto, permits the Council to review the determination of the Taxi and Limousine Commission to approve eight applications for new base stations. In addition, the Council would review the determinations of the Taxi and Limousine Commission to approve sixty-four license renewals. These 72 determinations were received by the Council as Communications by the Mayor numbers M-677 through M-748 at the Stated Meeting of December 7, 1999.

Accordingly, Your Committee recommends its adoption.

Introduction and Reading of Bills

Int. No. 680

By the Speaker (Council Member Vallone) and Council Members Berman, McCaffrey, Koslowitz, Eldridge, DiBrienza, Spigner, Eisland, Robles, Rivera, Pinkett, Sabini, Robinson, Reed, Perkins, Freed, Provenzano, Clarke, Carrion, Dear, Malave-Dilan, Espada, Foster, Harrison, Lasher, Linares, Lopez, Marshall, Michels, Nelson, O'Donovan, Povman, Quinn, Rodriguez and Warden

A LOCAL LAW to amend the administrative code of the city of New York, in relation to prohibiting surcharge fees on automated teller machine transactions.

Section 1. Legislative findings and intent. The Council hereby finds that since the introduction by banks of automated teller machines ("ATMs") in the 1970s, consumers have become increasingly dependent on them for accessing their accounts. According to reports from the former Chair of the United States Senate Banking Committee, increasing reliance on this technological advance was exactly what financial institutions planned, because the ability to replace tellers with these machines would allow financial institutions to reduce costs, increase efficiency and ultimately benefit consumers. Since that time, the number of ATMs has exploded with an estimated 2700 bank ATMs currently operating in New York City. According to reports, cash withdrawals which cost banks over $1.00 to have a teller process, cost about 27 cents when processed by an ATM.

However, the Council also finds that in the years since the introduction of ATMs, and especially in recent years, fees charged for ATM transactions have skyrocketed, to the point where a consumer may pay several times more for an ATM withdrawal as a bank would pay a teller to process the transaction, despite the fact that the bank's costs of processing the transaction are several times lower. In 1997, revenues from ATM surcharge fees were estimated at $3 billion.

The Council hereby finds that the practice by banks of levying a second charge (or "surcharge") directly on consumers using automated teller machine-cards (ATM cards or access devices) issued by other financial institutions has skyrocketed recently. Prior to 1996, the vast majority of banks operating ATMs in the City levied one charge to cover the costs relating to the use of their ATMs by customers of other financial institutions. This single charge (or "interchange fee") was levied on a non-customer's bank and was sometimes borne by that bank or, in other instances, passed onto the ATM user by his or her bank in the form of a fee for using another bank's ATM (a "foreign fee").

The Council further finds that this interchange fee, levied by the ATM bank on the non-customer's bank, compensates the ATM owner for costs relating to the transaction. In spite of this, the Council further finds that financial institutions have increasingly been levying a second and additional fee — the surcharge — directly on the consumer using their ATM machine. This practice has increased dramatically in the last few years, ever since the nation's two largest ATM networks, Plus and Cirrus, eliminated rules prohibiting their member institutions from surcharging customers of other member banks for the use of their ATMs. Plus, in defending its no-surcharge rule during the late 1980s, stated that the premise on which ATM networks were formed, and upon which banks relied in joining, was that customers of all the member banks would be able to share in the use of all the networks ATMs — not to provide an independent revenue source to the cash-dispensing bank.

Nevertheless, ever since this change in policy, surcharging has dramatically increased in frequency and amounts. According to the United States General Accounting Office, 39% of banks operating ATMs levied such surcharges on consumers using ATM cards issued by other banks in early 1997, just under a year after the surcharge prohibition was lifted by Plus and Cirrus. By early 1998, this percentage had risen to 64% nationwide. A recent survey of New York City banks by the Council reveals that as of late 1999, 87% of banks surveyed surcharge. In addition, studies have shown that the amount of these surcharges have dramatically increased. The average surcharge by banks that impose them rose from $1.16 in 1997 to $1.37 in 1999, according to one study. The General Accounting Office found the most commonly imposed surcharge in 1998 to be $1.50.

Thus, in cases where the consumer's bank passes off the charge it pays to the ATM owner to its customer, a consumer can commonly wind up paying $2.00 to $3.00 for a cash machine withdrawal. For a senior citizen, a person of modest means or a student who can only afford to withdraw $20.00 or $40.00 at a time, this represents an enormous charge. And, according to a recent survey conducted by the Council, the vast majority of ATM consumers are unaware that the surcharge they are paying to the ATM owner is in addition to a fee that the same ATM owner is collecting from the customer's bank for the transaction.

Moreover, the Council further finds that this surcharge practice not only creates a heavy direct financial burden on consumers which is in addition to a charge which compensates banks for costs incurred, but is also very likely to have an anti-competitive effect on banks which further disadvantages consumers. Banking experts and consumer advocates have reported that the trend in ATM surcharge practices could lead to consumers leaving smaller banks, savings and loans and credit unions which pay higher interest rates, and switching their accounts to larger banks with more ATM machines but with less favorable account terms. This could lead, in the longer term, to a decline in price competition in deposit interest rates. Thus, a warped market could develop whereby large banks could end up gaining customers rather than losing them if they raise their surcharges and lower the interest rates they pay their depositors. This will hurt smaller banks and financial institutions, restrict competition in the industry and ultimately hurt bank consumers.

Therefore, the Council hereby deems ATM surcharges an unfair and unconscionable trade practice, cognizable under the City's consumer affairs laws, and hereby prohibits banks and financial institutions operating ATMs in the city of New York from levying such surcharges on customers of other banks using their ATMs.

The Council, having reviewed applicable federal law governing the provision by financial institutions of ATM services, finds that such law specifically allows states and municipalities to provide their citizens with greater consumer protections in the area of ATM transactions. The Electronic Fund Transfer Act (the "EFTA", 15 USC § 1693 et seq.), the stated purpose of which is to set forth a framework establishing the rights, liabilities and responsibilities of participants in electronic fund transfer systems, contains express provisions permitting state or local consumer protection measures that afford consumers greater protection than that afforded by the federal law. Thus, the EFTA explicitly preserves the right of City's like New York to enact its own laws protecting ATM consumers from unfair practices.

§ 2. Chapter five of title twenty of administrative code of the city of New York is amended by adding a new subchapter 14 to read as follows:

§ 20-759 a. Definitions. For purposes of this section:

(3) "Automated teller machine" means any electronic information processing device, linked to a financial institution's account records, which enables ATM consumers to carry out banking transactions, including, but not limited to: account transfers, deposits, cash withdrawals, balance inquiries, and mortgage and loan payments. The term does not include devices used solely to facilitate check guarantees or check authorizations, or which are used in connection with the acceptance or dispensing of cash on a person-to-person basis, such a store cashier.

(4) "ATM consumer" means a natural person to whom an access device has been issued by a financial institution.

(5) "Financial institution" means any national or state bank, federal or state savings and loan association, federal or state savings bank, federal or state credit union or federal or state trust company.

b. Prohibitions on Surcharges. It shall be unlawful for any financial institution to impose a fee or charge of any kind on an ATM consumer for accessing an automated teller machine located in the city of New York that is owned or operated, directly or indirectly, by such financial institution, with an access device issued by another financial institution.

c. Penalties. (1) Any financial institution found to be in violation of subdivision b of this section shall be subject to a civil penalty of not more than two hundred fifty dollars. Each violation of subdivision b of this section with respect to a particular automated teller machine shall be considered a separate violation thereof.

(2) Any bank found to be in violation of subdivision b of this section shall correct the violation within three days after such finding. Failure to correct the violation within three days after such finding shall subject the financial institution to a civil penalty of not less than five hundred dollars nor more than one thousand dollars and an additional civil penalty of two hundred fifty dollars per day for each day such violation continues, provided, however, that if the commissioner determines that any financial institution has willfully failed to correct the violation, such financial institution shall be subject to a civil penalty of not less than one thousand dollars nor more than five thousand dollars and an additional civil penalty of two hundred fifty dollars per day for each day such violation continues.

(3) A proceeding to recover any civil penalty authorized to be imposed pursuant to this section shall be commenced by the service of a notice of violation which shall be returnable to the commissioner of consumer affairs. Such commissioner, after due notice and an opportunity for a hearing, shall be authorized to impose the civil penalties prescribed by this section.

d. Civil Actions. Any person injured by a violation of subdivision b may enforce its provisions by means of a civil action.

Int. No. 681

By the Speaker (Council Member Vallone) and Council Members Harrison, McCaffrey, Berman, Carrion, Dear, DiBrienza, Malave-Dilan, Eisland, Espada, Fisher, Foster, Freed, Koslowitz, Lasher, Leffler, Linares, Lopez, Marshall, Michels, Miller, Moskowitz, Nelson, O'Donovan, Perkins, Povman, Provenzano, Quinn, Reed, Rivera, Robinson, Robles, Rodriguez, Sabini, Spigner, Warden, Watkins, White, Abel, Fiala and Oddo

A LOCAL LAW to amend the administrative code of the city of New York, in relation to rent increase exemptions for low-income elderly persons.

Be it enacted by the Council as follows:

Section 1. Declaration of legislative intent and findings. The council finds that despite the efforts of the council and the city agencies charged with the administration of the senior citizen rent increase exemption ("SCRIE") program to educate senior citizens about the existence of such program, tenants may not become aware of the SCRIE program until years after they first become eligible. The council further finds that because such agencies have interpreted the laws governing the SCRIE program so that the amount of a rent increase exemption order is based upon the amount of rent in effect on a date determined by a tenant's application date rather than the date a tenant first became eligible for the rent increase exemption, tenants are paying higher rents than they would have had they applied for the rent increase exemption at an earlier date.

Therefore, the council hereby declares its intent that the amount of a rent increase exemption order be based upon the amount of rent in effect on the date the tenant first became eligible for the rent increase exemption, provided that if such date is more than six years prior to the effective date of the order, the amount of such rent increase exemption order be based upon the amount of rent in effect six years prior to the effective date of the order.

§ 2. Subparagraph a of paragraph 3 of subdivision m of section 26-405 of such code is amended to read as follows:

(a) A rent exemption order pursuant to this subdivision shall provide:

(i) in the case of a head of the household who does not receive a monthly allowance for shelter pursuant to the social services law, that the landlord may not collect from the tenant to whom it is issued rent at a rate in excess of one-third of the aggregate disposable income, or the maximum collectible rent in effect on December thirty-first of the year preceding the [effective] eligibility date [of the order], whichever is greater; or

(ii) in the case of a head of the household who receives a monthly allowance for shelter pursuant to the social services law, that the landlord may not collect from the tenant to whom it is issued rent at a rate in excess of either the maximum allowance for shelter which the head of the household is entitled to receive, or the maximum collectible rent in effect on December thirty-first of the year preceding the [effective] eligibility date [of the order], whichever is greater; except

(iii) that the landlord may collect from the tenants described in items (i) and (ii) of this subparagraph increases in rent pursuant to subparagraphs (d), (e), and (i) of paragraph one of subdivision g of this section.

§ 3. Subdivision m of section 26-405 of such code is amended by adding thereto new paragraphs 10 and 11 to read as follows:

(10) Notwithstanding any other provision of law to the contrary, where a head of household holds a current, valid rent exemption order that was issued prior to the effective date of the local law that added this paragraph, and he or she first became eligible for a rent exemption order prior to the date he or she first applied for such order, such head of the household may, upon renewal or one year after the issuance or renewal of such rent exemption order, apply for a redetermination of the amount set forth therein. Upon application, such amount shall be redetermined so that the adjusted rent is equal to the greater of the maximum collectible rent in effect on December thirty-first of the year preceding the eligibility date and the maximum collectible rent in effect on December thirty-first of the year six years prior to the effective date of the redetermination of the amount of the rent exemption order pursuant to this paragraph; provided, however, that in no event shall the amount of adjusted rent be redetermined to be (i) in the case of a head of the household who does not receive a monthly allowance for shelter pursuant to the social services law, less than one-third of the aggregate disposable income; or (ii) in the case of a head of the household who receives a monthly allowance for shelter pursuant to the social services law, less than the maximum allowance for shelter which such head of the household is entitled to receive pursuant to such law. The renewal application for a rent exemption order shall include provisions giving notice as to the contents of this paragraph. For purposes of this paragraph, "adjusted rent" shall mean maximum rent less the amount set forth in a rent exemption order.

(11) For the purposes of this subdivision, "eligibility date" means the earliest date on which a head of the household first became eligible for a rent exemption order, notwithstanding the effective date of such order, provided that if such earliest date is more than six years prior to the effective date of the order, the eligibility date shall be the date six years prior to the effective date of the order.

§ 4. Subdivision b of section 26-509 of such code is amended by adding thereto new paragraphs 10 and 11 to read as follows:

(10) Notwithstanding any other provision of law to the contrary, where a head of household holds a current, valid rent exemption order that was issued prior to the effective date of the local law that added this paragraph, and he or she first became eligible for a rent exemption order prior to the date he or she first applied for such order, such head of the household may, upon renewal or one year after the issuance or renewal of such rent exemption order, apply for a redetermination of the amount set forth therein. Upon application, such amount shall be redetermined so that the adjusted rent is equal to the greater of the amount of rent in effect immediately preceding the eligibility date and the amount of rent in effect immediately preceding the date six years prior to the effective date of the redetermination of the amount of the rent exemption order pursuant to this paragraph; provided, however, that in no event shall the amount of adjusted rent be redetermined to be (i) in the case of a head of the household who does not receive a monthly allowance for shelter pursuant to the social services law, less than one-third of the aggregate disposable income; or (ii) in the case of a head of household who receives a monthly allowance for shelter pursuant to such law, less than the maximum allowance for shelter which such head of the household is entitled to receive pursuant to the social services law. For the purposes of this paragraph, "adjusted rent" shall mean legal regulated rent less the amount set forth in a rent exemption order. The renewal application for a rent exemption order shall include provisions giving notice as to the contents of this paragraph.

(11) For the purposes of this subdivision, "eligibility date" means the earliest date on which a head of the household first became eligible for a rent exemption order, notwithstanding the effective date of such order, provided that if such earliest date is more than six years prior to the effective date of the order, the eligibility date shall be the date six years prior to the effective date of the order.

§ 5. If any clause, sentence, item, subdivision, paragraph or section added by this local law shall be adjudged by any court of competent jurisdiction to be invalid, such judgment shall not affect, impair or invalidate the remainder thereof, but shall be confined in its operation to the clause, sentence, item, subdivision, paragraph or section thereof directly involved in the controversy in which such judgment shall have been rendered.

§ 6. This local law shall take effect ninety days after its enactment.

Res. No. 1142

Resolution acknowledging the month of January to be National Glaucoma Awareness Month and calling on all New Yorkers to promote Glaucoma awareness.

By Council Members Clarke, Malave-Dilan, Espada, Fisher, Freed, Koslowitz, Lasher, Linares, Nelson, Warden and Abel; also Council Members Eisland, Fisher, Foster, Harrison, Leffler, Marshall, Michels, O'Donovan, Perkins, Provenzano, Rivera and Spigner

Whereas, Glaucoma is a progressive disease of the eye that affects an estimated 4 million Americans; and

Whereas, About half of these people don't even know that they have the disease; and

Whereas, It is extremely difficult for a person with glaucoma to detect the disease in its early stages without a proper glaucoma exam; and

Whereas, The only effective method of early detection and treatment of glaucoma, which is the second leading cause of preventable blindness, is to make sure people are informed about the disease and encourage people to have regular eye and glaucoma exams; and

Whereas, African Americans and people of African descent are more likely to go blind from glaucoma than any other racial group; and

Whereas, Routine eye exams are extremely important for everybody but it is especially important that groups at high risk for glaucoma — people who are over 65 years of age, African Americans, people with previous ocular injury, people with a family history of glaucoma and diabetic patients — get regular glaucoma exams; and

Whereas, Once detected, there are many ways to treat glaucoma including eye drops, surgery and drugs; and

Whereas, New technologies to treat glaucoma are being developed every day; and

Whereas, The best defense in fighting glaucoma is detecting the disease early and therefore, more than anything else, it is education and awareness that will be most effective; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Council of the City of New York acknowledges the month of January to be National Glaucoma Awareness Month and calls on all New Yorkers to promote Glaucoma awareness.

Whereas, The police radio, stolen during an earlier riot-like situation, was being used to harass police officers and monitor police communications; and

Whereas, The primary witnesses in Feerick's trial were admitted leaders in the Purple City gang, which is involved in drug trafficking and has been implicated in numerous murders; and

Whereas, Former Lieutenant Feerick reported to Rikers Island on September 21, 1999 to begin serving her sentence alongside drug dealers, murderers and other criminals, some of whom she had helped to take off the streets of New York City; and

Whereas, Lieutenant Patricia Feerick had an impeccable and stellar record during her service in the NYPD; and

Whereas, Patricia Feerick is licensed to practice law and nursing and is the loving mother of two young children who deserve to know the benevolence of their mother; and

Whereas, New York State Governor George Pataki granted clemency to Feerick because the "request by this highly decorated officer and mother of two children deserves to be granted"; and

Whereas, Governor Pataki, in granting clemency to Feerick, honorably and admirably, used the power vested in him as Chief Executive of New York State to grant leniency in certain cases; and

Whereas, Feerick was one of the NYPD's finest officers, whose selfless efforts to reduce crime and make the streets of New York safer for all its citizens, residents and visitors must not go unrecognized; and

Whereas, Former officers Myra Schultz, John DeVito and Orlando Rosario, all previously considered officers in good standing have all been convicted for crimes stemming from the 1990 incident; and

Whereas, The governor can further rectify this miscarriage of justice by granting Patricia Feerick, Myra Schultz, John DeVito and Orlando Rosario a pardon; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Council of the City of New York commends New York State Governor George Pataki on his decision to grant clemency to former New York City Police Lieutenant Patricia Feerick and calling for a pardon for Feerick and fellow officers Myra Schultz, John DeVito and Orlando Rosario.

Res. No. 1145

Resolution calling upon the President of the United States and the U.S. Congress to recognize and support Israel's right to exist in peace without relinquishing land in the Golan Heights.

By Council Member Dear; also Council Members McCaffrey and Sabini

Whereas, The territory of the Golan Heights is governed by the State of Israel and is settled by Israelis; and

Whereas, Jewish settlement and sovereignty in the Golan region dates back more than three thousand years and is biblically referenced as a part of the historic land of Israel; and

Whereas, The Golan Heights was controlled by the Republic of Syria only between 1948 and 1967, a period of nineteen years; and

Whereas, During those years of Syrian control and until Israel captured the region, the Golan Heights was used by Syria as a fully militarized zone and as a primary staging point for military actions against the State of Israel including attacks on the civilian residents of Israel's Galilee; and

Whereas, Israel captured the Golan Heights in the Six-Day War of 1967 and has developed the previously barren land for more than thirty-two years; and

Whereas, Israel's capture of the Golan Heights removed the geographical advantage Syria held over the low-altitude Israeli Galilee and thereby, effectively ended the deplorable Syrian artillery and missile attacks on Israeli civilians, including women and children, of the Galilee; and

Whereas, Israeli citizens have subsequently settled the land of the Golan Heights establishing both agricultural settlements and the region's first modern cities; and

Whereas, The Golan Heights, as part of Israel, has been developed in a completely unprecedented fashion with leading cities including Katzrin and has become a world leader in areas such as the wine industry; and

Whereas, Syria, which is effectively an autocratic state, can offer no tangible assurance that it will remain peaceful towards its democratic neighbor, Israel; and

Whereas, Historical incidences of so-called "land for peace" compromises have not regularly proven successful in their goal of achieving peace, a prime example being Great Britain's relinquishment of the Sudetenland in the Munich agreement prior to World War II; and

Whereas, The United States, in its zeal to broker worldwide peace, must be extremely cautious to facilitate only arrangements that best serve that goal in a practical and real fashion rather than in a more ceremonial manner, which may be desirable from a publicity standpoint, but counterproductive from the perspective of a lasting peaceful resolution; and

Whereas, The responsibility of the U.S., as the leader of the democratic world, is to leave the decisions about a peace deal with Syria to the residents and citizens of the democratic State of Israel without tying any assistance or aid for that nation to a U.S.-backed arrangement; and

Whereas, The U.S. government should support Israel, its only democratic ally in the Middle East, regardless of the progress of negotiations on the Syrian front; and

Whereas, The U.S. government should recognize Israel's right to exist in peace without the threat of violence from any of its neighbors free of any and all contingencies and conditions except Israel's own commitment to peace; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Council of the City of New York calls upon the President of the United States and the U.S. Congress to recognize Israel's right to exist in peace without relinquishing land in the Golan Heights.

Res. No. 1146

Resolution condemning Atlanta Braves pitcher John Rocker for his hateful, xenophobic, racist and homophobic comments directed at New Yorkers and urging Major League Baseball and the Atlanta Braves to properly punish him for his actions.

By Council Members DiBrienza, Linares, Quinn, Reed, Clarke, Malave-Dilan, Freed, Koslowitz, Lopez and Robles; also Council Members Espada, Foster, Leffler, Marshall, McCaffrey, Michels, O'Donovan, Perkins, Rivera, Robinson, Sabini, Spigner and White

Whereas, In the few months prior to the commencement of the first Major League Baseball season of the new millennium, we must ask ourselves what we have learned from our past and how baseball will be defined in the future; and

Whereas, We can only hope, as baseball fans and conscionable citizens, that we have learned from true legends like Jackie Robinson and Joe DiMaggio that determination, sportsmanship and respect rests at the foundation of the great American pastime and that the unenlightened bigotry and tactless hatefulness demonstrated by the comments of Atlanta Braves pitcher John Rocker has no place in the future of baseball; and

Whereas, Mr. Rocker made a number of comments in an interview with Sports Illustrated that, by attacking immigrants and gays among other groups, demonstrated his ignorance and personal hatreds; and

Whereas, Among his comments were: "The biggest thing I don't like about New York are the foreigners . . . how the hell did they get in this country?" and he relayed his take on riding the Number 7 train with "some kid with purple hair," "some queer with AIDS," and "some 20-year old mom with four kids;" and

Whereas, Mr. Rocker seems not to have benefited at all from studying the unique history of our country and of New York City, whose citizens, all of whom have somewhere down the line, come from somewhere else, contributed immensely to the advancement of the United States, which includes Atlanta and Macon, Georgia, where he plays baseball and was raised, respectively; and

Whereas, It is shameful that John Rocker, an athlete in the public eye, felt that he could make such ignorant comments about a city of which he obviously knows very little and about immigrants that continually contribute blood, sweat and tears to this country, not to mention Major League Baseball and the Atlanta Braves ball club; and

Whereas, The ridiculous statements of John Rocker constitutes simply unacceptable behavior and being a Major League baseball player, he has disgraced the League and his team and should be properly punished; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Council of the City of New York condemns Atlanta Braves pitcher John Rocker for his hateful, xenophobic, racist and homophobic comments directed at New Yorkers and urges Major League Baseball and the Atlanta Braves to properly punish him for his actions.

Immediate consideration being objected to by Council Member Ognibene. This matter was referred to the Committee on Parks, Recreation, Cultural Affairs and International Intergroup Relations.

Res. No. 1147

Resolution calling upon the appropriate committee of the New York City Council to hold an oversight hearing on Internet access by juveniles at public facilities.

By Council Members Fisher, Nelson and Fiala; also Council Members Eisland, Espada, Harrison, Leffler, Marshall, Michels, O'Donovan, Perkins and Rivera

Whereas, The advent of the Internet has provided young people with a dynamic and revolutionary educational tool; and

Whereas, According to WebSurvey, the number of teenagers age 13-17 who actively use the Web will rise from 11.1 million in 1999 to 15.3 million in 2002; and

Whereas, The Internet is an invaluable and unique educational instrument which should be accessible in our City schools and libraries; and

Whereas, We must also be mindful that the Internet is a gateway to a wide array of material, some of which can be considered harmful to our youth; and

Whereas, The pornographic websites and images on the Internet are examples of the harmful material that is accessible by our youth; and

Whereas, It has not been shown that juveniles are using computer terminals at public schools and libraries to access pornography; and

Whereas, It has been proposed that the City schools and libraries institute a pilot filtering software program in order to prevent access to pornographic websites; and

Whereas, Filtering software has been criticized because it stifles legitimate research on the Internet; and

Whereas, It is unclear whether such software could be effective in preventing access to pornographic websites; and

Whereas, It is also uncertain whether the use of such software would violate the First Amendment; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Council of the City of New York calls upon the appropriate committee to hold an oversight hearing on Internet access by juveniles at public facilities.

Res. No. 1148

Resolution calling upon New Yorkers to contribute toward the construction of the Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Memorial to be built with private donations on the Mall of Washington, D.C.

By Council Members Foster, Malave-Dilan, Espada, Freed, Lopez, Marshall, Miller, Quinn and Warden; also Council Members Eisland, Fisher, McCaffrey, Michels, O'Donovan, Perkins, Povman, Rivera, Robinson, Robles, Rodriguez and Spigner

Whereas, The National Capital Planning Commission approved on December 3, 1999 the construction of the Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. Memorial on the Mall in Washington D.C. to be situated on a four acre site on the Tidal Basin between the Jefferson and Lincoln Memorials; and

Whereas, The fraternity, Alpha Phi Alpha, began crusading in 1984 for a Memorial in Washington D.C. to honor Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., including setting up a foundation to raise money for the Memorial; and

Whereas, Symbolically, the Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. Memorial will be situated near the place where he made his "I Have A Dream" speech on the steps of the Lincoln Memorial at the March on Washington in 1963; and

Whereas, There will be a national competition to design the Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. Memorial, which will be judged by a nine member jury by May 1, 2000, led by Dr. E. Jackson, Jr., Director of Research at the American Institute of Architecture; and

Whereas, The deadline to register for the design competition is April 1, 2000, entries must be submitted by May 1, 2000, and the winner will be announced on June 1, 2000; and

Whereas, The Foundation to build a Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. Memorial has until November 12, 2003 to complete the design, raise the money, and break ground; and

Whereas, Dr. King's Memorial is expected to cost tens of millions of dollars; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Council of the City of New York calls upon New Yorkers to contribute to the construction of the Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. Memorial to be built with private donations on the Mall of Washington D.C.

Adopted.

Res. No. 1149

Resolution calling upon the appropriate committee of the Council of the City of New York to conduct an oversight hearing in relation to the delivery of food services to City agencies.

By Council Member Freed; also Council Members Foster, Harrison, Rivera and White

Whereas, According to recent reports major vendors who supply food to City agencies and schools face possible indictments by the United States Justice Department for alleged bid-rigging; and

Whereas, The City spends approximately $65 million dollars worth of food each year and schools spend approximately $267 million dollars; and

Whereas, Nearly two dozen vendors who provide food to City shelters, hospitals, prisons and schools are alleged to have inflated thousands of bids in order to increase prices; and

Whereas, Pursuant to procurement guidelines, indicted vendors would be barred from doing business with the City; and

Whereas, If suspected vendors are indicted by the Justice Department the City will have to find immediate replacements; and

Whereas, The City may be potentially facing a food drought for agencies and schools unless a contingency plan is placed into immediate effect; now, therefore be it

Resolved, that the appropriate committee of the Council of the City of New York conduct an oversight hearing in relation to the delivery of food services to City agencies.

Res. No. 1150

Resolution in support of Local 169 of the Union of Needletrades, Industrial and Textile Employees' (UNITE) efforts to unionize the workers in the city's greengroceries.

By Council Members Lopez, Espada, Freed, Linares, Marshall, Moskowitz, Quinn and Reed; also Council Members McCaffrey, Michels, Perkins, Rivera, Robinson and Spigner

Whereas, Local 169 of the Union of Needletrades, Industrial and Textile Employees (UNITE) has been asked by the workers of the city's greengroceries to be their legal bargaining representative with respect to wages, hours and conditions of employment; and

Whereas, According to Local 169 of UNITE, workers in the city's greengroceries are being paid less then the legal minimum wage, receive no overtime pay, and have no health or pension benefits, or vacation or sick leave; and

Whereas, Pursuant to the National Labor Relations Act, these workers have a right to be represented by a union and receive benefits that a unionized worker receives in accordance with a negotiated collective bargaining agreement; and

Whereas, Many of these workers are recent immigrants and according to Local 169 of UNITE, are unfairly exploited by the shopkeepers; and

Whereas, According to the Lower East Side Community Labor Coalition, the National Labor Relations Board has recently sided with employees of Adinah's Farms Market, whose owner is a major lower eastside greengrocer and Local 169 of UNITE in their complaint that employees of Adinah's Farms Market had been illegally fired by the shopowner when they attempted to join the union; and

Whereas, Local 169 of UNITE has expressed a desire to begin negotiations with the city's greengrocers in order to establish agreements which are mutually satisfactory to the employer and the employees of the greengroceries; and

Whereas, New York City has a long and proud history and tradition of supporting labor unions and the rights of unions to organize workers and collectively bargain in relation to their working conditions; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Council of the City of New York supports Local 169 of the Union of Needletrades, Industrial and Textile Employees' (UNITE) efforts to unionize the workers in the city's greengroceries.

Res No. 1151

Resolution calling upon the New York State Legislature to pass legislation to protect Section 8 and Mitchell-Lama residents by: placing units in buildings that opt out of these programs into rent regulation; extending the period before which Mitchell-Lama buildings can opt out of the program; and requiring those buildings that do opt out of the Mitchell-Lama program to provide one year notice to the current residents.

By Council Members Lopez, Perkins, Freed, Linares, Marshall, Miller, Moskowitz, Quinn and Reed (in conjunction with the Manhattan Borough President); also Council Members DiBrienza, Fisher, Foster, McCaffrey, Michels, Rivera, Robinson, Rodriguez and White

Whereas, In enacting the Mitchell-Lama program the Legislature attempted to remedy a serious shortage of decent housing by providing affordable rental units for individuals and families whose incomes were too high for public housing, but not high enough to afford housing developed through private enterprise; and

Whereas, Currently, owners of Mitchell-Lama buildings are permitted to buy out their mortgages and take their buildings out of this program after 20 years, and there are thousands of apartments in buildings where landlords currently have this option; and

Whereas, Under the current rent protection laws buildings that were first occupied after 1974 are not subject to rent and eviction protections offered by these laws; and

Whereas, Many of the Mitchell-Lama buildings were first occupied between 1974 and 1979, and are now all subject to possible landlord opt outs, which could then permit the landlords to raise the rents to levels that are untouchable by the overwhelming majority of their current residents thus forcing them to leave their neighborhoods; and

Whereas, New York City is facing a crisis in affordable housing as documented by reports by the New York State Comptroller and numerous private and academic studies that have been published in the past two years; and

Whereas, The Mitchell-Lama program was developed to provide stability to both individuals and neighborhoods, and such opt outs without additional protections create destabilization and havoc, especially given the current dearth of affordable housing; and

Whereas, Section 8 project housing was built at approximately the same time as the Mitchell-Lama housing, but for a population with lower incomes, and contains the same 20 year opt out provision, thus creating a situation where even more units can be lost to poor and middle class families at the same time; and

Whereas, The current New York City housing market has been driven higher and higher during the last decade, thus creating a situation where landlords feel that they can reap windfall profits on newly deregulated apartments, making it more likely that both Section 8 and Mitchell-Lama landlords will choose to opt out of their respective programs; and

Whereas, In the current environment it is extremely difficult to find inexpensive apartments, and the current law only requires three months prior notice to residents of buildings that want to opt out of the Mitchell-Lama program, a period woefully inadequate for individual tenants, community groups or housing agencies to identify appropriate housing for those who are likely to be forced to move; and

Whereas, New York State is responsible for the Mitchell-Lama program and the rent protection laws, both of which are necessary to protect New York City residents and neighborhoods from the destruction that would occur if significant numbers of Section 8 and Mitchell-Lama buildings leave these programs; now therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Council of the City of New York calls upon the State Legislature to pass legislation to protect Section 8 and Mitchell-Lama residents by: placing units in buildings that opt out of these programs into rent regulation; extending the period before which Mitchell-Lama buildings can opt out of the program; and requiring those buildings that do opt out of the Mitchell-Lama program to provide one year notice to the current residents.

Res. No. 1152

Resolution calling upon the New York State Legislature to amend all applicable laws to allow local governments to deposit public funds in credit unions and thrift institutions.

By Council Members McCaffrey, Malave-Dilan, Espada, Fisher, Koslowitz, Lopez, Marshall, Moskowitz, Quinn and Reed; also Council Members DiBrienza, Eisland, Harrison, Michels, Provenzano, Rivera, Robinson, Rodriguez, Stabile and White

Whereas, The General Municipal Law of the State of New York requires that local governments designate one or more banks or trust companies for the deposit of public funds; and

Whereas, Many states and large cities throughout the United States expressly allow for the deposit of public funds in credit unions, savings banks, and savings and loan associations (hereinafter referred to as "thrift institutions"); and

Whereas, The State of New York remains one of the few states where banks and trust companies are granted the ability to maintain a virtual monopoly over municipal deposits; and

Whereas, The policy of allowing municipal deposits to be deposited only in banks and trust companies contradicts the fundamental principles of a fair and competitive market; and

Whereas, Many of the banks where the City of New York chooses to deposit public funds have withdrawn from low-income and working class neighborhoods, leaving credit unions and thrift institutions as the sole method of banking for these residents and their communities; and

Whereas, Like banks, credit unions are insured by the National Credit Union Insurance Fund, a federal agency comparable to the Federal Deposit Insurance Company; and

Whereas, By amending the applicable State law to permit the deposit of City funds in credit unions and thrift institutions, the State will be helping the City to improve and insure its financial strength while at the same time assist low-income and working class residents by keeping these important financial institutions viable and successful in their communities; now, therefore be it

Resolved, That the Council calls upon the New York State legislature to amend all applicable state law to allow local governments to deposit public funds in credit unions and thrift institutions.

A knowing failure to comply with such notification requirement shall be punishable by a fine of not more than (ten) twenty-five thousand dollars, to be recovered in a civil action brought in the name of the commissioner or in a proceeding before the environmental control board.

§ 3. The heading of section 24-610 of the administrative code of the city of New York, as added by local law number 42 for the year 1987, is amended to read as follows:

§ 24-610. Orders to responsible persons; civil and criminal penalties and imprisonment.

§ 4. Subdivision (c) of section 24-610 of the administrative code of the city of New York, as added by local law number 42 for the year 1987 is amended to read as follows:

c. Any responsible person who without sufficient cause, willfully violates, or fails or refuses to comply with, any order of the commissioner issued pursuant to section 24-608 may be liable: (1) for a civil penalty of not more than [five] ten thousand dollars for each day in which such violation occurs or such failure or refusal to comply continues; and (2) for an additional civil penalty in an amount at least equal to, and not more than three times, the amount of any costs incurred by the city as a result of such person's willful violation, or failure or refusal to comply. Such penalties may be recovered in a civil action

§ 5. Section 24-610 of the administrative code of the city of New York is amended by adding a new subdivision (d) to read as follows:

§ 6. This local law shall take effect sixty days after it shall have become a law.

Res. No. 1153

Resolution calling upon the Metropolitan Transportation Authority (MTA) to purchase more subway cars and buses for use by New York City Transit (NYCT) than now planned to improve service, increase reliability and reduce crowding.

By Council Members Miller, Nelson, Espada, Freed, Koslowitz, Linares, Marshall, Moskowitz, Quinn, Reed and Oddo; also Council Members Fisher, Harrison, McCaffrey, Michels, O'Donovan, Povman, Rivera and Sabini

Whereas, While subway ridership has increased 14% in the last three years, subway service has increased by only 4% in the same period; and

Whereas, Bus ridership is up 36% since 1997, while MTA NYCT has increased service by only 9% during the same period; and

Whereas, MTA NYCT statistics show that the inability to meet ridership demands has resulted in further overcrowding and irregular service; and

Whereas, According to MTA NYCT officials, a major constraint in adding service is the number of available subway cars and buses; and

Whereas, The planned purchase of 1,130 subway cars and 1,056 buses by 2004 is far less than the number recommended by experts, including the Empire State Transportation Alliance, and its member groups, the Regional Plan Association and the NYPIRG Straphangers Campaign; and

Whereas, Satisfactory service increases can only be secured through the purchase of approximately 500 subway cars and 1000 alternative fuel buses above those already intended for purchase by MTA NYCT; and

Whereas, The five year capital plan issued by the MTA for 2000-2004 calls for only a modest increase of 2% in transit service; now, therefore be it

Resolved, that the New York City Council calls upon the Metropolitan Transportation Authority (MTA) to purchase more subway cars and buses for use by New York City Transit (NYCT) than now planned to improve service, increase reliability and reduce crowding.

BIDDERS LIST APPLICATIONS

New York City procures approximately $7 billion worth of goods, services, construction and construction related services each year. PREQUALIFIED LIST

New York City procurement policy permits agencies to develop and solicit from prequalified lists of vendors, under prescribed circumstance. When it is decided by an agency to develop a prequalified list, criteria for prequalification must be clearly explained in the solicitation and notice of the opportunity to prequalify for that solicitation must be published in at least five issues of the CR.

Information and qualification questionnaires for inclusion on such list may be obtained directly from the Agency Chief Contracting Officer at each agency, (see Vendor Information Manual). A completed qualification Questioner may be submitted to the Chief Contracting Officer at any time, unless otherwise indicated and action (approval or denial) shall be taken by the agency within 90 days from the date of submission. Any denial or revocation of prequalified status can be appealed to the Office of Administrative Trials and Hearing (OATH) Section 3-11 of the Procurement Policy Board Rules describes the criteria for the general use of prequalified lists.

HOW TO READ CR PROCUREMENT NOTICES

Procurement Notices in the CR are arranged by alphabetically listed Agencies, and within Agency, by Division if any. The notices for each Agency (or Division) are further divided into three subsections: Solicitations: Awards; and Lists & Miscellaneous notices. Each of these subsections separately lists notices pertaining to Goods, to Services, or to Construction. Notices of Public Hearings on Contract Awards appear at the end of the Procurement Section. At the end of each Agency (or Division) listing is a paragraph giving the specific address to contact to secure, examine and/or to submit bid or proposal documents, forms, plans, specifications, and other information, as well as where bids will be publicly opened and read. This address should be used for the purpose specified UNLESS a different one is given in the individual notice. In that event, the directions in the individual notice should be followed. A job order contract is an indefinite quantity contract pursuant to which the contractor will perform a series of projects at various wastewater treatment plants and facilities within Regional Group 1 in New York City. The bid documents include a book of construction tasks with preset unit prices and related specifications. The contractors will competitively bid two adjustment factors to be applied to the unit prices. The first adjustment factor is for performing work during Normal Working Hours and a second adjustment factor is for performing work during Other Than Normal Working Hours. The cost for each individual project is determined by multiplying the preset unit prices and the appropriate quantities by one of the competitively bid adjustment factors.

Interested bidders must attend two mandatory pre-bid conferences. The first mandatory pre-bid conference will be held June 20, 2000, at 10:00 am at the Fire Department Training Academy Auditorium on Randall's Island, for the purpose of discussing the specifics of the contract, how the contract will be administered, and the type of projects that will be performed. The second mandatory pre-bid conference will be held June 23, 2000, at 10:00 am at the Fire Department Training Academy Auditorium on Randall's Island, for the purpose of discussing the book of construction tasks, unit prices, and the calculation of the adjustment factor. Attendance at both pre-bid conferences is mandatory. Failure to attend both pre-bid conferences may result in a determination of non-responsiveness.

Bid documents will be available from the Contract Management Unit, 59-17 Junction Blvd., 17th Floor, Corona, NY 11368 after the first mandatory pre-bid conference. For questions concerning this procurement, contact Carol Fenves at (718) 595-3225.

DEVELOPMENT TRANSITIONAL RESIDENCES FOR HOMELESS ADULTS AND FAMILIES AND DROP IN CENTERS FOR ADULTS – CSP – PIN# 071-00S003262 – The Department of Homeless Services is soliciting proposals from organizations interested in developing and operating transitional residences for homeless adults and families and drop-in centers for adults. This is an open-ended solicitation; there is no due date for submission. Proposals will be reviewed by the Department as they are received and contracts will be awarded on an on-going basis, until the agency's capacity needs are met. DHS reserves the right to award a contract on the basis of initial offers received without discussion. Contracts will be awarded to responsible applicants whose negotiated offers are determined to be the most advantageous to the City, taking into consideration the price and other such factors and criteria set-fourth in the RFP. Contract award will be subject to the timely completion of contract negotiations between the agency and the selected proposer.

It is anticipated that the transitional residence contracts will range from 5 to 30 years and the drop-in centers will be for three years with one three year option to renew.

Pursuant to Section 312(c)(1)(ii) of the New York City Charter, the Competitive Sealed Bid procurement method is not the most advantageous method because judgement is required in evaluating competing proposals, and it is in the best interest of the city to require a balancing of price, quality and other factors.

Thus, pursuant to Section 3-03(c) of the Procurement Policy Board Rules, the open ended RFP will be used because the Department will select qualified providers to develop and operate transitional residences in order to address the need to create additional shelter capacity citywide. In addition, this open-ended method will provide interested applicants an opportunity to propose sites for the targeted population, as they become available for shelter development.

All proposers must meet the following minimum qualifications 1) must have a tax exempt status under 501 (c) (3) of the Internal Revenue Code and or be legally incorporated and 2) must demonstrate that they have, or can obtain by the contract start date, site control of the proposed facility location.

Any organization that believes it can provide these services may contact: Calvin Pitter, Deputy Agency Chief Contracting Officer at the Department of Homeless Services at (212) 361-8000, 33 Beaver Street 13th Flr., New York, NY 10004, to request a copy of the application, which is available for pick-up only Monday through Friday on business days between the hours of 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

BINDING REPORT

ADDRESS: 200 EASTERN PARKWAY, The Brooklyn Museum, INDIVIDUAL LANDMARK	BOROUGH: BROOKLYN	BLOCK/LOT: 1183 / 26

To the Mayor, the Council, and the Commissioner of the Department of Design and Construction.

This report is issued pursuant to Sections 3020 and 854 (h) of the New York City Charter and Section 25-318 of the Administrative Code of the City of New York, which require a report from the Landmarks Preservation Commission for certain plans for the construction, reconstruction, alteration, or demolition of any improvement or proposed improvement which is owned by the City or is to be constructed upon property owned by the City and is or is to be located on a landmark site or in a historic district or which contains an interior landmark.

The Landmarks Preservation Commission has reviewed a proposal for exterior alterations at the subject premises, including the in-kind replacement of a collapsed plaster soffit, the stabilization of adjacent, similar soffits, and the repair or in-kind replacement of light fixtures at the soffit, all on the south or rear-facing side of Wing "H," the southeast wing of the building; as shown and described in correspondence dated May 10, 2000, specifications dated January 25, 2000, and drawings A001, A201, A301, A302, A303, dated revised 3/7/00, and E-101, dated 2/7/00, all prepared by Polshek Partnership Architects.

In reviewing this proposal, the Commission notes that the Brooklyn Museum of Art designation report states that the building is a monumental cultural institution consisting of an Eclectic Roman-style building designed by McKim Mead & White and constructed in 1894-1924 and altered in 1936, and modified again by a modern addition to the south, (Section H), designed by Prentice & Chan, Olhausen and constructed in 1978.

With regard to this proposal, the Commission finds that the proposed repairs are restorative in nature, and will return the damaged soffit to its original condition. Based on these findings, the Commission determines the work to be appropriate to the Brooklyn Museum Individual Landmark. The work, therefore, is approved.

Please send a copy of the final drawings, and one or more 8- by 10-inch black and white photographs of the completed work, to the archives of the Art Commission of the City of New York, City Hall, 3rd Floor, New York, NY 10007, Attn: Deborah Bershad.

This report is issued on the basis of the building and site conditions described in the application and disclosed during the review process. By accepting this report, the applicant agrees to notify the Commission if actual building or site conditions vary or if original or historic building fabric is discovered. The Commission reserves the right to amend or revoke this report, upon written notice to the applicant, in the event that the actual building or site conditions are materially different from those described in the application or disclosed during the review process.

All approved drawings are marked approved by the Commission with a perforated seal indicating the date of approval. The work is limited to what is contained in the perforated documents. Other work or amendments to this filing must be reviewed and approved separately. This letter constitutes the permit; a copy must be prominently displayed at the site while work is in progress. Please direct inquiries to Ann Friedman.

INVOCATION

Men and Women of the City Council,

In four days we commemorate the birthday of Abraham Lincoln, beginning that time of year when we remember our great leaders. Lincoln was distinguished by his ability to ask from society to see beyond what was accepted as moral and change to a higher standard. This is one of the hardest tasks of good government.

I extend my blessing to this meeting of the City Council that it will have the same strength and inspiration behind its actions on behalf of this great city. And through these efforts bring us all to a higher moral plain. Amen.

Council Member Freed moved to spread the Invocation in full upon the Record.

Adoption of Minutes

Council Member Berman moved that the Minutes of the Charter Meeting of Wednesday, January 5, 2000, be adopted as printed.

REPORTS OF THE STANDING COMMITTEES

Report of the Committee on Environmental Protection

At this point the Speaker (Council Member Vallone) announced that the following item had been preconsidered by the Committee on Environmental Protection and had been favorably reported for adoption.

Res. No. 1174

Report of the Committee on Environmental Protection in favor of approving a resolution calling upon Governor George E. Pataki to help safeguard the quality of the New York City water supply by directing the New York State Department of Transportation to abandon its plans for the expansion of Routes 120 and 22 in the immediate vicinity of the Kensico Reservoir and to advance necessary traffic and safety improvements for Interchanges 2 and 3 on Interstate Highway 684 in a way that minimizes disruption to and assures the protection of the Kensico Reservoir watershed.

The Committee on Environmental Protection to which it was referred on February 8, 2000, the annexed resolution respectfully

REPORTS:

On January 14, 2000 the Committee on Environmental Protection conducted an oversight hearing on the status of the New York State Department of Transportation's (NYSDOT) highway expansion projects to New York State Routes 22 and 120 and Interchanges 2 and 3 on Interstate Highway 684 in the immediate vicinity of the Kensico Reservoir.

The purpose of the hearing was to examine the proposed highway projects within the environs of the Kensico Reservoir and to learn how these projects would affect New York City's water supply. The Kensico Reservoir, located three miles north of White Plains in the Westchester town of North Castle, is a critical part of the New York City water supply since water from the Catskill and Delaware system reservoirs — 90% of New York City's water supply — is delivered to the Kensico Reservoir before moving on to consumers in the City and lower Westchester County. The area surrounding this watershed has experienced accelerated commercial and residential growth in recent years.

The Committee heard testimony from among others, the NYSDOT's Region 8 Director Robert Dennison III who is responsible for the proposed projects. The NYSDOT presented their Transportation Project Design Report/ Supplemental Draft Environmental Impact Statement (SDEIS) and gave a detailed overview of the proposed project along with the various expansion alternatives that are being considered which also includes a "no build" alternative. The Committee also heard testimony from Jeffrey Gratz, Leader of the United States Environmental Protection Agency (USEPA) Region 2's New York Watershed Team, the agency which monitors New York City's compliance with the terms of the 1997 Watershed Memorandum of Agreement (hereinafter "MOA" or "Watershed Agreement") and the Filtration Avoidance Determination (FAD), the New York City Department of Environmental Protection (DEP), the managers and regulators of the City's water supply, representatives of business interests and from elected officials, environmental advocates and individuals who live and work near and around the proposed projects on how this project will effect New York City's water and the efforts in protecting the water supply.

The NYSDOT is currently considering reconstruction projects for New York State Routes 120 and 22 and Interchanges 2 and 3 on Interstate Highway 684 near the Kensico Reservoir. Among the alternatives proposed for this project are turning the Route 22/120 overlap immediately adjacent to the Kensico Reservoir into an 85-footwide expressway, with a new six-lane bridge over the reservoir itself; expanding a significant stretch of Route 120 north of Westchester County Airport, significantly widening much of the existing road just uphill from the reservoir; and enlarging Interchange 2 on Interstate 684 (Westchester County Airport exit) and relocating nearby sections of Route 120, as well as altering Interchange 3 (Armonk exit) and widening adjacent Route 22.

According to the NYSDOT's SDEIS these proposed expansion projects would result in a variety of adverse impacts for the Kensico watershed, including the destruction of almost four acres of natural wetlands; the creation of approximately ten acres of new paved surfaces; the temporary or permanent removal and disturbance of between sixty-two and sixty-six acres of upland vegetation; and the taking of an undetermined number of acres of New York City-owned watershed buffer lands. Also according to the NYSDOT's SDEIS, the proposed Kensico highway expansion projects would also generate additional pollutants in the Kensico watershed with the new road surfaces flushing up to 82.5% more of eight major pollutants during future rainstorms, as opposed to the level of pollution runoff from the existing roadways.

The USEPA testified that they are concerned about the impacts that this project may have on the Kensico Reservoir, and ultimately on the EPA's FAD for the Catskill and Delaware watersheds. On May 6, 1997, EPA extended the City's FAD for the Catskill and Delaware system for five years. At the hearing, however, they testified that "long-term avoidance, however, is by no means assured."

The Resolution reiterates the fear that this plan could possibly threaten the quality of the City's water and must be examined in close detail. This Resolution calls on Governor Pataki to terminate this proposed project. The Governor is developing a reputation as a leader in protecting the New York environment but his reputation is at jeopardy if the Kensico Reservoir highway projects move forward.

Before any work can begin on a plan to construct wider roads and new bridges around the Kensico Reservoir, State and Federal officials must first consider and account for the extreme environmental impact of that work. The State has been listening to the communities that potentially could be harmed by its current proposal. However, both State and Federal officials must also consider the potential that the plan's designs has for destroying wetland and plant life and for setting a precedent for justifying future construction projects around critical environmental areas both within and surrounding the Watershed.

Under the Watershed Agreement, DEP and the State have committed to protecting the watershed and thus the New York City water supply. DEP and the State, along with all other involved parties, must establish the most vigorous procedures for upholding the commitment set forth in the watershed agreement. The future of New York City's water supply depends on it. In 1997, pursuant to the signing of the MOA, Governor Pataki issued an Executive Order that required State agencies under his control to comply with the substantive provisions of the watershed regulations as if they were legally binding upon the agency. Were it not for this Executive Order, the NYSDOT could arguably do whatever they deem prudent and necessary to carry out their responsibilities without seeking any input from DEP. This Executive Order allows DEP to influence and monitor the NYSDOT's plans and proposals and promote amendments as necessary in order to ensure that the project does not represent any threat to the City's water quality. DEP Commissioner Joel Miele testified at the Committee's hearing that they (DEP) "have been meeting regularly with officials from State DOT to ensure that any proposed design provides full protection for the City's water supply." However, as noted at the Committee's hearing, the decision still remains with the NYSDOT.

These proposed highway expansion projects and the effects such a project may have on the Kensico Reservoir and the New York City's water supply is an important issue to the Council. For many years, the Council has been a leader in the effort to preserve one of the most pristine public water supplies anywhere. We must all work together in order to protect the Kensico Reservoir, the vital link in our water supply since it serves as the terminal reservoir for the active Catskill and Delaware systems, so that we are not forced to construct a filtration plant. By not allowing this project, we can safeguard the unfiltered drinking water supply of nearly nine million New York City and Westchester County residents.

Accordingly, Your Committee recommends its adoption.

Reports of the Committee on Finance

L.U. No. 522

Report of the Committee on Finance in favor of approving an application No. 20005023 HAM, an Urban Development Action Area Project, located at 525 West 151 Street, Council District No. 7, Borough of Manhattan. This matter is subject to Council review and action pursuant to Article 16 of the New York General Municipal Law, at the request of the New York City Department of Housing Preservation and Development and pursuant to Section 577 of the Private Housing Finance Law for a partial tax exemption.

The Committee on Finance to which it was referred on September 9, 1999 (Minutes, page 2208) the annexed Land Use resolution respectfully

REPORTS:

Pursuant to Section 577 of the Private Housing Finance Law and Section 422 of the Real Property Tax Law the Department of Housing Preservation and Development (HPD) requests partial property tax exemptions for properties that will provide housing for City residents as specified in the attached project summaries. These properties are developed under programs initiated by HPD and the United States Department of Housing and Urban Development. These projects, organized and operated by private not-for-profit Housing Development Fund Corporations (HDFC's) formed under Article XI may be granted exemptions from real property taxes by the local legislative body for a period of up to forty (40) years.

Approval of the exemptions will result in partial tax payment on every property.

The City Council Land Use Committee has approved the disposition of the city-owned property at 525 West 151 Street as Urban Development Action Area Projects.

HPD initiated TIL to encourage private ownership and management of low income housing properties and to divest the City of its in-rem stock. The City rehabilitates occupied in-rem buildings and sells them for a nominal fee of $250 per dwelling unit to Housing Development Fund Companies (HDFC) organized pursuant to Article XI of State Private Housing Finance Law (PHFL). In TIL, they are managed by tenant HDFC's as low income housing cooperatives. Tenants are subject to income restrictions pursuant to Section 576 of the PHFL. Monthly rent for such apartments is typically $80-$90 per zoning room but does not exceed 30% of a tenant's annual income.

An exemption from property taxes will be allowed for that portion of the assessed value of the property which exceeds the ceiling amount determined by HPD. The ceiling is increased annually by an amount not to exceed 6%, and cannot increase by more than 20% over 5 years. Full taxes are paid up to the ceiling amount and a total exemption is allowed on that portion of the assessed value which exceeds this amount. This ceiling level was calculated so property tax payments would be approximately 10% of a buildings' entire budget. This level would reflect other property tax exemptions made available through Federal Section 202 and Mitchell-Lama programs.

The assessed value base amount for ceiling calculations was established at $3,500 per residential unit in 1989-90. The Fiscal 2000 maximum ceiling amount has increased to $5,040, which represents property tax payments of approximately $542 for each dwelling unit.

Exemptions under this program are effective until July 1, 2030 and resale restrictions are placed on all properties pursuant to Board of Estimate Resolution 78 of 1980 as amended by Resolution 56 of 1982.

HUD SECTION 811 SUPPORTIVE HOUSING FOR PERSONS WITH DISABILITIES

Under the Section 811 program, not-for-profit sponsors selected by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) purchase land from the City or from private owners and construct residential buildings (or rehabilitate existing vacant buildings) on such land. HUD provides acquisition, construction, and permanent financing through a capital advance and the City provides tax exemption pursuant to Section 422 of the Real Property Tax Law. The completed buildings provide rental housing for low income persons with disabilities and receive operating subsidies from HUD through a project rental assistance contract.

Pursuant to Section 422 of the Real Property Tax Law, no taxes are paid on the land after conveyance during the term of construction (about 18 months) until the issuance of a temporary or permanent Certificate of Occupancy at which time the exemption and partial payment in lieu of taxes takes effect.

Upon issuance of the temporary or permanent Certificate of Occupancy, an exemption from property taxes will be granted for all of the value of the property in the project (except assessments for local improvements) for the period of the HUD mortgage, but no more than 40 years.

A payment in lieu of taxes of will be made to the City annually. This amount represents 10% of annual shelter rents for the project, arrived at a by a formula established by HPD and HUD. In addition, an amount equal to 25% of any annual increases in actual rents will be added, provided that such partial annual payment never exceeds 17% of contract rents or the amount that would otherwise be paid in the absence of any exemption.

Accordingly, Your Committee recommends its adoption.

In connection herewith, Council Members Berman, Eisland and Linares offered the following resolution:

Res. No. 1184

Resolution approving an Urban Development Action Area Project located at 525 West 151 Street (Block 2083/Lot 17), Manhattan, and waiving the urban development action area designation requirement and the Uniform Land Use Review Procedure, pursuant to Sections 693 and 694 of the General Municipal Law (L.U. No. 522; 20005023 HAM).

By Council Members Berman, Eisland and Linares

Whereas, the New York City Department of Housing Preservation and Development ("HPD") submitted to the Council its request dated August 2, 1999 that the Council take the following actions regarding the following Urban Development Action Area Project

(the "Project") located at 525 West 151 Street (Block 2083/Lot 17), Borough of Manhattan (the "Disposition Area"):

1 Find that the present status of the Disposition Area tends to impair or arrest the sound growth and development of the municipality and that the proposed Urban Development Action Area Project is consistent with the policy and purposes stated in Section 691 of the General Municipal Law;

2. Waive the area designation requirement of Section 693 of the General Municipal Law pursuant to said Section;

3. Waive the requirements of Sections 197-c and 197-d of the New York City Charter pursuant to Section 694 of the General Municipal Law;

4. Approve the Project as an Urban Development Action Area Project pursuant to Section 694 of the General Municipal Law; and

5. Approve a partial exemption of the Project from real property taxes pursuant to Section 577 of Article XI of the Private Housing Finance Law (the "Tax Exemption");

Whereas, the Project is to be developed on land that is now a municipally-owned area as defined in Section 692 of the General Municipal Law, consists solely of the rehabilitation or conservation of existing private or multiple dwellings or the construction of one- to four-unit dwellings, and does not require any change in land use permitted under the New York City Zoning Resolution;

Whereas, the project description that HPD provided to the Council states that the purchaser in connection with the Sale (the "Sponsor") is a duly organized housing development fund company under Article XI of the Private Housing Finance Law;

Whereas, upon due notice, the Council held a public hearing on the Project on January 27, 2000;

Whereas, the Council has considered the land use and financial implications and other policy issues relating to the Project;

Resolved:

The Council finds that the present status of the Disposition Area tends to impair or arrest the sound growth and development of the City of New York and that a designation of the Project as an urban development action area project is consistent with the policy and purposes stated in Section 691 of the General Municipal Law.

The Council waives the area designation requirement of the Disposition Area as an urban development action area under Section 693 of the General Municipal Law pursuant to said Section.

The Council waives the requirements of Sections 197-c and 197-d of the New York City Charter pursuant to Section 694 of the General Municipal Law.

The Council approves the Project as an Urban Development Action Area Project pursuant to Section 694 of the General Municipal Law.

The Project shall be disposed of and developed upon the terms and conditions set forth in the Project Summary that HPD has submitted to the Council, a copy of which is attached hereto.

The Council approves the partial Tax Exemption as follows:

The partial tax exemption provided hereunder shall commence upon the date of conveyance of the housing project to Sponsor ("Effective Date") and shall terminate upon July 1, 2029 ("Expiration Date"); provided, however, that such partial tax exemption shall terminate if the Department of Housing Preservation and Development determines that Sponsor is not organized as a housing development fund company or that Sponsor is not operating the housing project in accordance with the requirements of Article XI of the Private Housing Finance Law.

Those portions of the property included in the housing project which are devoted to business or commercial use (collectively, "Commercial Property"), if any, shall not be eligible for real property tax exemption hereunder. The Commercial Property shall be subject to full real property taxation; provided, however, that nothing herein shall prohibit Sponsor from utilizing any abatement, exemption, or other tax benefit for which the Commercial Property would otherwise be eligible.

All of the value of the property, other than the Commercial Property, included in the housing project (collectively, "Residential Property") shall be exempt from real property taxes, other than assessments for local improvements; provided, however, that Sponsor shall make a partial annual real estate tax payment on the Residential Property. Sponsor shall make such partial annual real estate tax payment on an assessed valuation equal to the lesser of (i) an amount equal to the full assessed valuation of the Residential Property, or (ii) an amount calculated by multiplying $3500 times the number of residential units included in the housing project and increasing such product by six percent (6%) on July 1, 1990 and on July 1 of each successive year, but not by more than twenty percent (20%) in any five-year period.

The Committee on Finance to which it was referred on February 8, 2000, the annexed Land Use resolution respectfully

REPORTS:

(For text of report, see L.U. No. 522 printed in these Minutes.)

Accordingly, Your Committee recommends its adoption.

In connection herewith, Council Member Berman offered the following resolution:

Res. No. 1185

Resolution approving a partial exemption from real property taxes for a property located at 804 East 21st Street (Block 5241, Lot 68), pursuant to Section 422 of the Real Property Tax Law (Preconsidered L.U. No. 657).

By Council Member Berman:

Whereas, the New York City Department of Housing Preservation and Development ("HPD") submitted to the Council its request dated January 26, 2000 that the Council take the following action regarding a housing project to be located at 804 East 21st Street, Block 5241, Lot 68, Borough of Brooklyn (the "Project"):

Approve a partial exemption of the Project from real property taxes pursuant to Section 422 of the Real Property Tax Law (the "Tax Exemption");

Whereas, the Council held a hearing on the Project on February 8, 2000;

Whereas, the Council has considered the financial implications relating to the Project;

Resolved:

The Project shall be developed upon the terms and conditions set forth in the letter dated January 26, 2000 that HPD has submitted to the Council, a copy of which is attached hereto.

The Council hereby grants an exemption from real property taxes, pursuant to Section 422 of the Real Property Tax Law, as follows:

An exemption is granted from real property taxes, other than assessments for local improvements, of all of the value of the property in the housing project, including both the land and improvements, from the date of the conveyance of the land to the Sponsor until the date of issuance of the temporary or permanent Certificate of Occupancy for the housing project;

An exemption is granted from real property taxes, other than assessments for local improvements, of all of the value of the property in the Project, including both the land and improvements (excluding those portions, if any, devoted to business or commercial use), commencing upon the date of issuance of the temporary or permanent Certificate of Occupancy for the housing project (or, if the housing project is constructed in stages, upon the date of issuance of the temporary or permanent Certificate of Occupancy for each such stage) ("Effective Date"), and terminating upon the earlier to occur of (i) the date the HUD mortgage is satisfied, or (ii) a date which is forty (40) years from the Effective Date ("Expiration Date"); provided, however, that the Sponsor shall make an annual real estate tax payment commencing upon the Effective Date and terminating upon the Expiration Date;

Commencing upon the Effective Date and during each year thereafter until the Expiration Date, the Sponsor shall make real estate tax payments in the sum of (i) $2,997, which is ten percent (10%) of the annual shelter rent for the housing project, as determined by HPD in accordance with the formula agreed upon with HUD, plus (ii) an additional amount equal to twenty-five percent (25%) of the amount by which the total contract rents applicable to the housing project for that year (as adjusted and established pursuant to Section 8 of the United States Housing Act of 1937, as amended) exceed the total contract rents which are authorized as of the Effective Date. Notwithstanding the foregoing, the total annual real estate tax payment by the Sponsor shall not at any time exceed the lesser of either (i) seventeen percent (17%) of the contract rents, or (ii) the amount of real estate taxes that would otherwise be due in the absence of any form of tax exemption or abatement provided by any existing or future local, state, or federal law, rule or regulation; and

That, in consideration of such tax exemption, the Sponsor, for so long as the partial tax exemption provided hereunder shall remain in effect, shall waive the benefits, if any, of additional or concurrent real property tax abatement and/or tax exemption which may be authorized under any existing or future local, state, or federal law, rule or regulation.

Report of the Committee on Fire and Criminal Justice Services

Res. No. 1034

Report of the Committee on Fire and Criminal Justice Services in favor of approving a resolution calling upon the New York State Legislature to amend the Criminal Procedure Law to allow the expungement of criminal records in certain situations.

The Committee on Fire and Criminal Justice Services to which it was referred on October 27, 1999 (Minutes, page 2535) the annexed resolution respectfully

REPORTS:

When a criminal case is terminated in favor of the accused, the Criminal Procedure Law (C.P.L.) provides for the automatic sealing of the records related to the case. C.P.L. § 160.50(1). The circumstances triggering automatic sealing are outlined in C.P.L. § 160.50(3) and include: dismissal on appeal, the granting of a motion to dismiss, an adjournment in contemplation of dismissal, a verdict of complete dismissal, a trial order of dismissal of the entire accusatory instrument, an order setting aside the verdict, an order vacating judgment and a dismissal of all charges by the Grand Jury. C.P.L. § 160.50(3). The statute also provides for automatic sealing of records when the prosecutor, prior to filing an accusatory instrument, elects not to prosecute an individual. C.P.L. § 160.50(3)(i). In addition, C.P.L. § 160.50(3)(j) requires record sealing when, prior to the filing of an accusatory instrument, the arresting police agency elects not to proceed, even though a copy of fingerprints have already been sent to the Division of Criminal Justice Services. Under the statute, automatic sealing is triggered, unless the District Attorney demonstrates to the court that the interests of justice require that the records remain unsealed or the court reaches such a determination on its own motion. C.P.L. § 160.50(1).

Upon sealing of the record, the clerk of the court is required to notify the Commissioner of the Division of Criminal Justice Services, as well as the appropriate law enforcement agencies. Once notification is received, all photos and prints are returned to the accused and all relevant official records and papers, including judgments and orders of the court but not including published court decisions or opinions or records and briefs on appeal, are sealed. C.P.L. § 160.50(1).

After a criminal record is sealed, it may still be obtained by prosecutors upon application to the court. Furthermore, gun licensing agencies, the Division of Parole and prospective law enforcement or peace officer employers may obtain such records without any formal application. The fact that the law does not require the destruction of such records and permits limited access is the impetus behind Resolution 1034.

The present resolution calls upon the New York State legislature to amend the C.P.L. to allow the expungement of criminal records in certain situations.

As mentioned above, when a criminal case is terminated in favor of an accused or an arrest is voided, in most instances, the record is automatically sealed but not destroyed. The fact that such sealed records may be obtained by prospective law enforcement employers, such as the New York City Police Department, impedes many individuals from obtaining employment with a law enforcement agency, even though the individual does not have a criminal record.

A recent publicized incident illustrates the problem which can arise as a result of sealing but not destroying or expunging such records. In October, 1999, Army Lieut. Manuel Gomez, of the Bronx, was accused of lying on his employment application and forced to resign two months into his training at the police academy. Mr. Gomez indicated on his application that he had never been arrested, however, police officials cited two different "arrests", which they believed Mr. Gomez had failed to report on his application.

The first incident occurred in 1995, when he was stopped in a midtown Manhattan subway station by police officers station who believed that he fit the description of a suspect. Mr. Gomez voluntarily accompanied the officers to the station house where the police realized that he was not the suspect and subsequently released him. However, an officer had already mistakenly entered a misdemeanor charge against him into a police database. When the error was discovered, the arrest was voided. See Jayson Blair, "Ousted by Mistake: Ideal Police Department Applicant", N.Y. Times, October 17, 1999, Metro.

The second incident involved a summons Mr. Gomez received for driving with a suspended driver's license. Mr. Gomez subsequently went to the station house. produced a valid driver's license and the summons was torn up. Mr. Gomez was told not to worry about it.

While Mr. Gomez was training at the police academy, the Department uncovered the records concerning these two incidents and accused Mr. Gomez of falsifying his application. As a result of the two above mentioned incidents, Mr. Gomez was told to resign or be disqualified and face administrative charges.

Motivated by the circumstances surrounding Manuel Gomez, a group of four State legislators from The Bronx have proposed measures in Albany that would force law enforcement agencies to destroy records of voided arrests. They are planning to introduce legislation in the very near future. See Id.

On December 6, 1999, the Fire and Criminal Justice Services Committee of the New York City Council conducted a hearing considering Resolution 1034. The Committee received testimony from the following individuals:

Frank Vernuccio, Bronx Borough President's Office,

Joel Cohen and James Bernard, Stroock & Stroock & Lavan, Lieutenant Manuel Gomez,

Norman Siegel, New York Civil Liberties Union,

Anna Marton, Debbie Mukmaal and Roberta Meyers, Legal Action Center,

Lieutenant Paul Washington, Vulcan Society,

Hiram Monserate, Latino Officers Association,

William Acosta, Equalizer Foundation.

Accordingly, Your Committee recommends its adoption.

Report of the Committee on Health

Res. No. 1037-A

Report of the Committee on Health in favor of approving a resolution calling upon the appropriate Committee of the Council to hold an oversight hearing on the Police Department's procedures regarding the confiscation of life-sustaining prescription medication used to treat HIV-related illness, asthma or other disabling or life-threatening illnesses, from individuals arrested by the police.

The Committee on Health to which it was referred on October 27, 1999 (Minutes, page 2542) the annexed amended resolution respectfully

REPORTS:

The New York City Police Department (the "NYPD") is responsible for law enforcement in New York City, including the arrest, upon probable cause, of persons suspected of violating the law. Based on information gathered by Committee staff from individuals that have been arrested and from court documents, the NYPD holds pre-arraignment detainees in custody for extended periods of time. Pre-arraignment detention regularly extends overnight and often lasts in excess of 24 hours. During this extended period, pre-arraignment detainees are held in police precincts, police vans, central booking, court holding pens, courtrooms and other locations in the City.

Resolution No. 1037-A was introduced in response to a civil rights lawsuit, filed in October of 1999, on behalf of four men who were arrested on October 19, 1998 at a Manhattan rally for a slain gay college student. The lawsuit, Almos v. New York City, U.S. District Court, Southern District, alleges that the men were denied or delayed access to their medication by the NYPD and Department of Corrections officers, even though the men repeatedly told the officers that the medications were vital. These men, three of whom are infected with the Human Immunodeficiency Virus ("HIV") and one who is asthmatic, needed to take their critical life-sustaining, time-sensitive prescription medication. The lawsuit also names the Mayor of the City of New York, the Health Department and the Health and Hospitals Corporation, as defendants.

The lawsuit alleges, among other things, that one of the plaintiffs, who is, HIV positive, was taking combination therapy to treat his disease at the time of his arrest. The plaintiff told his arresting officer of his HIV status and of his need to take his medication at prescribed times. The plaintiff was assured that he would be released from custody in time to take his medication. However, when it became apparent that he would not be released in time to take his medication, the plaintiff's companion attempted to deliver his medication to the police precinct where the plaintiff was being held.

According to the complaint, "[the plaintiff] was told that no medication could be dispensed on-site and that he would have to be taken to a hospital. [The plaintiff] requested to be taken to the hospital. Defendant Police Officers John and Jane Doe tried to dissuade [plaintiff] from going to the hospital, threatening that his period of confinement would be increased."

The complaint further states that "despite these attempts to dissuade him and because of his serious concern that missing his scheduled medication could cause him to develop resistance to his combination therapy, [plaintiff] insisted on being taken to the hospital. However, [plaintiff] was not taken to the hospital until approximately 2:45 a.m., almost 3 hours after he was supposed to take his medication. When [plaintiff] finally saw an HHC physician and informed the physician of his medication requirements, he was told by the physician that the emergency room did not have on hand the required medication." The plaintiff was offered other medications that were incompatible with his combination therapy.

Patients receiving HIV-inhibiting drugs must adhere to a strict time-based dose regimen or risk developing a drug-resistant strain of the HIV virus which, in its late stage, causes Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome ("AIDS"). The complaint in Almos v. New York City alleges that the combined policies of the named defendants have placed the plaintiffs, and others in similar situations, in grave danger. Individuals arrested who are taking medication for chronic asthma, diabetes, heart disease and epilepsy, are also at risk of grave injury because of the current policies.

Prior to the commencement of Almos v. New York City, and after the allegations in Almos were alleged to have occurred, the Legal Aid Society, through its Criminal Defense Division-Special Litigation Unit and the City of New York, through its Corporation Counsel, entered into a Stipulation of Settlement in Grubbs v. Safir, 92 Civ. 2132 (United States District Court) (the "Grubbs Settlement"). Under the terms of the Grubbs Settlement, which became effective on September 22, 1999 when judicial approval was granted, it was agreed that a number of improvements were to be made to the physical plant and building structures in areas in which pre-arraignment detainees were held. The settlement also addressed issues of "medical monitoring."

Grubbs Settlement: Pre-Arraignment Detainees Medical Care Issues

The Grubbs Settlement mandated the adoption of a number of significant practices regarding the medical care of pre-arraignment detainees. In particular, the Grubbs Settlement requires that "any pre-arraignment detainee who asks to be seen by a physician shall be transported to a hospital as soon as practicable, in accordance with the severity of the pre-arraignment detainee's medical condition".

In addition, the Grubbs Settlement institutes a procedure which seeks to preserve information regarding pre-arraignment detainees' medications. Specifically, at the time of arrest a pre-arraignment detainee will now have the contents of any pharmacy labeled container that lists the names of the prescription medication and pharmacy vouchered in accordance with NYPD procedures. Additionally, a Medical Treatment of Prisoner Form will be completed. Should a hospital physician treating the pre-arraignment detainee need information about the vouchered pharmacy container, the physician will be given the voucher number and advised as to how to contact the desk officer in the NYPD facility where the pharmacy container is located. The desk officer is authorized to provide the physician with the name of the medication. If the physician ascertains that this medication is not available at the hospital, he/she may request that the medication be delivered to the hospital and the desk officer shall arrange for the delivery of the vouchered pharmacy container.

If a pre-arraignment detainee needs to take medication during the pre-arraignment period, the accompanying police officer is to take custody of the medicine until the officer reaches the pre-arraignment court section. At that time, the medication is to be given to an Emergency Medical Technician ("EMT") who will hold the medication until the pre-arraignment detainee can self-administer it.

Under the Grubbs Settlement, if a relative or a member of a pre-arraignment detainee's household appears at the precinct where the detainee is being held and indicates that the detainee has a medical condition or needs medication, a "Medical Treatment of Prisoner Form" is to be completed. However, under the Grubbs Settlement no police officer is required to accept medication from relatives for the purpose of providing medication to the pre-arraignment detainee.

Under the provisions of the Grubbs Settlement, 90 days after the approval of the stipulation by the court, the above-mentioned mandated procedures are to be enacted by the NYPD through the promulgation of an interim order. Within 90 days of the issuance of this order, the NYPD is required to commence precinct/unit level training or its equivalent to superiors and officers affected by this new order. Additionally, the Legal Aid Society must be provided with the amended version of the Medical Treatment of Prisoner Form, copies of the relevant NYPD interim orders or directives, and the precinct/unit level training materials and the schedule for new training with respect to those materials.

This oversight hearing will examine the NYPD's new procedures regarding medical treatment of pre-arraignment detainees since the Grubbs Settlement and the implementation of these procedures. Expected to testify are Patrick Devlin, Chief of the Criminal Justice Bureau of the NYPD, individuals who were arrested and denied their medication, and other advocates.

Accordingly, Your Committee recommends its filing, as amended.

Resolution calling upon the appropriate Committee of the Council to hold an oversight hearing on the Police Department's procedures regarding the confiscation of life-sustaining prescription medication used to treat HIV-related illness, asthma or other disabling or life-threatening illnesses, from individuals arrested by the police.

Whereas, Upon the arrest of an individual Police Department policy requires officers to confiscate any medication in the possession of such individual; and

Whereas, Police Department policy also prohibits third parties from delivering prescription medication to an individual arrested unless such individual is transferred to a city hospital and the medication is dispensed by a physician; and

Whereas, Even if the arrested individual is taken to a city hospital, there is no assurance that the hospital pharmacy has the same crucial medication which has been prescribed to such individual; and

Whereas, In the case of individuals arrested who have AIDS and are taking HIV-inhibiting drugs, they must adhere to a strict time-based dose regimen of specific drugs, or risk developing a drug-resistant strain of the virus; and

Whereas, The individual arrested who develops a drug-resistant strain of the virus which causes AIDS may then infect others, thus causing a very serious public health risk; and

Whereas, The Police Department agreed to a Stipulation of Settlement in June of 1999, effective September 22, 1999, in the case of Grubbs v. Safir, 92 Civ. 2132 (U.S. District Court), to improve certain conditions affecting pre-arraignment detainees, including improved access to medical care and prescription medication; and

Whereas, Even though the Department agreed to such settlement, Police Department policy continues to be insensitive to the needs of individuals arrested who require their prescribed medications; now, therefore be it

Resolved, That the appropriate Committee of the Council of the City of New York hold an oversight hearing on the Police Department's procedures regarding the confiscation of life-sustaining prescription medication used to treat HIV-related illness, asthma or other disabling or life-threatening illnesses, from individuals arrested by the police.

Reports of the Committee on Land Use

At this point the Speaker (Council Member Vallone) announced that the following items had been preconsidered by the Committee on Land Use and had been favorably reported for adoption.

Int. No. 716

Report of the Committee on Land Use in favor of approving and adopting a local law to amend the New York city charter, in relation to authorizing the department of transportation to extend the date of the franchise for the operation and maintenance of bus stop shelters.

The Committee on Land Use to which it was referred on February 8, 2000, the annexed local law respectfully

REPORTS:

On September 22, 1994, the Council approved Resolution No. 324-a, an amended authorizing resolution which allowed DOT to grant new bus stop shelter franchises. The extant franchises expired in May, 1995.

At that time, based on an increased concern about the "clutter" of the street scape and the limited response to the RFP for the automatic pay toilets, the Administration planned to submit a authorizing Resolution for consolidated street furniture franchises. It was expected that such a franchise would provide for a more uniform approach to items on the sidewalks without adversely affecting revenue derived therefrom.

Due to the necessity of maintaining the integrity of the public service which was being provided by the bus stop shelters, as well as the revenue stream generated by the advertising on the shelters, on March 21, 1995, the Council adopted Resolution 506-A (Local Law 25 of 1995) which amended subdivision b of Section 378 of the New York City Charter to allow the Department of Transportation, subject to the approval of the Franchise and Concession Review Committee, to extend the expiration date of the existing bus stop shelter franchises to December 31, 1997.

On March 6, 1996, the Council approved Resolution no. 1548, an amended authorizing Resolution allowing the Department of Transportation to grant nonexclusive franchises for the installation, operation and maintenance of coordinated franchise structures.

However, no franchise was granted pursuant to this authorizing Resolution and the process was terminated in the summer of 1998.

The bus stop shelter franchises expired on December 31, 1997 and the need remained to ensure bus stop shelters continue to be operated and maintained and to protect the revenue stream generated by the advertising. This was to have been achieved pursuant to an interim contractual arrangement. Local Law 47 of 1998 allowed the Department of Transportation to extend the franchises to December 31, 1999, should the agency have elected to do so, which it did not. Local Law 74 of 1999 allowed the Department of Transportation to extend the franchises to December 31, 2000.

Through corporate acquisition, the resultant holder of the contracts for the bus stop shelters was Outdoor Systems, Inc. ("OSI"). OSI was subsequently acquired by Infinity Broadcasting Corporation ("Infinity"), which is 82% owned by CBS Corporation. Infinity also owned TDI Worldwide Inc. (TDI), the contract holder with the MTA for subway advertising. Pursuant to action taken by the Department of Justice, Infinity will be required to divest itself of either OSI or TDI as to maintain competition in the advertising marketplace in New York City.

Therefore, to continue to maintain the integrity of the public service provided by bus stop shelters and to protect the revenue stream by the advertising, the Department of Transportation is being given the authority to extend the franchises to December 31, 2002. At this time, a companion piece, a new authorizing resolution for the granting of franchises for the operation and maintenance of bus stop shelters, has been introduced.

Impact on Revenues: There will be no impact on revenues resulting from the enactment of this legislation. The city would continue to receive 22% of the advertising gross revenue, which is approximately $7.9 million annually.

Impact on Expenditures: There would be no impact on expenditures.

Accordingly, Your Committee recommends its adoption.

Reports of the Committee on Parks, Recreation, Cultural Affairs and International Intergroup Relations

Int. No. 558

Report of the Committee on Parks, Recreation, Cultural Affairs and International Intergroup Relations in favor of approving and adopting a local law in relation to a street name, Padre Pio Way, Borough of Brooklyn.

The Committee on Parks, Recreation, Cultural Affairs and International Intergroup Relations to which it was referred on May 26, 1999 (Minutes, page 1274), the annexed local law respectfully

REPORTS:

The following biographical information is derived from information provided by the Friends of Padre Pio, Inc.

Padre Pio was born Francis Forgione on May 25, 1887 to Orazio and Giuseppe Forgione in the farming village of Pietreicina, Italy. In 1903, Francis Forgione began his novitiate year and assumed the name of Padre Pio (Pius in English). Always sickly, he nevertheless completed his religious vows the following year. His father immigrated twice to America to earn sufficient funds to finance Padre Pio's education.

After his novitiate year, Padre Pio moved from friary to friary to pursue his studies of the priesthood. Poor health and his penitential life often made it impossible for him to keep pace with his classmates. One time he fasted for 21 days with Holy Communion as his sole nourishment. He suffered frequently from very high fevers and nausea. Often he had to be sent to his parents' home to recuperate at which time a local pastor tutored him privately. Finally, on August 10, 1910, at the age of 23, Padre Pio was ordained a priest of God in the Cathedral of Benevento. Shortly thereafter, the doctors diagnosed his condition as tuberculosis and anemia.

During one of his visits home to recuperate, in 1912, he received the "invisible stigmata." Christ's sacred wounds were invisibly imprinted on his hands, feet and side. Although the wounds were invisible, the pain was nonetheless real. This first occurrence lasted a short time. On September 20, 1915, however, they occurred again and were permanent.

It was also during this time that Padre Pio was forced to serve in the Italian Army during World War I, but was honorably discharged when his chronic high fevers and tubercular condition worsened. In 1916, his religious superiors sent him to the friary in San Giovanni Rotondo, where he resided until his death.

At the age of 31, on Friday, September 20, 1918, the third anniversary to the day when he received the "invisible stigmata," Padre Pio was offering his thanksgiving after Mass before a large crucifix in the friary chapel. Padre Pio cried out in pain and collapsed unconscious to the floor. A confrere found him bleeding profusely from five deep wounds in his hands, feet and side. The stigmata were now visible for all to see and they remained so until his death.

The subsequent life and work of Padre Pio is summarized in the following excerpts from a publication provided by the Friends of Padre Pio, Inc.

"Naturally, he was subjected to endless and often very painful medical examinations, either by doctors appointed by his provincial or general superiors or by those sent by the Holy See. He did not like these painful handlings of his five wounds, but humbly submitted under obedience to his superiors. Many doctors, both Catholic and non-Catholic, tried all kinds of healing treatments, but without any success. The wounds remained completely free from healing or any infection. Amazingly though, two other wounds from minor operations healed naturally in the normal amount of time.

"He lost about a cupful of blood every day from these wounds. The wound in his side was covered at all times with linen cloths to prevent the endless staining of his habit. He wore brown gloves on his hands except when celebrating Mass, and special socks on his feet.

"No one really understood how much Padre Pio suffered from these wounds. His rather halting gait with feet swollen and constantly oozing blood or his deliberate deep genuflections at Holy Mass gave evidence enough of his constant awareness of his pierced feet. When asked if the stigmata were painful, he laughingly replied: "Do you think that the Lord gave them to me for a decoration?"

"Such miraculous news naturally spread like lightning through San Giovanni Rotondo, through Italy, the European continent and finally the whole world.

"Padre Pio exerted an extraordinary influence on many souls. People had only to see him to be moved to approach him and lay bare their consciences. He counseled all who came to him, and they came in droves. He heard confession practically all of his waking hours. All classes of people were welcomed, rich and poor, notable and unknown. They sought his help for their physical or spiritual problems, confident that they would receive enlightened advice, and positive guidance and help. Many received more. They were converted Masons, atheists, fallen away Catholics, unbelievers, even non-Catholics often returned to a state of grace after years of sinful living.

"His wounds never became infected and very often gave off sweet aroma similar to an attractive perfume. This was another of his great gifts. Many people, who came near his stigmatized hands or his habit or any objects touched by him, noticed the sweet perfume. Sometimes this perfume also happened at great distances, such as in Africa, America and Asia. The odor reminded one of roses, violets or lilies; at times it occurred to give some advice or warning to proceed with or to desist from some action, to pray and to hope.

"Another gift was his ability to look into the future. Thus he would promise a cure of a desperately pronounced illness or the necessary help in some emergency. He was able to foretell the sex of an unborn child, a vocation to the priesthood, a conversion to take place, or even a death. During the war many parents were comforted when he told them their soldier son was still alive, although they had heard that he was missing in action. Some women were told that they needed no operation, which certain doctors had required, and that they could still bear children. To a woman eight years married he promised a child. And all these things came to pass just as he had foretold.

"Padre Pio once foretold that a Capuchin friary would be erected in his birthplace. A little more than thirty years after his stigmata this friary was dedicated. He had an impossible dream in 1940 during the war at a time when food and all kinds of equipment were scarce and rationed. He wanted to build a new hospital for San Giovanni Rotondo. He laid the plans and began building. In 1956 the Casa Sollievo della Sofferenza was the fulfillment of that dream. Such a hospital was needed in that area, so much so that one year later it was found to be too small and Padre Pio had to add more wings. Today it holds a thousand beds and large nurses' residence. It flourished and still flourishes through the prayers of Padre Pio and the charity of his many friends, especially from America, under the management of the Holy See. Many doctors from all parts of the world volunteer their services. A large congregation of Sisters staff the hospital.

"His death came as a surprise. It came soon after the celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of his stigmata. His death was blessed as his whole life had been blessed. In the middle of the night of September 23, 1968, Padre Pio had a feeling that that he was dying. His breathing became difficult. He called for Fr. Pellegrino, who had been assigned the responsibility of attending Padre Pio during the night. He wanted to go to confession and to renew his religious profession. As the friars gathered near him, he begged their pardon for any offenses and extended his blessing to these friars and also to all his spiritual children. Quietly and prayerfully he breathed his last at 2:30 A.M. on September 23, 1968. He died exhausted from a long life of suffering and from bronchial asthma.

"His funeral rites were a triumph. He was mourned all over the world. It is estimated that over 100,000 people from all parts of the globe participated in the final tribute to this saintly friar on the day of his funeral."

Int. No. 659

Report of the Committee on Parks, Recreation, Cultural Affairs and International Intergroup Relations in favor of approving and adopting a local law in relation to a street name, Juan Pablo Duarte Boulevard, Borough of Manhattan.

The Committee on Parks, Recreation, Cultural Affairs and International Intergroup Relations to which it was referred on November 23, 1999 (Minutes, page 2684), the annexed local law respectfully

REPORTS:

The following biographical material was provided by the Juan Pablo Duarte School (Public School 132) in Manhattan:

Juan Pablo Duarte, born in the city of Santo Domingo on January 26, 1813, is considered the "Founding Father of the Dominican Republic". He was the son of a Spanish merchant and, as a teenager he was sent to Spain to continue his studies. On this trip he was greatly influenced by Catalonia's "autonomous community" goals. When he returned to Santo Domingo in 1832, he found that young Dominicans were resentful of Haitian rule. The Haitian domination of eastern Hispaniola had begun in 1822. The political unification of Hispaniola brought liberation to the slaves, land reforms, and political rights for all the people living on the eastern part of the island. Haitian domination made the Dominican people recognize the importance of self-government and political participation. Haitian law recognized political participation but Dominicans were actually considered a minority with few rights.

It was in this atmosphere that Juan Pablo Duarte created a secret society, called "La Trinitaria", in 1838 so that the yearning for liberty and self-government could be further intensified. He developed a political underground movement that organized the youth of the most important cities of the eastern part of Hispaniola. To promote their goals they used flyers, "cantaletas" (serenades with songs that had political content), and presented dramas with political content through a cultural organization called "La Filantropica". This organization was open to all, promoted cultural activities and was controlled by "La Trinitaria". In 1843, La Trinitaria worked together with the "Reformista" movement from the western part of the island to overthrow Jean Pierre Boyer's regime. Though this did not end Haitian rule, the situation made it possible for the La Trinitaria movement to gain political strength and to work in the open during elections.

Charles Herard, the leader of the Reformista movement and successor to Boyer, understood and mistrusted the political goals of the Trinitaria. After he was elected president in 1843, Herard persecuted the "La Trinitaria" movement, Duarte was forced to escape to Curacao and his closest collaborators went into hiding. However, the movement toward independence continued to grow even with Duarte in exile. On February 27, 1844 the forces for independence issued a proclamation declaring the freedom of the Dominican Republic. Duarte returned and he immediately took charge of the army. This situation was short lived, however, for another political group that also promoted annexation took over the government and jailed Duarte. He was sent into exile within the year.

Duarte retired to an isolated village in Venezuela and remained away from his country for twenty years. In 1861 Spain took over the Dominican Republic and made it a colony. War broke out in 1863 against Spanish rule and Duarte returned the following year to fight again for Dominican independence. He was sent on a diplomatic mission by the provisional Dominican government to solicit funding for the war from neighboring countries. After independence was reestablished he returned to Venezuela. He died there in 1876, having devoted his entire life to the independence of the Dominican Republic. In recognition of his leadership in the independence movement of his country it is fitting that St. Nicholas Avenue, beginning at the intersection of St. Nicholas Avenue with Amsterdam Avenue and West 162nd Street and ending at the intersection with West 193rd Street and Fort George Hill, in the heart of one of New York City's largest Dominican communities, be called "Juan Pablo Duarte Boulevard".

This local law will take effect immediately.

Int. No. 670

Report of the Committee on Parks, Recreation, Cultural Affairs and International Intergroup Relations in favor of approving and adopting a local law in relation to a triangle name, Firefighter Christopher Bopp Memorial Triangle, Borough of Brooklyn.

The Committee on Parks, Recreation, Cultural Affairs and International Intergroup Relations to which it was referred on December 16, 1999 (Minutes, page 2931), the annexed local law respectfully

REPORTS:

The following biographical information is derived from information provided by the friends and family of the late Christopher Bopp.

Christopher Michael Bopp was born and raised in the Marine Park section of Brooklyn. He and his wife Carli, were married for three years when he was killed, at the age of 27, attempting to rescue a woman from a fire in the Vandalia Senior Housing. At the time of Firefighter Bopp's death, his wife was pregnant with their only child, Cori, who was born on July 26, 1999.

Firefighter Bopp began his career with the New York City Fire Department at Engine Company 170 where he worked a rotation for one year. He then worked for two years in Engine Companies 224 and 24 and later returned to Engine Company 170.

In December of 1998, upon arriving at the fire scene at the Vandalia Senior Housing, three firefighters, including Christopher Bopp, entered a blazing building in search of a senior citizen who had already left. A main wall collapsed and all three firefighters were killed. The exact cause of the fire was unclear but it is believed to have been caused by a resident's smoking. The sprinkler system had been turned off.

In addition to Cori and Carli Bopp, Christopher Bopp is survived by his parents, Dolores and Bernard Bopp, two brothers, John and Rosario Bopp, and two nephews, John and Jason.

Christopher Bopp was reportedly a regular visitor to the park located at the site to be named through this proposed local law.

Brooklyn Community Board No. 10 unanimously voted to support this triangle designation.

Reports of the Committee on Transportation

Int. No. 351-A

Report of the Committee on Transportation in favor of approving and adopting, as amended, a local law to amend the administrative code of the City of New York, in relation to allowing city employees to use pre-tax earnings to purchase qualified transportation benefits in accordance with federal law.

The Committee on Transportation to which it was referred on July 15, 1998 (Minutes, page 2723), the annexed amended local law respectfully

REPORTS:

Proposed Int. No. 351-A would amend the Administrative Code of the City of New York by adding a new section 12-139 to Chapter 1 of title 12 to allow New York City employees to use pre-tax earnings to purchase qualified transportation benefits, such as TransitChek, a federal transit subsidy program which was designed to encourage the use of mass transit and to reduce the number of automobile trips. The amount employees set aside for TransitChek would be excluded from an employee's gross income for income tax purposes, would be exempt from payroll taxes payable by the employer and would be tax deductible for the employer. Int. No. 351 was amended since its introduction to clarify that qualified transportation benefits would not include the use of a parking space for an automobile. A prior version of Proposed Int. No. 351-A would have required the City Comptroller and the Office of Payroll Administration to promulgate rules for the implementation and administration of the bill.

TransitCenter, which operates out of the World Trade Center, was established by legal compact in 1986 between the Metropolitan Transportation Authority, the Port Authority of New York and New Jersey and New Jersey Transit to service the tri-state area in the administration and implementation of the TransitChek program.

Proposed Int. No. 351-A would take effect ninety days after its enactment into law, provided however, that the office of payroll administration take such measures as are necessary for its implementation, including the promulgation of rules, if required, prior to such effective date.

Fiscal Impact Statement:

	Effective FY00	FY Succeeding Effective FY01	Full Fiscal Impact FY01
Revenues (+)	($2,699,804)	($5,399,608)	($5,399,608)
Expenditures (–)	$2,926,154	$6,034,481	$6,034,481
Net	$226,350*	$634,873*	$634,873*

Impact on Revenues: This estimated reduction in revenue reflects a 3.8 percent personal income tax loss on a set amount of earnings from participating City employees. (The set amount of earnings is currently capped at $65 according to Federal law — after December 31, 2001, the cap will increase to $100.)

Impact on Expenditures: This legislation would allow for expenditure savings. The City would realize annual FICA savings of approximately $4.5 million in Fiscal 2000 and approximately $9.1 million in Fiscal 2001. The estimated savings noted in the expenditure row reflects this FICA savings less payments to the TransitCenter for TransitChek services and other administrative costs. The TransitCenter generally levies a four percent surcharge for services. It is our understanding that the City recently negotiated a two percent surcharge.

The net savings as noted above assume a 100% participation rate.

Accordingly, Your Committee recommends its adoption, as amended.

A LOCAL LAW to amend the administrative code of the city of New York, in relation to allowing city employees to use pre-tax earnings to purchase qualified transportation benefits in accordance with Federal law.

Be it enacted by the Council as follows:

Section 1. Chapter 1 of title 12 of the administrative code of the city of New York is amended by adding a new section 12-139 to read as follows:

§ 12-139 Election of qualified transportation benefits in lieu of taxable dollar compensation. Report of the Committee on Women's Issues

Res. No. 1075

Report of the Committee on Women's Issues in favor of filing a resolution calling upon the appropriate committee of the Council of the City of New York to conduct an oversight hearing regarding the delay of wage payments to day care workers by the Administration for Children's Services.

The Committee on Women's Issues to which it was referred on November 23, 1999 (Minutes, page 2685), the annexed resolution respectfully

REPORTS:

On Monday, January 24, 2000, the Committee on Contracts and the Committee on Women's Issues will hold a hearing to examine why certain day care workers in New York

City were receiving delayed wage payments. Witnesses invited to testify include Claude Millman, Mayor's Office of Contracts; Nicholas Scoppetta, Administration for Children's Services; Josephine LeBeau, AFSCME, DC1707; Linda Bellick, Association Day Care; and some of the day care workers that have been effected by these delayed wage payments.

Over the past few years, some day care workers in New York City have endured delays in wage payments. These delays and disputes over wage payments have been the subject of union protests and press coverage. The actual nonpayment of wages has become an all too familiar ritual to some of the workers. These delays impede the ability of centers to pay their operating expenses, including payments to suppliers. When such situations occur, children suffer without supplies and without the needed security of quality care professionals.

Resolution No. 1075 calls upon the appropriate committee of the Council of the City of New York to conduct an oversight hearing regarding the delay of wage payments to day care workers by the Administration for Children's Services. Specifically, the Resolution states that the Administration for Children's Services has delayed the payment of wages to day care workers for up to one month at certain day care centers.

In addition to the delay in wage payments that some day care workers have experienced, a dispute regarding an unrealized wage increase for all day workers also currently exists.

Day care workers are represented in collective bargaining negotiations by Local 205 of District Council 1707 of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees. According to statements made by the union representatives, an agreement regarding a new contract was reached between the Administration and the Union sometime in December 1998, with membership ratifying the agreement on December 14, 1998. The new contract would have allowed for a wage increase to the workers for the first time in over three years.

According to Union officials, in February 1999, representatives from the Administration informed union representatives that the Administration would be unable to honor the agreement entered into in December 1998. Subsequently, another agreement was prepared and ratified by membership, but no increase in wages was evidenced in the paychecks of the workers. In response to inquiries made by Union representatives to the Administration, it was suggested that the delay was attributable to the contract registration process at the Comptrollers' office.

According to the Charter § 328(a), contracts must be registered with the Comptroller in order for payments to be made to contractors. In order for a contract to be properly registered, certain documentation must be submitted for each item requiring registration. These documents include: the original executed contract and the related contract budget, advice of award, the Vendex questionnaire, recommendation of award, a signed certificate by the Corporation Counsel, and a signed certificate by the Mayor. Upon receipt of all documents, the Comptroller has thirty days to either register a contract or refuse to register a contract. The Comptroller may refuse to register a contract based upon the fact that there are no funds available to pay the estimated expense of the contract or if the necessary certifications required by the Charter have not been made. If registration is denied, the Comptroller is required to notify the agency chief contracting officer, in writing, of that determination and return the contract to that individual.

Although it has been suggested that there was a delay in the registration process, according to the information provided by representatives from the Comptroller's office, the procedure for registering all contracts, including day care contracts, is nonproblematic on the part of the Comptroller's office. For example, the day care contract No. 0699902361 was filed on August 31, 1999 and then registered on September 9, 1999, in a timely manner.

Today's hearing is an opportunity for all parties to review the recent delays in wage payments to day care workers in an effort to ensure that such delays do not occur again.

Accordingly, Your Committee recommends that this resolution be filed.

Report of the Committee on Youth Services

Res. No. 1147

Report of the Committee on Youth Services in favor of filing a resolution calling upon the appropriate committee of the New York City Council to hold an oversight hearing on Internet access by juveniles at public facilities.

The Committee on Youth Services to which it was referred on January 19, 2000 (Minutes, page 156), the annexed resolution respectfully

REPORTS:

On Thursday January 27, 2000, the City Council's Committee on Youth Services, chaired by Council Member Kenneth K. Fisher, will conduct a committee hearing to explore the issue of internet access by juveniles at public facilities.

The Internet is a global network of information networks accessible with a computer. In 1996, an estimated 5 million children and adolescents between the ages of 2 and 17 used the Internet nationwide, and this has continued to grow with the increasing use of home computers.[1] According to a report by eMarketer's, the number of teenagers aged 13-17 who actively use the Web will rise from 11.1 million in 1999 to 15.3 million in 2002.[2]

The Internet has become a dynamic and unique vehicle for the transmission of information. The information that can be accessed on the Internet can be entertaining, informative and educational. Certainly, the Internet has quickly become an important component in the education of our youth. However, the Internet is also a worldwide medium that is generally unregulated. Not all information that is accessed may be accurate and some sites contain obscene material.

Resolution No. 1147 calls upon the appropriate committee of the New York City Council to hold an oversight hearing on Internet access by juveniles at public facilities. In the City, youth have access to the Internet from computers located in public schools and public libraries. In Fiscal 1998, the Administration allocated $150 million to Project Smart Schools, a collaborative effort of the Administration, the Board of Education, and the private sector to provide instructional computers in classrooms. In addition to adopting the Project Smart Schools Project, the City Council provided over $26 million for computer projects at approximately 150 schools citywide in the same fiscal year. Thus far, 13,788 computers have been installed in a total of 3,447 classrooms.[3] In addition, to fulfill its mission of providing public access to information of all types in a wide range of formats, the City's libraries provide access to Internet resources.

As Resolution 1147 points out, the Internet is a gateway to a wide array of material. Some of the material that can be accessed is pornographic and is considered by many harmful to minors. However, it is unclear whether minors are using public facilities to access pornographic material on the Internet. In fact, the Resolution asserts that there is no evidence that juveniles have been using the City's public school and library computers to access pornography.

Notwithstanding a lack of evidence, which would indicate such access by minors, the Resolution indicates that some have proposed that City schools and libraries institute a pilot filtering software program to prevent access to pornographic websites. The resolution, however, questions the effectiveness of such software, and raises potential problems with respect to conducting legitimate research that using such software may pose.

Filtering software on public computer terminals has been criticized by some for being ineffective and for infringing on First Amendment rights. For example, in Utah where most schools are offered Internet access through one group called the Utah Education Network, a filtering software program. was established to block access to five categories of information: sex, drugs, hate speech, gambling and criminal skills. This filtering program was criticized for blocking various legitimate sites, ranging from safe sex practices and homosexual legal issues to the U.S. Constitution and even passages from the Bible.[4] A report on the software program by The Censorware Project, an Internet watchdog group in Utah, found that the percentage of attempts to access objectionable material drops when school is in session and increases when schools are closed. "Very few people used the Internet to access sexually explicit material," found the report. "The problem of minors accessing sexually explicit material is considerably less than some organizations would have the public and Congress believe."

Moreover, when the Board of Education installed a filter on some of its computers, it was found to block Web sites that included categories like news and sex education. Students at Benjamin Cardozo High School in Queens were denied access to sites about breast cancer, anorexia and bulimia. Patty Lin, a senior at Cardozo, said that last year she used to go to school early in the morning just to do research in the computer room. Since the filtering program was installed in September, she has grown increasingly frustrated. "When I try to look up something, its not there," she said. "What's the purpose of having the Internet at school, if I can't get access to what I'm looking for?"[5]

In a recent Federal case in Loudoun County, Virginia a U.S. district judge ruled the Loudoun County Library could not block Web access to sexually explicit materials. The Court found that libraries are not obligated to offer Internet access, but if a public library chooses to offer such access, the Court held that it may not install filtering software where such software abridges the First Amendment rights of adults. "Any library policy that censors adults in the guise of protecting minors is unconstitutional."[6]

Introduction and Reading of Bills

Int. No. 693

By The Speaker (Council Member Vallone) and Council Members Freed, Fisher, McCaffrey, Quinn, Linares, Marshall, Rivera, Berman, Carrion, Dear, Malave-Dilan, Eisland, Henry, Lasher, Lopez, Perkins, Reed and the Public Advocate (Mr. Green); also Council Members DiBrienza, Foster, Harrison, Leffler, Michels, Povman and Sabini

A LOCAL LAW to amend the administrative code of the city of New York, in relation to the procurement of apparel and textile services by city agencies.

Be it enacted by the Council as follows:

Section 1. Declaration of Legislative Findings and Intent. The Council of the City of New York finds that it is in the City's best interest to procure items of apparel and textiles from responsible contractors that provide quality and service at the lowest responsible price and provide a safe work environment for their employees. The Council finds that, after almost a century of progress in the struggle against sweatshops in the apparel and textile sectors, there has been a recent resurgence of such exploitative and abusive workplaces in New York, the United States, and around the world. The City should not spend its citizens' money in ways that shock the conscience of a vast majority. Acting with the discretion allowed any private participant in the market, the City should choose to allocate its purchasing dollars in order to enhance, rather than degrade, the economic and social well being of its citizens, while at the same time assure the public that the City is acquiring the maximum quality for the lowest possible cost. Furthermore, it is essential to the public interest that the City require manufacturers, who contract to provide the City with apparel and textile goods, to submit information necessary for the determination of responsibility. Accordingly, the Council finds that it is in the best interests of the city of New York to procure apparel and textile goods from responsible contractors and subcontractors that provide a safe, non-discriminatory work environment and compensate their employees with a non-poverty wage.

Section 2. Title 6 of the Administrative Code of the City of New York is hereby amended by adding a new section 6-124, to read as follows:

Section 6-124. a. For purposes of this section only, the following terms shall have the following meanings:

(1) "Contract" means any written agreement, purchase order or instrument whereby the city is committed to expend or does expend funds in return for work, labor, services, supplies, equipment, materials, or any combination of the foregoing.

(2) "Responsible manufacturer" means that the manufacturer of apparel and textiles is able to demonstrate current compliance with all applicable wage, health, labor, environmental and safety laws, building and fire codes and any laws relating to discrimination in hiring, promotion or compensation on the basis of race, disability, national origin, gender, sexual orientation or affiliation with any political, non-governmental or civic group except when federal or state law precludes the city from attaching the procurement conditions provided herein. A responsible manufacturer for the purposes of this section shall not engage in any abuse of its employees such as slavery, forced labor, indentured servitude or on the basis of their migrant status or other physical abuses of employees, including kidnapping, unlawful imprisonment, or fraudulent or otherwise unlawful recruitment except where federal or state law precludes the city from attaching the conditions provided herein. A responsible manufacturer for the purposes of this section shall pay a non-poverty wage as defined herein, and shall not contract with any subcontractor operating in violation of any provision of this section.

(3) "Contracting agency" means a city, county, borough, administration, department, division, bureau, board or commission, or a corporation, institution or agency of government, that purchases, leases, or contracts for the purchase or lease of goods or services financed in whole or in part from the city treasury, except where partial federal or state funding precludes the city from attaching the procurement conditions provided herein.

(4) "Contractor" means any supplier, by sale or lease, of apparel or textiles to a contracting agency, including suppliers of uniforms for purchase by city employees through any uniform or voucher system, and any provider of laundering or other services to a contracting agency for the cleansing, repair, or maintenance of apparel or textiles.

(5) "Subcontractor" means any person or enterprise who contracts with a contractor, either directly or through other intermediary subcontractors, for the manufacture in whole or in part or for the laundering or other servicing of apparel or textiles. Subcontractor shall include beneficiaries of bankruptcies, assignment, transfer, sales of operations, or other successorship intended to evade liability or responsibility for any of the wrongful conduct enumerated in this section.

(6) "Apparel or textiles" means all articles of clothing, cloth, or goods produced by weaving, knitting, or felting, or any similar goods.

(7) "Non-Poverty wage" means the nationwide hourly wage and health benefit level sufficient to raise a family of four out of poverty.

(8) "Purchasing power parity" means the adjustment of exchange rate conversions for differences in the cost of living.

(9) "Incentive pay" means any pay system contingent on performance.

b. A contracting agency shall only enter into a contract to purchase or obtain for any purpose any apparel or textiles from a responsible manufacturer.

c. All contractors and subcontractors in the performance of a contract with a contracting agency shall pay their employees a non-poverty wage. The comptroller shall determine, and, if deemed necessary, annually adjust the precise level of the non-poverty wage, and shall ensure that it is no less than the level of wages and health benefits earned by a full-time worker that is sufficient to ensure that a family of four does not live in poverty as measured by the nationwide poverty guidelines issued annually by the United States department of health and human services in the federal register, and, in any event, no less than $8.15 an hour, of which $7.00 must be paid in hourly wages; and, as applied to employees of contractors and subcontractors outside of the United States, a comparable nationwide wage and benefit level, adjusted for factors such as purchasing power parity and productivity. The comptroller shall have the authority to promulgate such rules as it deems necessary for determining a non-poverty wage. For contractors or subcontractors that pay employees on an incentive pay basis, it shall be sufficient for the purposes of this section for the contractor or subcontractor to ensure that average pay for the lowest paid class of those employees engaged in the performance of a contract with a contracting agency exceeds the non-poverty wage.

d. The procurement policy board shall promulgate rules specifying the documents and information that contractors must provide to the contracting agency for purposes of subdivisions (b) and (c) of this section. A contracting agency shall, however, not enter into a contract to purchase or obtain for any purpose any apparel or textiles from a contractor unable to provide certified documentation in writing:

(1) that such apparels and textiles are manufactured in accordance with the requirements that constitute responsibly manufactured as defined in this section;

(2) listing the names and addresses of each subcontractor to be utilized in the performance of the contract;

(3) listing each manufacturing, processing, distributing, storing, servicing, shipping or other facility or operation of the contractor and its subcontractors for performance of the contract, and the location of each such facility;

(4) listing the wages and health benefits by job classification provided to all employees engaged in the manufacture, distribution or servicing of apparel and textiles for contracting services at each such facility.

e. The mayor shall designate an agency or agencies to collect and maintain information concerning the city's apparel and textile contracts that have been awarded to contractors and shall ensure that the information listed in subdivision d of this section be made available to the public. Such agency or agencies shall allow interested third parties an opportunity to submit information relating to the apparel and textile industry and shall review and consider such submissions as they become available. In October of each year, beginning in the year two thousand, such agency or agencies shall submit a report to the mayor and the council on the information collected pursuant to this subdivision.

f. Whenever the contracting agency has reason to believe that a contractor or subcontractor, who is engaged in the performance of a contract with a contracting agency, has paid its employees less than the non-poverty wage as defined herein, or upon verified complaint in writing from an employee affected by the provisions of this section, the contracting agency shall conduct an investigation to determine the facts related hereto and issue a report outlining the results of such investigation to the contracting agency head.

g. Upon a determination that a contractor is in violation of this section, the contracting agency shall review such information and offer the contractor an opportunity to respond. If the contracting agency finds that a violation has occurred, it shall take such action as may be appropriate and provided for by law, rule or contract, including, but not limited to, imposing sanctions, seeking compliance, recovering damages, declaring the contractor in default and/or seeking debarment or suspension of the contractor.

h. A contractor shall also be liable for a civil penalty of not less than $5,000 upon a determination that a contractor has been found, through litigation or arbitration, to have made a false claim under the provisions of this section with the contracting agency.

i. All contracting agencies shall provide in all contracts for the supply and service of textile and apparels the provisions of this section.

j. The requirements of this section shall be waived in writing under the following circumstances:

a. (1) There is only one prospective contractor willing to enter into a contract, where it is determined that all bidders to a contract are deemed ineligible for purposes of this section, where it is available from a sole source and the prospective contractor is not currently disqualified from doing business with the city; or

(2) The contract is necessary in order to respond to an emergency which endangers the public health and safety and no entity which complies with the requirements of this section capable of responding to the emergency is immediately available; or

(3) Where inclusion or application of such provisions will violate or be inconsistent with the terms and conditions of a grant, subvention or contract of the United States government or the instructions of an authorized representative of any such agency with respect to any such grant, subvention or contract.

b. All written waivers shall become part of the contract file of the contracting agency. Notwithstanding any waiver, the contracting agency shall take every reasonable measure to contract with a manufacturer who best satisfies the requirements of this section.

k. This section shall not apply to any contract with a contracting agency entered into prior to the effective date of this local law.

l. If any section, subsection, sentence, clause, phrase or other portion of this local law is, for any reason, declared unconstitutional or invalid, in whole or in part, by any court of competent jurisdiction such portion shall be deemed severable, and such unconstitutionality or invalidity shall not affect the validity of the remaining portions of this law, which remaining portions shall continue in full force and effect.

§ 3. This local law shall take effect 45 days after its enactment.

Res. No. 1174

Resolution calling upon Governor George E. Pataki to help safeguard the quality of the New York City water supply by directing the New York State Department of Transportation to abandon its plans for the expansion of Routes 120 and 22 in the immediate vicinity of the Kensico Reservoir and to advance necessary traffic and safety improvements for Interchanges 2 and 3 on Interstate Highway 684 in a way that minimizes disruption to and assures the protection of the Kensico Reservoir watershed.

By the Speaker (Council Member Vallone) and Council Member Michels, Robles, Carrion, Sabini, Marshall, Freed, Miller, Malave-Dilan, Eisland, Henry, Lopez, Nelson, Perkins and Warden; also Council Members DiBrienza, Fisher, Foster, Harrison, Koslowitz, Leffler, McCaffrey, Pinkett and Rodriguez

Whereas, The New York City water supply, including its 19 upstate reservoirs and their watersheds, is a priceless and irreplaceable resource supplying drinking water to nine million residents of New York City and Westchester County; and

Whereas, The Kensico Reservoir, located three miles north of White Plains in the Westchester town of North Castle, is perhaps the most critical part of the New York City water supply system as water from the Catskill and Delaware systems — 90% of New York City's water supply — is delivered to the Kensico Reservoir before moving on to consumers in the City and lower Westchester County; and

Whereas, The New York State Department of Transportation (NYSDOT) has proposed three separate expansion projects along these fragile watershed lands close to the Kensico Reservoir; and

Whereas, Among the alternatives proposed for this project are turning the Route 22/120 overlap immediately adjacent to the Kensico Reservoir into an 85-foot-wide expressway, with a new six-lane bridge over the reservoir itself; expanding a significant stretch of Route 120 north of Westchester County Airport, significantly widening much of the existing road just uphill from the reservoir; and enlarging Interchange 2 on Interstate 684 (Westchester County Airport exit), relocating nearby sections of Route 120, as well as altering Interchange 3 (Armonk exit) and widening adjacent Route 22, but amongst the variety of alternatives, there is a no-build alternative that can be implemented; and

Whereas, According to the NYSDOT's Supplemental Draft Environmental Impact Statement (SDEIS) these proposed expansion projects would result in a variety of adverse impacts for the Kensico watershed, including the destruction of almost four acres of natural wetlands; the creation of approximately ten acres of new paved surfaces; the temporary or permanent removal and disturbance of between sixty-two and sixty-six acres of upland vegetation; and the taking of an undetermined number of acres of New York City-owned watershed buffer lands; and

Whereas, Again, according to the NYSDOT's SDEIS, the proposed Kensico highway expansion projects would also generate additional pollutants in the Kensico watershed with the new road surfaces flushing up to 82.5% more of eight major pollutants during future rainstorms, than occurs from the existing roadways; and

Whereas, Although the NYSDOT has stated that it proposed these projects to alleviate traffic congestion and increase driver safety, highway building and expansion projects historically attract additional traffic and increased development; and

Whereas, The SDEIS for the proposed Kensico highway projects fails to conclusively establish traffic safety or congestion conditions justifying the expansions of Routes 120 or 22 or that recent enhancements and the possible addition of traffic lights and stop signs could not adequately address whatever traffic needs may remain for Routes 120 and 22 in the vicinity of the Kensico Reservoir; and

Whereas, According the NYSDOT's SDEIS, as much as 1.2 million square feet of additional commercial office space might be developed along the Route 120 corridor in the future, in addition to further residential subdivision growth, and the expanded highways would help transform local roadways into regional thoroughfares; and

Whereas, Currently under our watershed protection program, New York City has secured a five-year filtration avoidance determination (FAD) for its Catskill/Delaware water supply from the United States Environmental Protection Agency (USEPA), which enables the City to avoid constructing a filtration plant estimated to cost $6 to $8 billion with an additional hundreds of millions of dollars to operate each year; and

Whereas, The Council believes that these expansion projects are unnecessary and unwarranted and would impose potentially huge environmental and economic burdens on New York City residents because if the City fails to adequately protect the Kensico Reservoir, the filtration avoidance waiver will be jeopardized; and

Whereas, If development around the reservoir continues, there undoubtedly will be less open space, fewer natural wetlands, more parking lots and impervious surfaces, more through-traffic and more corporate and residential development; and

Whereas, A 1999 National Academy of Sciences report prepared by the National Research Council, which reviewed New York City water supply issues, has warned that "new commercial development and road expansion in the Kensico watershed may threaten water quality in this reservoir in the near future"; and

Whereas, The USEPA, in testimony before this Council, recently reiterated its position that "EPA is very concerned about the impacts that this project may have on the Kensico reservoir, and ultimately, on EPA's FAD for the Catskill and Delaware watershed" and identified "the Kensico reservoir and its watershed as the weakest link in the chain of filtration avoidance"; and

Whereas, While today water in the Kensico Reservoir meets state and federal water quality standards, if development and land use changes continue, New York City may not be able to continue to meet these standards and maintain its obligations pursuant to the FAD and the watershed agreement signed by the City and the State as well as other parties; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Council of the City of New York calls upon Governor George E. Pataki to help safeguard the quality of the New York City water supply by directing the New York State Department of Transportation to abandon its plans for the expansion of Routes 120 and 22 in the immediate vicinity of the Kensico Reservoir and to advance necessary traffic and safety improvements for Interchanges 2 and 3 on Interstate Highway 684 in a way that minimizes disruption to and assures the protection of the Kensico Reservoir watershed.

Adopted.

Res. No. 1175

Resolution calling upon the New York State Legislature to enact legislation to classify the third conviction for a Class "A" misdemeanor within a five year period as a felony and to devote additional resources to prosecute such cases.

By the Speaker (Council Member Vallone), Council Members Henry, Lopez, Fiala and Golden; also Council Members Fisher, Koslowitz, Leffler, McCaffrey, Povman and Oddo

Whereas, On November 30, 1999, Paris Drake was arrested after a brutal brick attack on Nicole Barrett on November 16, 1999; and

Whereas, Mr. Drake's criminal record was extensive, including many arrests for misdemeanor offenses such as theft of services, resisting arrest and drug possession; and

Whereas, In most of the cases where Mr. Drake was found guilty of a misdemeanor he received little to no jail time; and

Whereas, Mr. Drake's criminal history demonstrates the inability of the New York State criminal justice system to properly prosecute and punish low-level career criminals; and

Whereas, In light of the case of Mr. Drake, and the countless other low-level career offenders who are not adequately punished for their crimes, the third conviction for a Class "A" misdemeanor within a five year period should be classified as a felony; and

Whereas, Additional resources are needed to handle these type of cases, including the appointment of more Criminal Court judges in New York City; and

Whereas, The New York State Legislature should allocate such additional resources as necessary to handle this increased caseload; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the New York City Council calls upon the New York State Legislature to enact legislation to classify the third conviction for a Class "A" misdemeanor within a five year period as a felony and to devote additional resources to prosecute such cases.

Res. No. 1176

Resolution calling upon the New York City Board of Education to immediately commence negotiations with the United Federation of Teachers and to raise New York City teachers' salaries to levels comparable with suburban teachers' salaries.

By Council Members Dear, Malave-Dilan, Espada, Lopez, Marshall, Moskowitz and Nelson; also Council Members Boyland, Harrison, Michels, Povman, Rodriguez and Warden

Whereas, New York City public schools are facing an imminent teacher shortage crisis as a result of mass retirement coupled with a dearth of qualified incoming teachers; and

Whereas, More than 14,000 of the 21,000 teachers eligible to retire within the next year are seriously considering doing so according to a United Federation of Teachers survey conducted in the Fall of 1999; and

Whereas, The current teacher contract expires on November 15, 2000, too late to work out a pact encouraging any of the likely retirees to remain; and

Whereas, New York City teachers' salaries are twenty to thirty percent lower than the salaries of teachers in suburban counties of New York State; and

Whereas, The number of uncertified teachers, who are generally less qualified than experienced teachers, could reach 25,000 or one-third of the instructional workforce; and

Whereas, New contract negotiations that will improve salary and other benefits are needed in order to entice potential retirees to remain and compel qualified new teachers to work in the City's public schools rather than seek employment elsewhere; and

Whereas, The City's future depends upon the next generation of leaders, and contributors to our society; and

Whereas, It is our duty to ensure that the children in the City's public schools receive the best education available; and

Whereas, The New York City Board of Education should immediately commence negotiations with the United Federation of Teachers in good faith so that we may preserve and improve the quality of education in our City's public schools; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Council of the City of New York calls upon the New York City Board of Education to immediately commence negotiations with the United Federation of Teachers and to raise New York City teachers' salaries to levels comparable with suburban teachers' salaries.

Res. No. 1177

Resolution to support efforts to grant Elian Gonzalez U.S. citizenship and ensure his case is heard in family court in order to decide Elian's fate in the best interests of this young child.

By Council Member Dear; also Council Members Koslowitz and Wooten

Whereas, On November 25, six-year-old Elian Gonzalez was rescued off the Florida coast after spending two days at sea clutching an inner tube to remain afloat; and

Whereas, Elian Gonzalez was taken by his mother on a makeshift raft to flee the tyranny of Communist Cuba and make the risky journey to freedom in the United States; and

Whereas, The raft capsized in unsettled seas taking the lives of ten Cubans including Elian's mother and stepfather; and

Whereas, Elian's mother took her son on that perilous trip with the hope of offering him a better life in the "land of opportunity," the United States; and

Whereas, The death of Elian's mother would be in vain if Elian is not permitted to take advantage of the freedoms that our great nation has to offer; and

Whereas, Citizenship would ensure that Elian's case is heard before a family court, which will be entrusted to act in his best interests; and

Whereas, The symbol of U.S. freedom, the Statue of Liberty is inscribed with the words, "Give me your tired, your poor, your huddled masses yearning to breathe free, the wretched refuse of your teeming shore. Send these, the homeless, tempest-tost to me, I lift my lamp beside the golden door;" and

Whereas, Elian's story is told in that inscription and it is the duty of the U.S. government to open America's proverbial golden door to him by granting irrevocable U.S. citizenship; now therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Council of the City of New York supports efforts to grant Elian Gonzalez U.S citizenship and ensure his case is heard in family court in order to decide Elian's fate in this best interests of this young child.

Whereas, Religious traditions have had a significant impact throughout time on literature, history and culture; and

Whereas, Because of the significant impact that religious traditions have had in shaping our world, such traditions, beliefs and sacred writings should be taught to students in a non-sectarian, academic setting; and

Whereas, According to a November 26, 1999 article entitled "Rallying Behind Religion" in The Jewish Week, a coalition of thirty-five religious organizations and First Amendment protection groups has given its support to "The Bible & Public Schools: A First Amendment Guide," which offers guidelines on how to legally teach the Bible in public schools; and

Resolution calling upon the Governor and the State Legislature to meet with the Metropolitan Transportation Authority and either implement a comprehensive half-fare program for persons with serious mental illness who receive Supplemental Social Security Income or else revise existing law so that the reduced fare provided to the users of the commuter services between New York City and its suburbs may be extended to the users of New York City Transit.

By Council Members Lopez, Clarke, Boyland, Carrion, Espada, Henry, Marshall, Moskowitz, Warden, Watkins and White; also Council Members DiBrienza, Fisher, Foster, Harrison, Leffler, Linares, Michels, Perkins, Robles and Abel

Whereas, Serious mental illness is often chronic, results in substantial functional disability and many persons suffering from serious mental illness are eligible to receive supplemental social security income benefits; and

Whereas, Currently, reduced fares are available to persons with disability from blindness, mental retardation, deafness and conditions which impair a person's ability to use their limbs; and

Whereas, Chapter 103 of the laws of 1997 authorized the Metropolitan Transportation Authority (MTA) in consultation with the State Office of Mental Health to study the feasibility of providing half-fares to persons with serious mental illness; and

Whereas, On May 18, 1999, the MTA distributed a draft of this study to, among others, members of the legislature and the mental health community; and

Whereas, Subsequently, Chapter 422 of the Laws of 1999 added a new subdivision 15 to Section 1266 of the public authorities law and required the MTA to implement a half-fare program for persons with serious mental illness who receive SSI benefits; and

Whereas, The Metropolitan Transportation Authority has taken the position that this law only applies to commuters traveling between New York City and the suburbs; and

Whereas, Advocates for the mentally ill, and legislators from both parties in the State legislature including Member of the Assembly James F. Brennan, Chair of the State Assembly Committee on Mental Health, Mental Retardation and Developmental Disabilities and Senator Frank Padavan, who are sponsors of the legislation, agree that this result was not the intent of Chapter 422 of the laws of 1999; and

Whereas, Reportedly, the cost to the Metropolitan Transportation Authority of providing reduced fares in the City and the suburbs would be $7 million annually if the fare is restricted to those individuals who receive SSI benefits; and

Whereas, The legislature manifestly did not intend to provide reduced fares to commuters from surrounding counties but not to the users of New York City Transit; and

Whereas, This honorable body believes that persons with serious mental illness who need the assistance provided by Supplemental Social Security Income should receive a reduced fare that is already provided to persons with other kinds of disability; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Council of the City of New York calls upon the Governor and the State Legislature to meet with the Metropolitan Transportation Authority and either implement a comprehensive half-fare program for persons with serious mental illness who receive Supplemental Social Security Income or else revise existing law so that the reduced fare provided to the users of the commuter services between New York City and its suburbs may be extended to the users of New York City Transit.

By Council Members Lopez, Clarke, Boyland, Carrion, Espada, Henry, Marshall, Moskowitz, Nelson, Pinkett, Warden and White; also Council Members Foster, Harrison, Leffler, Linares, Michels, Perkins, Spigner and Watkins

Whereas, Serious mental illness is often chronic, results in substantial functional disability and many persons suffering from serious mental illness are eligible to receive supplemental social security income (SSI) benefits; and

Res. No. 1182

Resolution calling on the City of New York to divest its public pension fund holdings in Talisman Energy.

By Council Members Perkins, Carrion, Espada, Linares, Marshall, Michels, Reed, Warden, Watkins, White and Wooten; also Council Members Berman, Boyland, Eldridge and Rodriguez

Whereas, The City of New York's five pension funds owns a total of 160,000 shares of Talisman Energy stock that is worth an estimated $5 million; and

Whereas, Talisman Energy, Canada's largest independent oil and gas producer is traded on the New York Stock Exchange under the symbol TLM; among its world oil operations, it is a 25 percent partner in the Greater Nile Petroleum Operating Company, an immense oil development comprised of oil wells and a pipeline occupying 12.2 million acres of land in south central Sudan; and

Whereas, The Clinton Administration, along with human rights organizations around the world has alleged that Talisman Energy is involved in human slavery and that the Sudanese government, which has a five-percent investment in the oil project, has employed a brutal campaign to rid the areas surrounding the oil fields of its local population in order to ensure the success of the lucrative Greater Nile Oil Project; and

Whereas, According to a recent article in the New York Post, the Sudanese government which is engaged in a longstanding civil war, has allegedly used militia groups to run local villagers out, burning homes, killing men and taking women and children as slaves, many of whom are used as servants and concubines and are genitally mutilated; and

Whereas, The Sudan has long been a volatile nation that is currently under extensive U.S. sanctions because of alleged support of terrorism and persecution of Christians and evidence of Sudanese brutality has been validated by numerous eye-witness accounts and the reports and findings by the Clinton Administration, the United Nations, the United States Congress and several human rights agencies; and

Whereas, Talisman Energy's participation in the Greater Nile Oil Project is helping to pump millions of dollars into a brutal U.S. sanctioned Sudanese government that, according to Human Rights Watch, governs the largest internally displaced population in the world and that uses brute force and unethical tactics that involve torture and slavery to reach its objectives; and

Whereas, Allegedly, one of these objectives is to keep the area surrounding the oil project in the Western Upper Nile Region clear of any population that would interfere with the operations of Talisman Energy and the Chinese, Malaysian and Sudanese state-owned oil companies that jointly operate the Greater Nile Oil Project; and

Whereas, Talisman Energy is included in the portfolios of several pension plans including those of the City of New York, the State of New York and the State of New Jersey and thousands of public employees have probably invested in the company unaware of the allegations against Talisman; and

Whereas, On January 27, 2000, the Washington Post reported that the national effort to encourage divestment of Talisman Energy holdings has already achieved some big successes; the Texas Teacher's Retirement Fund has sold its 100,000 shares in Talisman and TIAA-CREF, a New York based pension fund and financial services organization that maintains the largest pension fund in the world, divested itself of 260,000 shares; and

Whereas, The New York Post reported that in November 1999, Secretary of State Madeleine Albright, whose intervention prompted Canada to send a special mission to Sudan to investigate charges of religious persecution by the Sudanese government and Talisman's role in the war, issued a statement supporting the divestment drive; and

Whereas, The City of New York must do the conscionable thing and divest its public holdings in this company immediately and by doing so, will hopefully set an example for other governments and private firms to do the same; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Council of the City of New York calls on the City of New York to divest its public pension fund holdings in Talisman Energy.

PROCUREMENT

READER'S GUIDE

The City Record (CR), published each business day, lists notices of proposed New York City procurement actions, contract awards, and other procurement information.

Solicitations notices for most procurement above $25,000 for goods or services or above $50,000 for construction and construction related services are published for at least one day.

Unless otherwise specified, the agencies and offices listed are open for business Mondays thru Fridays from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. except legal holidays.

BIDDERS LIST APPLICATIONS

New York City procures approximately $7 billion worth of goods, services, construction and construction related services each year. The NYC's Procurement Policy Board rules require that agencies primarily solicit from bidder/proposer lists developed for each commodity/category. Suppliers interested in being placed on such lists may obtain an application from the following agencies:

Goods

● Department of Citywide Administrative Services, Division of Municipal Supplies, Office of Vendor Relations, 1 Centre St.,18th Floor, NY, NY 10007 (212) 669-8562.

Construction & Construction Related Services

● Mayor's Office of Construction, Bidders List Unit, 75 Park Place, 7th Floor, New York, NY 10007 (212) 788-2502.

All Other Services

● Mayor's Office of Contracts, Bidders List Unit, 253 Broadway, 9th Floor, New York, NY 10007 (212) 788-0010 Applications may also be obtained directly from each City agency. Relevant names, addresses, and telephone numbers are listed in Chapter 4 of the Vendor Information Manual.(see next section)

VENDOR INFORMATION MANUAL

This manual contains information on how to do business with the City. It can be obtained, at no cost, from the Department of Business Services, 110 William Street - 2nd floor, New York 10038. Request should be made to Gordon Richards, Director - Procurement Outreach Program, (212) 513-6356 (Tel) or (212) 618-8899 (Fax).

PREQUALIFIED LIST

New York City procurement policy permits agencies to develop and solicit from prequalified lists of vendors, under prescribed circumstance. When it is decided by an agency to develop a prequalified list, criteria for prequalification must be clearly explained in the solicitation and notice of the opportunity to prequalify for that solicitation must be published in at least five issues of the CR.

Information and qualification questionnaires for inclusion on such list may be obtained directly from the Agency Chief Contracting Officer at each agency, (see Vendor Information Manual). A completed qualification Questioner may be submitted to the Chief Contracting Officer at any time, unless otherwise indicated and action (approval or denial) shall be taken by the agency within 90 days from the date of submission. Any denial or revocation of prequalified status can be appealed to the Office of Administrative Trials and Hearing (OATH) Section 3-11 of the Procurement Policy Board Rules describes the criteria for the general use of prequalified lists.

NON-MAYORAL ENTITIES

PUBLIC ACCESS CENTER

The Public Access Center is available to suppliers and the public as a central source for supplier-related information through on-line computer access. The Center is located at 253 Broadway, 9th floor, in lower Manhattan, and is open Monday through Friday from 10 am to 3 pm. For information, contact the Mayor's Office of Contracts at (212) 788-0010.

The City pays interest on any late invoice after the expiration of a 15-day "grace" period. There are certain types of payments that are not eligible for interest; these are listed in Section 5-07 of the Procurement Policy Board Rules. The Comptroller and OMB determine the interest rate on late payments every six months, in January and July of each year.

HOW TO READ CR PROCUREMENT NOTICES

Procurement Notices in the CR are arranged by alphabetically listed Agencies, and within Agency, by Division if any. The notices for each Agency (or Division) are further divided into three subsections: Solicitations: Awards; and Lists & Miscellaneous notices. Each of these subsections separately lists notices pertaining to Goods, to Services, or to Construction. Notices of Public Hearings on Contract Awards appear at the end of the Procurement Section. At the end of each Agency (or Division) listing is a paragraph giving the specific address to contact to secure, examine and/or to submit bid or proposal documents, forms, plans, specifications, and other information, as well as where bids will be publicly opened and read. This address should be used for the purpose specified UNLESS a different one is given in the individual notice. In that event, the directions in the individual notice should be followed. A job order contract is an indefinite quantity contract pursuant to which the contractor will perform a series of projects at various wastewater treatment plants and facilities within Regional Group 1 in New York City. The bid documents include a book of construction tasks with preset unit prices and related specifications. The contractors will competitively bid two adjustment factors to be applied to the unit prices. The first adjustment factor is for performing work during Normal Working Hours and a second adjustment factor is for performing work during Other Than Normal Working Hours. The cost for each individual project is determined by multiplying the preset unit prices and the appropriate quantities by one of the competitively bid adjustment factors.

Interested bidders must attend two mandatory pre-bid conferences. The first mandatory pre-bid conference will be held June 20, 2000, at 10:00 am at the Fire Department Training Academy Auditorium on Randall's Island, for the purpose of discussing the specifics of the contract, how the contract will be administered, and the type of projects that will be performed. The second mandatory pre-bid conference will be held June 23, 2000, at 10:00 am at the Fire Department Training Academy Auditorium on Randall's Island, for the purpose of discussing the book of construction tasks, unit prices, and the calculation of the adjustment factor. Attendance at both pre-bid conferences is mandatory. Failure to attend both pre-bid conferences may result in a determination of non-responsiveness.

Bid documents will be available from the Contract Management Unit, 59-17 Junction Blvd., 17th Floor, Corona, NY 11368 after the first mandatory pre-bid conference. For questions concerning this procurement, contact Carol Fenves at (718) 595-3225.

DEVELOPMENT TRANSITIONAL RESIDENCES FOR HOMELESS ADULTS AND FAMILIES AND DROP IN CENTERS FOR ADULTS – CSP – PIN# 071-00S003262 – The Department of Homeless Services is soliciting proposals from organizations interested in developing and operating transitional residences for homeless adults and families and drop-in centers for adults. This is an open-ended solicitation; there is no due date for submission. Proposals will be reviewed by the Department as they are received and contracts will be awarded on an on-going basis, until the agency's capacity needs are met. DHS reserves the right to award a contract on the basis of initial offers received without discussion. Contracts will be awarded to responsible applicants whose negotiated offers are determined to be the most advantageous to the City, taking into consideration the price and other such factors and criteria set-fourth in the RFP. Contract award will be subject to the timely completion of contract negotiations between the agency and the selected proposer.

It is anticipated that the transitional residence contracts will range from 5 to 30 years and the drop-in centers will be for three years with one three year option to renew.

Pursuant to Section 312(c)(1)(ii) of the New York City Charter, the Competitive Sealed Bid procurement method is not the most advantageous method because judgement is required in evaluating competing proposals, and it is in the best interest of the city to require a balancing of price, quality and other factors.

Thus, pursuant to Section 3-03(c) of the Procurement Policy Board Rules, the open ended RFP will be used because the Department will select qualified providers to develop and operate transitional residences in order to address the need to create additional shelter capacity citywide. In addition, this open-ended method will provide interested applicants an opportunity to propose sites for the targeted population, as they become available for shelter development.

All proposers must meet the following minimum qualifications 1) must have a tax exempt status under 501 (c) (3) of the Internal Revenue Code and or be legally incorporated and 2) must demonstrate that they have, or can obtain by the contract start date, site control of the proposed facility location.

Any organization that believes it can provide these services may contact: Calvin Pitter, Deputy Agency Chief Contracting Officer at the Department of Homeless Services at (212) 361-8000, 33 Beaver Street 13th Flr., New York, NY 10004, to request a copy of the application, which is available for pick-up only Monday through Friday on business days between the hours of 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

1. The public use of this project is to acquire fee title to the described properties for the construction of public streets, sidewalks, and curbs, and for the installation of new storm sewer to alleviate the flooding in the area.

2. The location of the proposed acquisition is Weed Avenue from Tysens Lane to Ebbitts Street, Cuba Avenue from Isernia Avenue to Ebbitts Street, Manila Place from Diaz Place to Ebbitts Street, Isernia Avenue from Cuba Avenue to Weed Avenue and Diaz Place from Weed Avenue to Manila Place, in the Borough of Staten Island.

3. The proposed project is consistent with local planning and environmental objectives in that it provides for the construction of streets with sidewalks, roadways, curbs and lights and drainage structures together with street grading. All streets will be fully reconstructed with new asphalt pavement, sidewalks, curbs, street lighting and traffic signals, if required. The project area is below legal grade and will need to be raised in order to provide sufficient cover for the storm sewers. This will bring the street grade to the level of the surrounding community. The public project is expected to alleviate the severe flooding that has affected the area for a number of years.

4. To minimize the impact of street reconstruction, Isernia Avenue will be acquired to a right-of-way width of 50 feet, rather than the originally proposed 60 feet. The Department of Design and Construction is working to alleviate any special problems which may arise as a result of project construction.

Copies of the above determination and findings of the Department of Design and Construction are available upon request.

REPORTS OF STANDING COMMITTEES

Report of the Committee on Economic Development

Int. No. 459-A

Report of the Committee on Economic Development in favor of approving and adopting, as amended, a local law to amend the administrative code of the city of New York, in relation to the regulation of public wholesale markets.

The Committee on Economic Development to which it was referred on October 22, 1998 (Minutes, page 3499) the annexed amended local law respectfully

REPORTS:

This bill amends certain sections of Local Law 28 of 1997, the "Public Markets" law (Adm. Code §§ 22-251 through 22-269), with respect to the regulation of public wholesale markets, and Chapter 1-A of title 22 of the Administrative Code, the "Fulton Fish Market" law (Adm. Code §§ 22-201 through 22-226).

Passed in May 1997 Local Law 28, which added Chapter 1-B to Title 22 of the Administrative Code (§§ 22-251 through 22-269), was intended to expand the City's ability to regulate the operations of public wholesale markets by directly regulating the activities of businesses and workers at the markets through the Department of Business Services ("Department" or "DBS"). The markets covered by Local Law 28 are the Hunts Point Food Distribution Center and the Bronx Terminal Market in The Bronx; the Brooklyn Terminal Market and the Brooklyn Wholesale Meat Market in Brooklyn; and the Gansevoort Meat Market in Manhattan. Pursuant to § 22-266 of the Administrative Code ("Adm. Code" or "Code"), the Department issued rules in August 1997 contained in Chapter 1, Subchapters A, A-1, C and D of Title 66 of the Rules of the City of New York (66 RCNY).

The purpose of Local Law 28 was to help eliminate the well-documented influence of organized crime on the markets, which for decades had inflated costs to legitimate businesses and consumers and deprived the City of revenues. Local Law 28 requires a "wholesale trade association", "wholesale business" or "market business", and representatives of any labor organization/union, that represents or seeks to represent employees of businesses that are required to register, to register with the Department and requires the employees of such a business to obtain photo identification cards from the Department.

The registration for wholesale or market business, wholesale trade association and labor unions is valid for three years and renewable every three years, (Adm. Code § 22-256; 66 RCNY § 1-18(a) and § 1-20.2(b)), and the registration fee for each wholesale or market business, wholesale trade association and labor organization/union and for each officer required to register is $300 (66 RCNY §§ 1-18(b), 66 RCNY § 1-20.2(c)). Employees and principals of these businesses must obtain photo identification cards, Adm. Code § 22-252, which must be in the possession of the cardholder when in a market.

Local Law 28 provides that when the Commissioner has reasonable cause to believe that an applicant for a photo identification card "lacks good character, honesty and integrity," the card need not be immediately issued and further investigation of the applicant is authorized. Adm. Code § 22-252(d). The Commissioner is also authorized to deny the photo identification card where an applicant has failed to provide necessary information or fails to demonstrate eligibility.

Where the Commissioner has "reasonable cause" to believe that a principal of a wholesale or market business lacks good character, honesty and integrity, the Commissioner has the authority to require all of the principals of that business to be fingerprinted, be required to provide background information and be interviewed by staff of the Department of Investigation ("DOI") or the Department. Adm. Code § 22-259.

A "visitor" to the market, defined as a person not engaged in or employed by a wholesale or market business, Adm. Code § 22-251(i), is required to obtain a "visitor pass" from the Commissioner or his designee to enter a public wholesale market (other than a market that was routinely open to public access for a year prior to the effective date of Local Law 28). Adm. Code § 22-255. A visitor pass may be denied to those whose presence may constitute a "threat to the orderly operation of the market" or if an applicant has failed to provide information required by the Commissioner. Adm. Code § 22-255. A visitor pass may not, however, be denied to a "representative of a labor union or organization solely because such person seeks to engage in the lawful exercise within a public wholesale market of an activity protected under the provisions of the National Labor Relations Act, 29 U.S.C. § 141 et seq." Adm. Code § 22-255.

A violation of the provisions of Chapter 1-B could subject a person to a civil penalty of up to $10,000. Adm. Code § 22-258(a). Violators of the registration or identification card provisions could be subject to a criminal penalty of up to $10,000 per day and/or six months imprisonment in addition to a civil penalty of up to $5,000 per day. Adm. Code § 22-258(b). In addition, wholesale businesses, market businesses and employees may be denied registration or photo identification cards or could have their registration, photo identification cards and the right to do business in a market suspended or revoked. Adm. Code § 22-260.

There is an ongoing obligation on the part of all registrants and photo identification card holders to update the Commissioner on any information that may have a bearing on their continued ability to do business in the market. Adm. Code § 22-253(b)(iv). Under the Department's rules, there is a ten-day period in which to do this and the failure to do so may result in the revocation or suspension of a registration or photo identification card. 66 RCNY § 1-20.3(c) and § 1-20.5(c).

Local Law 28 also establishes an administrative procedure for the Commissioner to follow for the denial, suspension and revocation of registrations, issuance of photo identification cards and disqualification of wholesale or market businesses and their principals and labor unions/organizations and their officers. Adm. Code § 22-253, § 22-259, § 22-260, § 22-264 and § 22-265. A union officer may seek arbitration of a decision by the Commissioner to disqualify such union officer from holding office.

The current arbitration procedure contained in Local Law 28 requires the Commissioner to designate five arbitrators from a list of those approved by the City's Office of Collective Bargaining and the union officer may choose one from that group of five. Adm. Code § 22-264(c). In addition, the Commissioner has emergency authority to suspend registrations and photo identification cards where there is "reasonable cause to believe that the operation of any business or the presence of any person in a public wholesale market creates an imminent danger to life or property or to the orderly and lawful operation of the market." Adm. Code § 22-261.

Adm. Code § 22-269 requires the Department to report to the Council one week after the release of the Mayor's Management Report (MMR) each year on the enforcement of this local law, including information on criminal activities at the markets and prosecution of those activities; the denial, suspension or revocation of registrations or photo identifications; and Department expenditures and fees collected.

On October 15, 1998, the Committee held an oversight hearing on the implementation of Local Law 28 and the Department's report to the City Council. Testimony was presented by the following persons at the hearing: Frank Maas, Deputy Commissioner, Public Markets Project (DBS/DOI); Mark Perrone, Vice-President and Regional Director, United Food and Commercial Workers (UFCW) International Union; Brian McLaughlin, President, Central Labor Council; Frank Mangan, UFCW Local 359; and Gene Szuflita, Counsel for UFCW Local 174.

The Department's Markets Report ("Report") indicated that in February 1998 the Department determined that Local Law 28 should first be implemented at the New York City Terminal Market ("Hunts Point Market"). Adm. Code § 22-268(a), 66 RCNY § 1-11. The Department entered into a written agreement with the Hunts Point Terminal Product Cooperative Association, Inc. ("Coop") designating the Coop as the Department's agent for the issuance of visitor passes and temporary photo identification cards for all officers, principals, employees and agents of wholesale and market businesses at the Hunts Point Market. Adm. Code § 22-255, 66 RCNY § 1-16.

The Report indicated that the Department had focused its attention first on the wholesaler applications and had received applications from eighty (80) wholesalers, twelve (12) market businesses, one trade association, two labor unions and forty-five (45) labor union officers.

On October 29, 1998 the Committee held its first hearing on Int. No. 459 and received testimony from Mr. Maas on behalf of the Administration and from Mr. Perrone on behalf of the UFCW.

Based upon the testimony and after a series of negotiating meetings with the Administration, Int. No. 459-A was amended to respond to a number of the Administration's concerns and to include new provisions that they requested.

On August 10, 1999 the Committee held a hearing on Proposed Int. No. 459-A and received testimony from William Dano and Richard Lipsky, on behalf of the UFCW, and Roland Evans and Laura Schubert, workers from UFCW Local 174. The Committee also received a Memorandum in Opposition from the Mayor's Office of City Legislative Affairs despite the amendments made to address the Administration's concerns.

Section 1 of the bill amends the definition of "Public wholesale market" contained in subdivision (h) of § 22-251 of the Adm. Code, to include any building, structure or other place owned "or under lease" by the city or located on property owned "or under lease" by the city and that the market "shall continue to be public property" even if leased to a non-governmental body. This section also defines the term of "place of business of a wholesale business or market business" to mean any "building, structure, stall or other area, or any part thereof, within the public wholesale market that is leased, operated, managed or used exclusively by such wholesale business or market business."

The purpose of this provision is to clarify (1) that a City owned market remains public property even if leased by the City to a non-governmental entity and (2) defines the area for the purpose of section 3 of the bill where lawful picketing or other labor activity may take place as that area within the public wholesale market where a wholesale business or market business actually conducts business and may not be limited to areas outside of the market.

Section 2

Section 2 of the bill amends subdivision (a) of § 22-253 of the Code by adding that a wholesale or market business report any changes in ownership or "other material changes in the information" previously provided to the Commissioner "within thirty days thereof." Currently the DBS rules allow 10 days to report changes. 66 RCNY § 1-13(b). The purpose of this section is to allow for a more reasonable reporting period but does not alter what information must be reported.

The Committee received testimony from Mr. Maas on October 29, 1998 that the Administration had no objection to the extension of this time period.

Section 3 of the bill amends § 22-255 of the Adm. Code to specify that a visitor pass may not be denied to a representative of a labor union/organization engaged in the lawful exercise of activities authorized by the National Labor Relations Act (29 U.S.C. § 141), including lawfully picketing a "place of business of a wholesale business or market business in connection with a legitimate labor dispute" within the public market (see discussion of bill Section 2, supra.), except as may otherwise be prohibited by law, but that a labor union representative "shall not impede any reasonable measure undertaken by a police officer or authorized employee of the department intended to control vehicle and pedestrian traffic within such public wholesale market or upon any street, avenue, parkway, plaza, square or other public place designated as a public market."

While it is the Committee's belief that picketing within public wholesale market property is expressly allowed under the current provisions of Local Law 28 and the National Labor Relations Act, the first amendment seeks to clarify that such right exists and may be conducted at the individual wholesale or market business location within public wholesale market. The intention of the latter amendment is to assure that even lawful picketing does not impede the flow of goods and people within the public markets and was added to address a specific concern raised by the Administration.

Currently this section of the Code only allows the Commissioner or his/her designee to deny a visitor pass and entry into a market to any persons whose presence may constitute a threat to the orderly operation of the market or if they fail to provide information required by the Commissioner. However, while under the current provision a visitor pass may not be denied to a representative of a labor union/organization engaged in the lawful exercise of activities authorized by the National Labor Relations Act (29 U.S.C. § 141) within the public market, the Committee previously was presented with testimony that the current provision were not sufficient to protect labor union representatives from exercising their rights under the law. An example was cited and confirmed by the Department in which workers seeking to place pickets within the public market were told by the Department's designee at the Hunts Point Market that they would be considered trespassers and subject to arrest if they continued these activities within the market property.

Section 4

Section 4 of the bill amends § 22-256 of the Code of the City of New York to correct a typographical error.

Section 5 of the bill amends § 22-257 of the Code by numbering the existing section as subdivision (a) and by adding a new subdivision (b) to allow an employee an affirmative defense that he/she was acting within the scope of his or her employment pursuant to the instruction given by the employer in any civil or administrative proceeding against an employee for an alleged violation of Local Law 28 or any market rules. The employee would have the burden of proving that he/she was acting within the scope of his or her employment pursuant to the instruction given by the employer to successfully utilize the defense in any proceeding.

The Committee was presented with testimony about market employees who were fined while performing duties in the scope of their employment and under direct orders of their wholesale or market business employer. The first example was of an employee fined $500 for his employer's failure to have insurance on a forklift he was operating. The second example was that of an employee fined $5,000 for placing fish pallets on the sidewalk outside the employer's building stall pursuant to an order by his employer.

This affirmative defense, as provided in the subdivision, will not be applicable to a violation of two sections of this chapter: the failure to possess and/or display a required photo identification card (section 22-252) and the failure to surrender a identification card when required to do so (section 22-262). Those violations are so significant to maintaining the integrity of market operations and the regulatory structure as to warrant liability even if committed at the employer's request.

It is important to note that the affirmative defense is available only with respect to civil and administrative proceedings, not criminal proceedings, and only for violations of Chapter 1-B of Title 22 of the Code and its rules. Therefore, this provision does not preclude criminal, civil or administrative proceedings under any other provision of law.

The concept for the affirmative defense was first presented to the Council staff by the Administration during the course of negotiations on this bill and was added in response to their suggestion. This section strikes an appropriate balance between fairness to the employee and the operation of the public markets.

Section 6 of the bill amends subdivisions (b) and (c) of § 22-264 of the Adm. Code to allow a labor union or organization to report changes in the extensive information required by subdivision (b) within "thirty days" and to establish a new arbitration procedure which may be used when the Commissioner seeks to disqualify a labor union officer from holding office (subdivision (c)).

Currently, subdivision (b) requires that any changes in the information required be reported "forthwith" to the Commissioner, although Department rules allow this to be done within ten days. 66 RCNY § 1-20.3(c). This amendment is a reasonable expansion of the reporting period and makes the reporting requirements uniform for all parties required to register pursuant to the chapter.

The Committee received testimony from Mr. Maas on October 29, 1998 that the Administration had no objection to the extension of this time period.

A union officer may invoke the arbitration procedure when the Commissioner seeks to disqualify the labor union officer from holding office. The current arbitration procedure authorizes the Commissioner to "designate" five arbitrators from a list approved by the City's Office of Collective Bargaining and the union officer selects one from that group.

Labor representatives previously testified to the Committee that this system is fundamentally unfair in that the potential exists for the Commissioner to select from the master list of arbitrators only those who may have a bias on behalf of the City and/or against the accused union officer or labor union.

This new procedure would require the Director of the City's Office of Collective Bargaining to prepare a list of fifteen arbitrators selected "at random" from the approved list of the Office of Collective Bargaining. The Director would than present the first five names selected to the suspended person and Commissioner. Each will have five business days to strike a name from the list of arbitrators starting with the suspended officer. The parties shall have two business days to jointly appoint an arbitrator from the list. If the parties cannot jointly select an arbitrator, each party, starting with the suspended party, shall have two business days to strike an additional name from the list. The remaining arbitrator shall then be appointed as arbitrator and establish a schedule for the proceeding.

In the event that such arbitrator declines the appointment or is otherwise unable to accept the appointment, the Director of the Office of Collective Bargaining shall present the next five names on the list of arbitrators previously selected and the same selection procedure described above shall be used. In the event that the arbitrator from this second group declines or is otherwise unable to serve, the suspended person shall select an arbitrator from the remaining group of five names.

Section 7

Section 7 of the bill amends subdivision (b) of § 22-265 of the Code to require a wholesale trade association to report any material changes in the information required pursuant to the subdivision to the Commissioner "within thirty days thereof." The purpose of this section is to make reporting requirements uniform for all parties required to register pursuant to the chapter. See discussion of bill sections 2 and 6 above.

Section 8

Section 8 of the bill amends Chapter 1-B of title 22 of the Administrative Code of the City of New York by adding a new section 22-262.1 to provide for the seizure and forfeiture of a vehicle or other property or equipment owned, rented or leased by an employer who is not properly registered or fails to report certain information.

This provision generally mirrors the seizure and forfeiture language contained in § 22-220 of Local Law 50 of 1995, which regulates the Fulton Fish Market and other seafood distribution areas.

The concept for this provision was presented to the Council by the Administration during the course of negotiations on this bill and was added in response to their suggestion.

Section 9 of the bill amends § 22-214 of the Code, added by Local Law 50 of 1995, by numbering the existing section as subdivision (a) and by adding a new subdivision (b) to allow an employee an affirmative defense that he/she was acting within the scope of his or her employment pursuant to the instruction given by the employer in any civil or administrative proceeding against an employee for an alleged violation of Local Law 50 or any market rules. The employee would have the burden of proving that he/she was acting within the scope of his or her employment pursuant to the instruction given by the employer to successfully utilize the defense in any proceeding.

The affirmative defense, as provided in the subdivision, shall not be applicable to a violation of certain sections of this chapter: the failure to possess and/or display a required photo identification card (section 22-203), the failure to surrender an identification card when required (section 22-219(b)), overcharging for loading and unloading (sections 22-204(e) and 22-206(e)), providing loading or unloading services that the Department of Business Services provides (section 22-208(c)) and interfering with loading or unloading services (section 22-215(b)(ii) and (iii)).

Those violations are so significant to maintaining the integrity of market operations and the regulatory structure as to warrant liability even if committed at the employer's request.

It is important to note that the affirmative defense is available only with respect to civil and administrative proceedings, not criminal proceedings, and only for violations of Chapter 1-B of Title 22 of the Code and its rules. This does not preclude criminal, civil or administrative proceedings under any other provision of law.

The concept for the affirmative defense was first presented to the Council staff by the Administration during the course of negotiations on this bill and was added in response to their suggestion. This section strikes an appropriate balance between fairness to the employee and maintaining the integrity in the market's operation. This section also makes Local Laws 50 and 28 consistent.

Section 10 of the bill amends subdivision (d) of § 22-216 of Local Law 50 of 1995 to require an applicant for registration as a wholesaler or seafood deliverer within the Fulton Fish Market or other seafood distribution area to provide information to the Commissioner as to its financial responsibility to conduct the business for which such registration is required.

Currently § 22-216 requires applicants submitting a licensing proposal pursuant to Chapter 1-A (for loading and unloading businesses only) to submit information demonstrating their financial responsibility to conduct business in the market but not as to wholesalers or seafood deliverers who must be "registered" but not "licensed". A license may be withheld if the applicant is deemed not financially responsible. This provision would make the reporting of financial information applicable to an applicant for "registration" as a wholesaler or seafood deliver and allow the denial of registration for lack of financial responsibility.

The concept for this provision was presented to the Council by the Administration during the course of negotiations on this bill and was added in response to their suggestion.

Section 11

This section contains a severability clause.

Section 12

Section 12 makes the proposed legislation effective immediately.

Amendments to Int. No. 459

Section 1

The redefinition of "Officer", contained in subdivision (f) of § 22-251 of the Adm. Code, which would have limited registration of union officers to "any person holding any one of the three highest elected positions within a labor organization or union", was removed from the bill. Therefore, there is no change as to which union officers must register under the chapter.

Section 2

The new subdivision (b) of § 22-255 of the Adm. Code to expressly guarantee the right to engage in "peaceful and lawful picketing" on and in public wholesale market property "in connection with a legitimate labor dispute notwithstanding any other provisions of any lease, contract or agreement" was revised and in a more refined approach incorporated into section 3 of the current bill.

Section 3

The new subdivision (c) of § 22-258 of the Adm. Code, which would have expressly exempted employees of wholesale or market businesses from any liability for civil penalties for the failure of their employer to comply with requirements for "licensing and insuring of building, vehicles or other equipment or proper operation of the business" was removed from the bill. It has been replaced by the creation of an affirmative defense with exceptions to the availability of the defense particularized for Local Law 28 and the Fulton Fish Market. This is specifically described in the discussions of sections 5 and 9 of the current bill.

Section 4

The provision in paragraph (ii) of subdivision (a) of § 22-264 of the Adm. Code, which would have required a labor union/organization to register only once rather than every three years was removed from the bill and the three year registration cycle remains.

Section 5

Subdivision (b) of § 22-264 of the Adm. Code to allow a labor union or organization to report changes in information, required by the subdivision, within "thirty days" is now contained in section 6 of the bill.

Subdivision (c) of § 22-264 of the Adm. Code which would have amended the existing arbitration procedure to require the Commissioner to select five arbitrators "at random" from a list approved by the City's Office of Collective Bargaining when a union or labor organization officer chose to appeal a determination by the Commissioner to disqualify such officer from holding office has been amended. It is now contained in section 6 of the bill and is described in the discussion of that section above.

Fiscal Impact Statement:

	Effective FY2000	FY Succeeding Effective FY2001	Full Fiscal Impact FY2001
Revenues (+)	minimal	minimal	minimal
Expenditures (–)	minimal	minimal	minimal
Net	minimal	minimal	minimal

Impact on Revenues: This local law would not change the Department's authorization to collect the registration and associated fees to the regulation of market distribution enterprises. It is unclear whether this legislation would result in an increase or a decrease in the collection of fees or encourage more registrations.

Impact on Expenditures: The Council does not estimate any additional costs associated with the modification of these market regulations. It is assumed that the City's ongoing enforcement effort would continue to generate sufficient revenue to offset the impact of any expenditures.

Accordingly, Your Committee recommends its adoption as amended.

A LOCAL LAW to amend the administrative code of the city of New York, in relation to the regulation of public wholesale markets.

Be it enacted by the Council as follows:

Section one. Subdivision h of section 22-251 of the administrative code of the city of New York, as added by local law number 28 for the year 1997, is amended to read as follows:

h. "Public wholesale market" or "market" shall mean any building, structure or place owned by the city or located on property owned by the city or under lease to or in the possession of the city or any part of a street, avenue, parkway, plaza, square or other public place designated as a public market by resolution of the former board of estimate of the city or a local law enacted by the city council to be used or intended to be used for the wholesale buying, selling or keeping of food, flowers or ornamental plants and shall continue to be public property notwithstanding that such public wholesale market is operated pursuant to a lease or other agreement with a non-governmental entity; except that the term "public wholesale market" shall not, unless otherwise set forth in this chapter, include any building, structure or place within the fulton fish market distribution area or other seafood distribution area as defined in section 22-202 of this code. For the purposes of this chapter, the term "public wholesale market" shall also include an area identified by rule of the commissioner that is in the vicinity of a designated [wholesale] public wholesale market where one or more wholesale businesses or market businesses operate. For the purposes of this chapter, the "place of business of a wholesale business or market business" shall mean any building, structure, stall or other area, or any part thereof, within a public wholesale market that is leased, operated, managed or used exclusively by such wholesale business or market business.

§ 2. Subdivision a of section 22-253 of the administrative code of the city of New York, as added by local law number 28 for the year 1997, is amended read as follows:

a. No person shall conduct a wholesale business or a market business in a public wholesale market unless such person has registered such business with the commissioner and has obtained a registration number for such business from the commissioner. Application for such registration shall be made upon a form prescribed by the commissioner containing such information as the commissioner shall determine appropriately identifies and demonstrates the fitness of the wholesale business or market business. A registration number shall not be transferable. A person conducting a wholesale business or a market business shall not sublease or assign to another person any portion of any premises in the market occupied or utilized by such business unless such proposed sublessee or assignee has registered with and obtained a registration number from the commissioner. The commissioner shall establish by rule a procedure for the preliminary review of registration applications for businesses not previously operating in a market that are considering the purchase of a wholesale business or a market business, and for the expedited completion of registration review upon entry into a purchase and sale agreement. A business required to register pursuant to this section shall [, in accordance with rules promulgated by the commissioner pursuant to section 22-266 of this chapter,] inform the commissioner of any change in the ownership composition of the business, the arrest or criminal conviction of any principal of the business, or any other material change in the information submitted on the application for registration within thirty calendar days thereof.

§ 3. Section 22-255 of the administrative code of the city of New York, as added by local law number 28 for the year 1997, is amended to read as follows:

a. Visitor pass. The department or a designee of the department shall be authorized to issue a visitor pass as a requirement for any person to enter a public wholesale market including but not limited to: retailers who enter the market to purchase products and their employees and temporary employees; and, subject to the provisions of sections 22-264 of this chapter, officers and business agents of labor unions or organizations covered by such section and officers and business agents of the affiliates thereof, including international unions, pension and welfare funds and others. Such pass shall be in a form prescribed by the commissioner, may contain a photograph of such person and shall indicate the reason the person is visiting the market, whether such person visits the market on a regular basis or, in the event that such person does not regularly visit the market, the date for which such pass shall be valid. The commissioner may provide for the issuance of permanent visitor passes to those persons who regularly visit a market, and shall provide for the expeditious issuance of passes at the market entrance to persons wishing to enter the market on a single or occasional basis. A pass shall be in the possession of such person at all times when such person is in the market and shall be worn and visible in compliance with rules promulgated by the commissioner pursuant to section 22-266 of this chapter. The department or, at the direction of the department, a designee of the department, shall be authorized to deny a [visitor's] visitor pass and entry into a market to any person whose presence may constitute a threat to the orderly operation of a market or who has failed to provide the identifying information required by the commissioner or the designee of the commissioner. The provisions of this section shall not apply to any public wholesale market to which access by the public has routinely been permitted without control, restriction or other regulation for no less than a year directly preceding the effective date of this provision; provided, however, that the commissioner may apply such provisions upon a determination that an emergency exists that necessitates the temporary restriction of access to such a market. For the purposes of this section, a "designee of the department" shall mean an agency of the city or, in the discretion of the commissioner, a wholesaler cooperative or similar organization. Nothing in this section shall be construed to permit the denial of a visitor pass to a representative of a labor union or labor organization solely because such person seeks to engage in the lawful exercise within a public wholesale market of an activity protected under the provisions of the National Labor Relations Act, 29 U.S.C. §141 et seq., including, but not limited to, the lawful picketing of a place of business of a wholesale business or market business in connection with a legitimate labor dispute, except as may otherwise be prohibited by law. However, such person shall not impede any reasonable measure undertaken by a police officer or authorized employee of the department intended to control vehicle and pedestrian traffic within such public wholesale market or upon any street, avenue, parkway, plaza, square or other public place designated as a public market. The commissioner shall consult with the commissioner of labor relations prior to reaching any determination that an activity be a representative of a labor union or organization is not lawful under the National Labor Relations Act.

§ 4. Section 22-256 of the administrative code of the City of New York, as added by local law number 28 for the year 1997, is amended to read as follows:

§ 22-256 Fees. The commissioner shall by rule establish fees for photo identification cards, for registration and the renewal of registration, and for visitor passes issued pursuant to this chapter in amounts sufficient to compensate the city for the administrative expense of issuance of such photo identification cards, of registration and the inspections and other activities related thereto, and of issuance of visitor passes. Such rule may provide that a designee of the department perform administrative functions related to the issuance of photo identification cards or the issuance of [visitors'] visitor passes and that such designee may, with the approval of the commissioner, impose a fee for the performance of such functions. For the purposes of this section "designee of the department" shall mean an agency of the city or, in the discretion of the commissioner, a wholesaler cooperative or similar organization. Registration pursuant to this chapter shall be valid for three years. A wholesale business or a market business shall be responsible for the payment of any fee imposed by this section with respect to an employee of such business or any person seeking to become an employee of such business.

§ 5. Section 22-257 of the administrative code of the city of New York, as added by local law number 28 for the year 1997, is amended by lettering the existing section as subdivision a of such section and by adding a new subdivision b to read as follows:

b. In any civil action or administrative proceeding against an employee of a wholesale business or market business for a violation of this chapter or any rules promulgated pursuant thereto, it shall be an affirmative defense that the employee was acting within the scope of his or her employment when the action or actions constituting the alleged violation were committed and that such action or actions were committed pursuant to an instruction given to such employee by such wholesale business or market business or by any principal, officer or agent of such business, provided, however, that this subdivision shall not be applicable to a violation of section 22-252 or section 22-262 of this chapter and any rules promulgated pursuant thereto.

§ 6. Subdivisions b and c of section 22-264 of the administrative code of the city of New York, as added by local law number 28 for the year 1997, are amended to read as follows:

b. An officer of a labor union or labor organization required to be registered with the commissioner pursuant to subdivision a of this section shall inform the commissioner, on a form prescribed by the commissioner, of: (i) all criminal convictions, in any jurisdiction, of such officer; (ii) any pending civil or criminal actions to which such officer is a party; and (iii) any criminal or civil investigation by a federal, state, or local prosecutorial agency, investigative agency or regulatory agency, in the five year period preceding the date of registration pursuant to subdivision a of this section and at any time subsequent to such registration, wherein such officer has (A) been the subject of such investigation, or (B) received a subpoena requiring the production of documents or information in connection with such an investigation. Any material change in information reported pursuant to this subdivision shall be reported [forthwith] to the commissioner within thirty calendar days thereof. The commissioner may, if he or she has reasonable cause to believe that such an officer lacks good character, honesty and integrity, require that such officer be fingerprinted by a person designated by the commissioner for such purpose or by the department of investigation and pay a fee to be submitted to the division of criminal justice services and/or the federal bureau of investigation for the purpose of obtaining criminal history records.

c. The commissioner may, after notice and opportunity to be heard, disqualify an officer of a labor union or labor organization from holding office when such person: (i) has failed, by the date prescribed by the commissioner, to be fingerprinted or to provide truthful information in connection with the reporting requirements of subdivision b of this section; (ii) is the subject of a pending indictment or criminal action against such officer for a crime which bears a direct relationship to the lawful and orderly operation of the market, in which case the commissioner may defer a determination until a decision has been reached by the court before which such action is pending; (iii) has been convicted of a crime which, under the standards set forth in article 23-A of the correction law, bears a direct relationship to the lawful and orderly operation of the market, including the specific duties and responsibilities necessarily related to the union office; the bearing, if any the criminal offense or offenses will have on the fitness of the officer to perform such responsibilities; the time which has elapsed since the occurrence of the criminal offense or offenses; the seriousness of the offense or offenses; and any information produced by the person, or produced on his or her behalf, in regard to his or her rehabilitation or good conduct; (iv) has committed a racketeering activity or associated with a person who has been convicted of a racketeering activity, including but not limited to the offenses listed in subdivision one of section nineteen hundred sixty-one of the Racketeer Influenced and Corrupt Organization statute (18 U.S.C. §1961 et seq.) or of an offense listed in subdivision one of section 460.10 of the penal law, as such statutes may be amended from time to time, when the officer knew or should have known of such conviction; or (v) has associated with any member or associate of an organized crime group as identified by a federal, state or city law enforcement or investigative agency when the officer knew or should have known of the organized crime associations of such person. An officer required to disclose information pursuant to subdivision a of this section may submit to the commissioner any material or explanation which such officer believes demonstrates that such information does not reflect adversely upon the officer's good character, honesty and integrity. If the commissioner determines pursuant to this subdivision that there are sufficient grounds to disqualify a person from holding office in a labor union or labor organization, the commissioner shall suspend such person from holding office pending final determination and, in the event such person is disqualified, such suspension shall continue pending resignation or vacatur of or removal from office. Upon written request of the suspended person within ten days of the commissioner's determination, the [commissioner] director of the office of collective bargaining shall [designate five] prepare a list of the names of the first fifteen arbitrators selected at random from the [list] roster of arbitrators approved by the office of collective bargaining and present the first five names on such list to the suspended person and the commissioner. [Such suspended person shall select one arbitrator from among the five arbitrators designated by the commissioner.] Within alternating periods of five business days the suspended person and then the commissioner shall each strike a name from the list of selected arbitrators. If the parties cannot within two additional business days jointly appoint an arbitrator from those remaining on the list, the suspended person and then the commissioner shall within alternating periods of two business days each strike an additional name from the list. The remaining arbitrator shall thereupon be appointed as the arbitrator for that proceeding and shall establish a schedule for such proceeding. In the event that such arbitrator declines the appointment or for any reason is unable to accept the appointment, then the director of the office of collective bargaining shall within five business days present to the suspended person and the commissioner the next five names on the list of arbitrators previously selected at random and the procedures set forth in this subdivision for appointing an arbitrator shall be applied to this second group. In the event that the arbitrator appointed from this second group declines the appointment or for any reason is unable to accept the appointment then the director of the office of collective bargaining shall present the remaining five names from the list arbitrators selected at random and the suspended person shall select an arbitrator from such group. Such arbitrator shall make a final report and recommendations in writing concerning the disqualification. The commissioner shall accept such report and recommendations and issue his or her final determination consistent with such report and recommendations. In the event that the suspended person does not make [such] a request for arbitration within [such] the ten-day period he or she shall be disqualified from holding office. Upon receiving an order of the commissioner pursuant to this subdivision disqualifying a person from holding office in a labor union or labor organization, such person shall resign or vacate such office within fourteen days or, if such person fails to resign or vacate such office within such time period, such union or organization shall remove such person forthwith from such office. Failure of such a person to resign or vacate office within such time period shall subject such person to the penalties set forth in subdivision a of section 22-258 of this chapter. An [office-holder] officer who has been disqualified or suspended by the commissioner pursuant to the provisions of this subdivision may be excluded by the commissioner from the market. Nothing in this section shall be construed to authorize the commissioner to disqualify a labor union or labor organization from representing or seeking to represent employees of a business required to be registered pursuant to section 22-253 of this code.

§ 7. Subdivision b of section 22-265 of the administrative code of the city of New York, as added by local law number 28 for the year 1997, is amended to read as follows:

b. An officer of a wholesale trade association required to register pursuant to this section shall inform the commissioner, on a form prescribed by the commissioner, of: (i) all criminal convictions, in any jurisdiction, of such officer; (ii) any pending civil or criminal actions to which such officer is a party; and (iii) any criminal or civil investigation by a federal, state, or local prosecutorial agency, investigative agency or regulatory agency, in the five year period preceding the date of registration pursuant to subdivision a of this section and at any time subsequent to such registration, wherein such officer has (A) been the subject of such investigation, or (B) received a subpoena requiring the production of documents or information in connection with such an investigation. Any material change in information reported pursuant to this subdivision shall be reported [forthwith] to the commissioner within thirty calendar days thereof. The commissioner may, if he or she has reasonable cause to believe that such an officer of a trade association lacks good character, honesty and integrity, require that such officer be fingerprinted by a person designated by the commissioner for such and pay a fee to be submitted to the division of criminal justice for the purpose of obtaining criminal history records.

§ 8. Chapter 1-B of title 22 of the administrative code of the city of New York, as added by local law number 28 for the year 1997, is amended by adding a new section 22-262.1 to read as follows:

§ 22262.1 Seizure; forfeiture. a. Any police officer or authorized officer or employee of the department may, upon service of a notice of violation or criminal summons upon the owner or operator of a vehicle or other property or equipment, seize such vehicle or such other property or equipment which such police officer or authorized officer or employee has reasonable cause to believe is being used in connection with an act constituting a violation of subdivision a of section 22-253 of this chapter where such vehicle or other property or equipment is owned, leased or rented by a person subject to the provisions of such subdivision or such vehicle or other property or equipment is owned by a person other than an employee and is used directly by a person subject to the provisions of such subdivision. Any vehicle, property or equipment seized pursuant to this subdivision shall be delivered into the custody of the department or other appropriate agency. Where a notice of violation has been served, a hearing to adjudicate the violation underlying the seizure shall be held before the environmental control board within five business days after the seizure and such board shall render a decision within five business days after the conclusion of the hearing. Where a criminal summons has been served, a hearing to adjudicate the violation underlying the seizure shall be held before a court of competent jurisdiction. In the event that such court or the environmental control board determines that there has been no violation, the vehicle, property or equipment that was seized shall be released forthwith to the owner or any person authorized by the owner to take possession of such vehicle, property or equipment.

b. Except as otherwise provided in subdivision a of this section or where notice has been given that forfeiture will be sought pursuant to paragraph (ii) of subdivision e of this section, a vehicle or other property or equipment seized pursuant to subdivision a of this section shall be released upon payment of a fine or civil penalty imposed for the violation underlying the seizure and the costs of removal and storage as set forth in the rules of the department. Where an action or a proceeding relating to the violation underlying the seizure is pending in a court of competent jurisdiction or an administrative proceeding before the environmental control board, the vehicle or other property or equipment shall be released upon posting of a bond or other form of security sufficient to cover the maximum fine or civil penalty which may be imposed for such violation and the costs of removal and storage.

c. Where a court of competent jurisdiction or the environmental control board makes a finding that the vehicle or other property or equipment has not been used in connection with an act constituting a violation of subdivision a of section 22-253 of this chapter, the vehicle or other property or equipment shall be released forthwith to the owner or any person authorized by the owner to take possession of such vehicle, property or equipment.

d. Any vehicle or other property or equipment that has not been claimed by the owner within ten business days after mailing by first class mail to such owner of notice of a determination by a court of competent jurisdiction or by the environmental control board that there has been no violation or that the vehicle or other property or equipment was not used in connection with a violation of subdivision a of section 22-253 of this chapter shall be deemed by the department to be abandoned. Any vehicle unclaimed under the provisions of this subdivision shall be disposed of by the department pursuant to section twelve hundred twenty-four of the vehicle and traffic law. Property or equipment other than a vehicle shall be disposed of by sale at public auction following notice by publication in the city record describing such property or equipment not less than ten business days prior to such sale. Such notice shall provide that the owner may reclaim such property or equipment until a date that shall be not sooner than ten business days from the date the notice is published.

e. (i) in addition to any other fines, penalties, sanctions or remedies provided for in this chapter, a vehicle or other property or equipment which has been seized pursuant to subdivision a of this section and all rights, title and interest therein shall be subject to forfeiture upon notice and judicial determination thereof if the owner of such vehicle or other property or equipment has been found liable by a court of competent jurisdiction or the environmental control board on one or more prior occasions for using such vehicle or such other property or equipment in connection with an act constituting a violation of subdivision a of section 22-253 of this chapter.

(ii) A forfeiture proceeding may not be commenced more than ten business days after the receipt of a request by the owner for return of the vehicle, other property or equipment. If a forfeiture proceeding is not commenced within such ten day period, the property shall be returned to the owner upon payment of the fine or civil penalty imposed and the costs of removal and storage. A vehicle or other property or equipment which is the subject of such action shall remain in the custody of the department or other appropriate agency pending the final determination of the forfeiture action.

(iii) Notice of the institution of the forfeiture action shall be served by first class mail on: (a) an owner of a vehicle at the address set forth in the records maintained by the department of motor vehicles, or for vehicles not registered in New York state, in the records maintained by the state of registration; (b) all persons holding a security interest in such vehicle which security interest has been filed with the department of motor vehicles pursuant to the provisions of title ten of the vehicle and traffic law, at the address set forth in the records of such department, or for vehicles not registered in New York state, all persons who hold a security interest in such vehicle which security interest has been filed with such state of registration and which persons are made known by such state to the department at the address provided by such state of registration; and (c) for property and equipment other than a vehicle, by publication in the city record describing such property or equipment and by notice served by first class mail to the address of the person from whom such property or equipment was seized. Where such person is other than the owner of such property or equipment, notice shall be served by first class mail both to such person and to the owner of such property or equipment where such owner is known, or can by reasonable effort, be ascertained or, where such owner is not known or cannot by reasonable effort be ascertained, to the employer of the person from whom the property or other equipment was seized. Notice shall also be served by first class mail to any person who holds a security interest in such property or equipment when the name and address of such person has been provided by the owner of the property or equipment or other person from whom the property or equipment was seized, or is otherwise known or can, by reasonable effort, be ascertained.

(iv) Any owner who receives notice of the institution of a forfeiture action who wishes to claim an interest in the vehicle or other property or equipment subject to forfeiture may assert a claim in such action for the recovery of the vehicle or other property or equipment or satisfaction of the owner's interest in such vehicle or other property or equipment. Any person with a security interest in such vehicle or property or equipment who receives notice of the institution of the forfeiture action who claims an interest in such vehicle or other property or equipment may assert a claim in such action for satisfaction of such person's security interest.

Report of the Committee on Finance in favor of approving an application No. 19995079 HAX, and Urban Development Action Area Project, located 1290 Lafayette Avenue, Council District No. 17, Borough of The Bronx. This matter is subject to Council review and action pursuant to Article 16 of the New York General Municipal Law, at the request of the New York City Department of Housing Preservation and Development, and Section 577 of the Private Housing Finance Law for a partial tax exemption.

The Committee on Finance to which it was referred on November 17, 1998 (Minutes, page 3613) the annexed Land Use resolution respectfully

REPORTS:

Pursuant to Section 696 of the General Municipal Law (GML) and Section 577 of the Private Housing Finance Law, the Department of Housing Preservation and Development (HPD) requests partial property tax exemptions for properties that will provide housing for City residents as specified in the attached project summaries. These properties are developed under programs initiated by HPD. These projects, organized and operated by private not-for-profit Housing Development Fund Corporations (HDFC's) formed under Article XI may be granted exemptions from real property taxes by the local legislative body for a period of up to forty (40) years.

These properties are currently owned by the City, and thus pay no property taxes. Approval of the exemptions will result in partial tax payment on every property.

The City Council Land Use Committee has approved the disposition of the city-owned properties as Urban Development Action Area Projects.

HPD initiated TIL to encourage private ownership and management of low income housing properties and to divest the City of its in-rem stock. The City rehabilitates occupied in-rem buildings and sells them for a nominal fee of $250 per dwelling unit to Housing Development Fund Companies (HDFC) organized pursuant to Article XI of State Private Housing Finance Law (PHFL). In TIL, they are managed by tenant HDFC's as low income housing cooperatives. Tenants are subject to income restrictions pursuant to Section 576 of the PHFL. Monthly rent for such apartments is typically $80-$90 per zoning room but does not exceed 30% of a tenant's annual income.

An exemption from property taxes will be allowed for that portion of the assessed value of the property which exceeds the ceiling amount determined by HPD. The ceiling is increased annually by an amount not to exceed 6%, and cannot increase by more than 20% over 5 years. Full taxes are paid up to the ceiling amount and a total exemption is allowed on that portion of the assessed value which exceeds this amount. This ceiling level was calculated so property tax payments would be approximately 10% of a buildings' entire budget. This level would reflect other property tax exemptions made available through Federal Section 202 and Mitchell-Lama programs.

The assessed value base amount for ceiling calculations was established at $3,500 per residential unit in 1989-90. The Fiscal 2000 maximum ceiling amount has increased to $5,040, which represents property tax payments of approximately $542 for each dwelling unit.

Exemptions under this program are effective until July 1, 2029 and resale restrictions are placed on all properties pursuant to Board of Estimate Resolution 78 of 1980 as amended by Resolution 56 of 1982.

HomeWorks was created with the goal of expanding homeownership opportunities for all New Yorkers. Under this program, one to four family vacant City-owned buildings are sold to developers selected through a competitive Request for Proposals. Developers, which may be for-profit developers, not-for-profit organizations or joint ventures between them, are selected based on the extent to which their proposal minimizes the use of a City subsidy and on the overall strength and experience of their team. The developers are responsible for the construction, marketing and sale of the houses which all will contain from one to four units. Because of the programmatic objectives stabilizing communities and providing homeownership opportunities to the widest range of New Yorkers, the incomes of potential homebuyers are not restricted.

Pursuant to Section 696 of the General Municipal Law, a partial exemption from real property taxes is granted for six years. A full exemption is allowed for the first three years, and phased out in equal decrements over the following three years.

Under the Partnership New Homes Program, the NYC Partnership Housing Development Fund Company purchases vacant properties from the City for purposes of constructing one two and three family homes for purchase by moderate and middle income owners (families earning between $32,000 and $70,950).

Through an RFQ process, the City and Partnership choose a builder/developer who will arrange private financing of the project. The projects are subsidized by City Article 16 Loan Funds and State Affordable Housing Funds (averaging $10,000 and $15,000 respectively per dwelling unit), and are repaid through the mortgage on the homes and resale profits.

Pursuant to Section 696 of the General Municipal Law, a partial exemption form real property taxes is granted for twenty years. A full exemption is allowed for the first ten years, and phased out in equal decrements over the following ten years. Full taxes will be paid upon completion of the 20 year term.

The purpose of the NRP program is to convey occupied City-owned buildings throughout the City to selected not-for-profit organizations for rehabilitation and operation as rental housing. Sponsors will be selected from among the qualified not-for-profit organizations that apply to HPD through its Request for Qualifications. Following sale, the properties will undergo moderate rehabilitation with hard costs estimated to average $35,000 per DU. Resale Provisions: Conversion to cooperative ownership will be permitted after 20 years; if tax credits are used, conversion will be permitted after the tax credit term. In either case, conversion must be made under a non-eviction plan.

Pursuant to Section 577 of the Private Housing Finance Law, a partial exemption from real property taxes is granted for thirty two years. Full taxes will be paid upon completion of the 32 year term.

Accordingly, Your Committee recommends its adoption.

Res. No. 1214

Resolution approving an Urban Development Action Area Project located at 1290 Lafayette Avenue (Block 2763/Lot 190), The Bronx, and waiving the urban development action area designation requirement and the Uniform Land Use Review Procedure, pursuant to Sections 693 and 694 of the General Municipal Law (L.U. No. 281; 19995079 HAX).

By Council Members Berman, Eisland and Linares

Whereas, the New York City Department of Housing Preservation and Development ("HPD") submitted to the Council its request dated October 6, 1998 that the Council take the following actions regarding the following Urban Development Action Area Project (the "Project") located at 1290 Lafayette Avenue (Block 2763/Lot 190), Borough of The Bronx (the "Disposition Area"):

1. Find that the present status of the Disposition Area tends to impair or arrest the sound growth and development of the municipality and that the proposed Urban Development Action Area Project is consistent with the policy and purposes stated in Section 691 of the General Municipal Law;
2. Waive the area designation requirement of Section 693 of the General Municipal Law pursuant to said Section;
3. Waive the requirements of Sections 197-c and 197-d of the New York City Charter pursuant to Section 694 of the General Municipal Law;
4. Approve the Project as an Urban Development Action Area Project pursuant to Section 694 of the General Municipal Law; and
5. Approve a partial exemption of the Project from real property taxes pursuant to Section 577 of Article XI of the Private Housing Finance Law (the "Tax Exemption").

Whereas, the Project is to be developed on land that is now a municipally-owned area as defined in Section 692 of the General Municipal Law, consists solely of the rehabilitation or conservation of existing private or multiple dwellings or the construction of one to four unit dwellings, and does not require any change in land use permitted under the New York City Zoning Resolution;

Whereas, the Project description that HPD provided to the Council states that the purchaser in connection with the Sale (the "Sponsor") is a duly organized housing development fund company under Article XI of the Private Housing Finance Law;

Whereas, upon due notice, the Council held a public hearing on the Project on February 16, 2000;

Whereas, the Council has considered the land use and financial implications and other policy issues relating to the Project;

Resolved:

The Council finds that the present status of the Disposition Area tends to impair or arrest the sound growth and development of the City of New York and that a designation of the Project as an urban development action area project is consistent with the policy and purposes stated in Section 691 of the General Municipal Law.

The Council waives the area designation requirement of the Disposition Area as an urban development action area under Section 693 of the General Municipal Law pursuant to said Section.

The Council waives the requirements of Sections 197-c and 197-d of the New York City Charter pursuant to Section 694 of the General Municipal Law.

The Council approves the Project as an Urban Development Action Area Project pursuant to Section 694 of the General Municipal Law.

The Project shall be disposed of and developed upon the terms and conditions set forth in the Project Summary that HPD has submitted to the Council, a copy of which is attached hereto.

The Council approves the partial Tax Exemption as follows:

The partial tax exemption provided hereunder shall commence upon the date of conveyance of the housing project to Sponsor ("Effective Date") and shall teminate upon July 1, 2029 ("Expiration Date"); provided, however, that such partial tax exemption shall terminate if the Department of Housing Preservation and Development determines that Sponsor is not organized as a housing development fund company or that Sponsor is not operating the housing project in accordance with the requirements of Article XI of the Private Housing Finance Law.

Those portions of the property included in the housing project which are devoted to business or commercial use (collectively, "Commercial Property"), if any, shall not be eligible for real property tax exemption hereunder. The Commercial Property shall be subject to full real property taxation; provided, however, that nothing herein shall prohibit Sponsor from utilizing any abatement, exemption, or other tax benefit for which the Commercial Property would otherwise be eligible.

All of the value of the property, other than the Commercial Property, included in the housing project (collectively, "Residential Property") shall be exempt from real property taxes, other than assessments for local improvements; provided, however, that Spoinsor shall make a partial annual real estate tax payment on the Residential Property. Sponsor shall make such partial annual real estate tax payment on an assessed valuation equal to the lesser of (i) an amount equal to the full assessed valuation of the Residential Property, or (ii) an amount calculated by multiplying $3500 times the number of residential units included in the housing project and increasing such product by six percent (6%) on July 1, 1990 and on July 1 of each successive year, but not by more than twenty percent (20%) in any five-year period.

The Council finds that the present status of the Disposition Area tends to impair or arrest the sound growth and development of the City of New York and that a designation of the Project as an urban development action area project is consistent with the policy and purposes stated in Section 691 of the General Municipal Law.

The Council waives the area designation requirement of the Disposition Area as an urban development action area under Section 693 of the General Municipal Law.

The Council waives the requirements of Sections 197-c and 197-d of the New York City Charter pursuant to Section 694 of the General Municipal Law.

The Council approves the Project as an urban development action area project pursuant to Section 694 of the General Municipal Law.

The Project shall be developed in a manner consistent with the Project Summary that HPD has submitted to the Council, a copy of which is attached hereto.

The exemption of the Project from real property taxes pursuant to Section 696 of the General Municipal Law is approved as follows:

a. All of the value of the buildings, structures, and other improvements situated on the Disposition Area shall be exempt from local and municipal taxes, other than assessments for local improvements and land value, for a period of six years commencing on the July 1st following the conveyance of the Disposition Area to the Sponsor, during the last three years of which such exemption shall decrease in equal annual decrements.

b. The partial tax exemption granted hereunder shall terminate with respect to all or any portion of the Disposition Area if the Department of Housing Preservation and Development determines that such real property has not been, or is not being, developed, used, and/or operated in compliance with the requirements of all applicable agreements made by the Sponsor or the owner of such real property with, or for the benefit of, the City of New York. The Department of Housing Preservation and Development shall deliver written notice of any such determination of noncompliance to the owner of such real property and all mortgagees of record, which notice shall provide for an opportunity to cure of not less than ninety (90) days. If the noncompliance specified in such notice is not cured within the time period specified therein, the partial tax exemption granted hereunder shall prospectively terminate with respect to the real property specified therein.

Report of the Committee on General Welfare

Int. No. 354-A

Report of the Committee on General Welfare in favor of approving and adopting, as amended, a local law to amend the administrative code of the city of New York, in relation to the establishment of the transitional jobs program, a program designed to create temporary employment in the public sector and in community-based organizations, and to provide the participants of such program with education and training, career counseling, and related services, to enhance their ability to secure permanent employment after their participation in such program.

The Committee on General Welfare to which it was referred on July 15, 1998 (Minutes, page 2751) the annexed amended local law respectfully

REPORTS:

The Committee on General Welfare will meet today to consider Proposed Int. No. 354-A, a proposed local law that would create a welfare-to-work initiative called the Transitional Jobs Program (the "Program"). The Program would provide for the creation of 2,500 temporary jobs in local government agencies in the public sector and in community-based organizations for individuals who are leaving welfare or who are unemployed.

In the wake of welfare reform, thousands of New Yorkers have been removed from the welfare rolls with thousands more scheduled to be removed as statutory time limits for public assistance approach. Although the national economy is in the midst of one of its longest periods of sustained growth, New York City's local economy is experiencing a severe shortage of entry-level or low skill jobs. Many individuals on welfare, as well as the chronically unemployed, face serious barriers to employment such as lack of skills and education. The booming economy has offered these individuals little hope of permanent employment. Not surprisingly, experience has shown that without real jobs, training and support services for the unemployed and for those leaving welfare, welfare reform falls.

The Program would create 2,500 real jobs for welfare recipients and the unemployed. Along with real work experience and a work history, the Program would provide participants with the support services, such as education, job training, career counseling and childcare, that they will need to succeed in the program and to achieve self-sufficiency afterwards.

Importantly, the benefits of the Program would also reach beyond the individual participant. Unlike the Work Experience Program ("WEP"), in which individuals work for their welfare grant, participants in the Program would receive a working wage pay check. Thus, participants in the Program would also be eligible for an earned income tax credit. Since Participants would have more income to spend in their communities, the Program would have a greater and more favorable impact on the local economy than WEP. Further, the Program would allow community-based organizations and City agencies to undertake long-needed community improvement projects. Such projects would make a significant contribution to the quality of life in the City's communities as well as to the general welfare of the residents of New York City.

Throughout the United States, welfare-to-work initiatives such as the Program have achieved great success in transitioning former welfare recipients and the hard-to-employ into the workforce. Such programs enjoy wide bipartisan support. For example transitional jobs programs have been successfully established in the State of Pennsylvania, as well as the cities of Philadelphia, Detroit and other localities. Further, other cities such as Los Angeles and Miami are about to establish such programs.

Job Creation

Proposed Int. No. 354-A would add a new Chapter 5 to Title 21 of the Administrative Code (sections 21-501 through 21-511), creating the Program. The purpose of the Program would be to create temporary jobs for individuals who are leaving welfare and for the unemployed, and to provide these individuals with the support necessary to achieve success while participating in the Program, and self-sufficiency in the form of meaningful unsubsidized employment after leaving the Program. To accomplish this purpose, the legislation would create a total of 2,500 temporary jobs in the public sector and in community-based organizations. Such total number of jobs would exist for a thirty-six month period, commencing on January 1, 2001. However, each participant in the Program could only be employed for a period not to exceed twelve months. Additionally, each specific job created pursuant to the Program would be required to be retained for at least twelve months. Thus, under the best circumstances, a participant in the Program would be employed in the same job for a period of twelve months. Under the proposed legislation, an initial group of 2,500 participants would begin work on January 1, 2001 and complete their participation on December 31, 2001. A second group of 2,500 participants would begin working on January 1, 2002 and complete their participation on December 31, 2002. A final group would begin working January 1, 2003 and complete their participation on December 31, 2003. Section 21-502(a).

In establishing the period of participation in the Program as a period "not to exceed" twelve months, it is specifically not the intent of the proposed legislation to allow for a period of fewer than twelve months as the standard length of participation, but rather to allow for a participant to quit or be terminated from his/her job, like any other employee. However, while a participant may quit his/her job or be terminated, it is the intent of the proposed legislation that each participant in the Program be employed for a period of twelve months. As indicated earlier, a participant would optimally be employed in the same job for such twelve-month period.

Of the 2,500 jobs created under the Program, at least two-thirds would be in local government agencies in the public sector with the balance in community-based organizations. In order to provide jobs for participants in community-based organizations, the Mayor could issue a request for proposals or utilize any other procurement method that he or she deems necessary to select community-based organizations to provide jobs for participants. In determining which local government agencies and community-based organizations would employ participants, the commissioner (as defined in the proposed legislation) could consider, among other things, each prospective agency's or organization's experience in hiring welfare recipients or the unemployed, its experience in providing case management as required in the Program and its plans to assist participants in finding permanent employment after their participation in the Program ends. Section 21-502(c) and (d). The local government agencies and community-based organizations that are chosen to provide jobs for participants in the Program would be termed "sponsoring organizations". Section 21-501(h). Jobs created in local government agencies under the Program would, in accordance with collective bargaining laws and agreements, be accreted to appropriate existing collective bargaining units. Section 21-502(b).

Each sponsoring organization would be allotted a certain number of job slots to create. If a sponsoring organization could not create its allotted number of job slots, it could assign those slots to organizations with which it has an affiliation and which would be termed "affiliated organizations". Sections 21-501(a) and 21-505(a) and (b).

If the employees of a local government agency or community-based organization that plans to become a sponsoring organization are members of a collective bargaining unit, then the collective bargaining representatives, would be notified in writing of such plans. Section 21-509(b) and (c). Such notification would include the expected work locations of participants, job duties, approximate salaries, and the approximate number of hours to be worked.

While the commissioner is given discretion in selecting sponsoring organizations, the proposed legislation would require that any community-based organization that employs participants must certify that it has not, in the past five years, been convicted of a felony or misdemeanor regarding workplace safety, and as to all violations issued to it by the New York State Department of Labor. Section 21-505(f). A community-based organization that submits false information regarding this matter would not be permitted to be a sponsoring or affiliated organization.

Eligibility and certification

To be eligible to participate, individuals must be at least 18 years of age and be either receiving safety net or family assistance or have lost it due to welfare reform, or be unemployed. Section 21-504. Notwithstanding the above eligibility requirements, the commissioner would be required under the proposed legislation to ensure that at least 60 percent of all participants were receiving family assistance at the time of their certification and that at least 40 percent were either receiving safety net assistance or were unemployed at the time of their certification. Section 21-503(l). The commissioner would be further required to ensure that at least 50 percent of all participants faced serious barriers to employment at the time of their certification for participation in the Program. Pursuant to section 21-503 of the proposed legislation, serious barriers to employment would include either a lack of basic work skills, a high school diploma or English proficiency. Additionally, teen parents, former substance users, disabled persons, individuals with criminal records, and individuals who have HIV/AIDS, an HIV/AIDS-related illness or any other life-threatening illness would be presumed to face serious barriers to employment. Proposed Int. No. 354-A would require the commissioner to notify all recipients of family and safety net assistance of their right to apply for participation in the Program, and to request that community-based organizations and City agencies inform potential applicants about the Program. Section 21-503(3) and (4).

The commissioner would be required to establish an application procedure for participation in the program and to determine eligibility for participation. Section 21-503(2) and (5). When the commissioner determines that an individual is eligible, s/he would be required to certify that individual for participation in the Program. Section 21-503(5). Only certified individuals could apply and interview for employment at sponsoring or affiliated organizations. Individuals who obtain employment at a sponsoring or affiliated organization would be termed "participants". Section 21-501(g).

Participation

Certified individuals could apply for open jobs at sponsoring or affiliated organizations. However, certification would not be a guarantee of a job. To ensure that participants receive real job experience, certified individuals would have to apply, interview, compete and be hired for the open jobs. The decision to hire a certified individual would be solely with the sponsoring or affiliated organization.

In addition to being responsible for hiring participants (section 21-505(a)), the sponsoring agencies would be required to provide "case management" to participants. 21-502(f). Case management would include, but not be limited to, support services such as education, training, career counseling and assistance with childcare, and its purpose would be to ensure success while participating in the Program and in finding permanent employment and achieving self-sufficiency afterwards. Section 21-501(b). At the time an applicant is certified, the commissioner would be required to assess the applicant's case management needs. Once a certified individual obtains employment in a sponsoring or affiliated organization, s/he would be required to receive appropriate case management. Only sponsoring organizations, not affiliated organizations, would be responsible for providing case management to participants (section 21-505(c)), and the commissioner would be required to ensure that case management is being provided appropriately and effectively. Section 21-503(7).

Participation in the Program would be limited to 12 months. Section 21-506(a). Participants would be considered employees "for purposes of the City's Human Rights and Collective Bargaining Laws and any other applicable laws, unless otherwise prohibited by law." Section 21-506(f). Participants who are not members of a collective bargaining unit would receive a minimum salary equal to 50 percent of the Lower Level Standard Income Level as established annually by the U.S. Department of Labor and the New York State Department of Labor for the New York City area based on a 30 hour workweek in full year employment for a family of three (currently, approximately $7.56/hour), but never less than other employees performing comparable work for the sponsoring or affiliated organization in which a participant is employed. Section 21-506(b). Participants would also be allowed an average of 8 hours per week to attend work-related training or education sessions. Section 21-506(e).

For participants who are not members of a collective bargaining unit, the proposed legislation would require the commissioner to establish a grievance procedure and to provide for a prompt hearing and resolution of a participant's grievance. Section 21-507.

Employee displacement

To ensure that no permanent employees of sponsoring or affiliated organizations lose their jobs as a result of the Program, the proposed legislation would provide strong displacement protections for such employees. Section 21-509. For example, a certified individual could not be hired for a job if s/he would displace a current employee of that individual's prospective employer. Similarly, a certified individual could not be hired if another regular employee is available for reinstatement after a layoff or approved leave of absence.

Reporting requirements

The proposed legislation would require the commissioner to report to the Mayor and the Council on a variety of issues regarding the Program including, but not limited to, the names and descriptions of all the sponsoring and affiliated organizations, the number of certified individuals and participants in the Program, an analysis of the impact of the Program on the permanent workforce, a summary of case management services provided, the number of participants who secured permanent employment after participation, the local economic impact of the Program, an estimate of the tax revenues received by federal, state and local governments, and the cost of the Program. Section 21-508.

Effective date.

This local law shall take effect immediately.

Fiscal Impact Statement:

	Effective FY 2001	Succeeding FY 2002	Fiscal Impact FY 2001-2004
State and Federal Revenues (+)	$8,568,954	$17,137,908	$51,413,724
Gross Expenditures (–)	($10,161,210)	($20,322,420)	($60,967,260)
Net Impact (–) City Contribution	($1,592,256)	($3,184,512)	($9,553,536)

Impact on Revenues and Expenditures: Estimated impacts on revenue and expense are derived by comparing the overall costs of the transitional jobs program with those currently spent on workfare participation in the City's Work Experience Program (WEP).

In fiscal year 2001 the transitional jobs program would result in approximately $8.5 million in additional State and federal revenue and $10.1 million in gross costs, leaving a net impact of $1.5 million in City tax levy funds. In the succeeding fiscal year, fiscal 2002, the transitional jobs program would result in $17 million in additional State and federal revenue and $20.3 million in gross costs, leaving a net impact of $3.1 million in City tax levy funds. Cumulatively, over the four-year implementation period, the transitional jobs program would result in approximately $51.4 million in additional State and federal revenue and $60.9 million in gross costs, leaving a net impact of $9.5 million in City tax levy funds.

Finally, unlike WEP participants, participants in the transitional jobs program would benefit from State and federal EITC programs. As the City does not contribute to the costs of EITC programs, these costs are not reflected in the fiscal impact. It should be noted though that participants would receive approximately $16.3 million in EITC benefits over the entire implementation period. When EITC benefits are accounted for the following income levels have been derived. A single participant would earn approximately $14,175 over the twelve-month period. A household of two (parent and one child) would earn approximately $16,546 over the twelve month period. A household of three (parent and two children) would earn approximately $18,254 over the twelve month period as would a household of four (parent with three children).

Accordingly, Your Committee recommends its adoption as amended.

A LOCAL LAW to amend the administrative code of the city of New York, in relation to the establishment of the transitional jobs program, a program designed to create temporary employment in the public sector and in community-based organizations, and to provide the participants of such program with education and training, career counseling, and related services, to enhance their ability to secure permanent employment after their participation in such program.

Be it enacted by the Council as follows:

Section 1. Legislative findings and intent. The City Council finds and declares that in the aftermath of federal welfare reform, thousands of new jobs are needed in New York City in order to employ those welfare recipients now required to work. Since New York City has a large number of people seeking new jobs, and since the City's communities need additional services that these job-seekers can provide, a welfare-to-work program that will create new, temporary jobs in the public sector and in community-based organizations, and provide individuals with education and training, career counseling, and related services will represent both an investment in human capital and in the vitality of this City.

Many individuals who need to make the transition from welfare to the work force face serious barriers to securing and maintaining successful employment, including a lack of marketable skills, education, work experience, and affordable childcare. A welfare-to-work program that offers a real work experience, pays a living wage, and provides health and childcare benefits, along with meaningful education and training, can be instrumental in successfully moving people from welfare to the work force in a manner that increases their long-term employability and self-sufficiency.

Accordingly, the City Council finds that a welfare-to-work program known as the transitional jobs program should be established in New York City. The transitional jobs program will create temporary jobs in the public sector and in community-based organizations, and will provide participants of the program with education and training, career counseling, and related services. The provision of support services will significantly increase a participant's chances of securing and maintaining permanent employment after his or her participation in the program. In addition, the creation of new jobs in the public sector and in community-based organizations will help address the unmet needs of many communities throughout the City.

§ 2. Title 21 of the administrative code of the city of New York is amended by adding a new chapter five to read as follows:

"Sponsoring organization" shall mean a local government agency or community-based organization selected by the commissioner to employ or facilitate the employment of certified individuals, and to provide case management to participants, provided, however, that nothing shall preclude a sponsoring organization from being a public, non-profit corporation created pursuant to applicable New York state law.

i. "Transitional jobs program" shall mean a program designed to create temporary employment in the public sector and in community-based organizations, and to provide the participants of such program with education and training, career counseling, and related services, to enhance their ability to secure permanent employment after their participation in such program.

a. The mayor shall direct the commissioner to establish a transitional jobs program, which shall consist of a total of two thousand five hundred temporary jobs in the public sector and in community-based organizations, at least two-thirds of which shall be created within local government agencies in the public sector. Such total number of two thousand five hundred temporary jobs shall exist for a period of thirty-six months, commencing on January first, two thousand one; provided, however, that each participant in the transitional jobs program shall only be employed by a sponsoring or affiliated organization for a period not to exceed twelve months, and that each specific job created pursuant to the transitional jobs program shall be retained for at least twelve months. An initial group of two thousand five hundred participants shall commence employment on January first, two thousand one. A second group of two thousand five hundred participants shall commence employment on January first, two thousand two, and a final group of two thousand five hundred participants shall commence employment on January first, two thousand three.

b. The jobs created in local government agencies pursuant to this chapter shall, consistent with applicable collective bargaining laws and agreements, be accreted to appropriate existing collective bargaining units.

c. In implementing the transitional jobs program, the mayor shall direct the commissioner to select which local government agencies shall be sponsoring organizations. In making such determination, the commissioner may work in cooperation with the commissioners of other local government agencies and may, consistent with obligations under collective bargaining laws and agreements, consult with the heads of collective bargaining organizations, and may consider each prospective agency's prior experience hiring welfare recipients and the unemployed, its prior experience assisting such individuals in finding jobs, its prior experience providing education and training, career counseling, and related services to its employees, its plans to address or fulfill the needs of communities throughout the city of New York, its plans to employ or facilitate the employment of certified individuals, its plans to provide case management to participants, and its plans to assist in the permanent placement of participants following their participation in the transitional jobs program.

d. In meeting the goal of placing participants in community based organizations pursuant to this chapter, the mayor may direct the commissioner to issue a request for proposals or to utilize any other procurement method that he or she deems necessary to select community-based organizations to become sponsoring organizations. To determine which community-based organizations shall become sponsoring organizations, the commissioner may consider an organization's prior experience hiring welfare recipients and the unemployed, its prior experience assisting such individuals in finding jobs, its prior experience providing education and training, career counseling, and related services to its employees, its plans to address or fulfill the needs of communities throughout the city of New York, its plans to employ or facilitate the employment of certified individuals, its plans to provide case management to participants, and its plans to assist in the permanent placement of participants following their participation in the transitional jobs program. Where the employees of a community-based organization that has been selected to become a sponsoring or affiliated organization are members of a collective bargaining unit, such collective bargaining unit shall, consistent with applicable collective bargaining laws and agreements, have the opportunity to comment on such selection. The commissioner shall respond to such comments with fifteen days of their receipt.

e. Each sponsoring or affiliated organization may employ any certified individual, and employment with a sponsoring or affiliated organization shall be for a period not to exceed twelve months.

f. The sponsoring organizations shall provide each participant with the necessary case management to enable the participant to succeed in the transitional jobs program, build his or her job skills, and enhance his or her chances of securing permanent employment after participating in the transitional jobs program.

§ 21-503 Powers and duties of the commissioner. Except as otherwise provided by law, the commissioner shall have the power and it shall be the commissioner's duty to perform the following functions and duties relating to the transitional jobs program:

1. To ensure that at least sixty percent of all participants were receiving family assistance at the time of their certification, and that at least forty percent of all participants were either receiving safety net assistance, were unemployed for at least six months or had exhausted their unemployment insurance at the time of their certification. The commissioner shall also ensure that at least fifty percent of all participants faced serious barriers to employment or were participating in the work experience program at the time of their certification. Serious barriers to employment shall include, but not be limited to, a lack of basic work-related skills, a high school diploma or English proficiency. In addition, any person who is either a teen parent, a former substance user, disabled, homeless or a victim of domestic violence, or any person who has a criminal record, HIV/AIDS or an HIV/AIDS-related illness or any other life-threatening illness shall be presumed to face serious barriers to employment;

2. To establish an application procedure for those individuals seeking to participate in the transitional jobs program;

3. To request that community-based organizations and all local government agencies, including private industry councils, social services intake centers and unemployment offices, publicize the existence of the transitional jobs program to those individuals who may be eligible to participate in such program;

4. To notify recipients of family assistance and safety net assistance of their right to apply for participation in the transitional jobs program;

5. To certify eligible individuals for participation in the transitional jobs program, to promptly notify such certified individuals of their certification in writing, and to establish a list of all certified individuals for use by the sponsoring organizations;

6. To develop an assessment formula to evaluate the job skills, the prior work and educational experience and the case management needs of each certified individual, and to provide such information to the appropriate sponsoring organization;

7. To ensure that the sponsoring organizations provide each participant with the necessary case management to help the participant to succeed in the transitional jobs program, build his or her job skills, and enhance his or her chances of securing permanent employment after participating in the transitional jobs program;

8. To ensure that participants are informed of their eligibility to receive state and federal earned income tax credit and are offered assistance in applying for advance payment of such credit;

9. To ensure that each community-based organization is in compliance with section 21-505(g) of this chapter, and to further ensure that a community-based organization that submits false information under section 21-505(g) of this chapter shall not be permitted to be a sponsoring or affiliated organization in the transitional jobs program; and

10. To ensure that the powers and duties of the commissioner as set forth in this section are carried out by public employees.

§ 21-504 Eligibility criteria. A certified individual must be eighteen years of age or older and must either (i) be receiving family assistance or safety net assistance; (ii) have lost his or her aid to families with dependent children, home relief, family assistance or safety net assistance as a result of the Personal Responsibility and Work Opportunity Reconciliation Act of 1996 or state implementing law; or (iii) have been unemployed for a period of at least six months or have either been denied unemployment insurance or exhausted his or her unemployment insurance benefits.

§ 21-505 Duties of the sponsoring and affiliated organization.

a. The sponsoring organization shall create positions for participants that are comparable to the positions of other employees in such organization. In creating such positions, the sponsoring organization shall consider the responsibilities associated with a particular position and the participant's training and prior work experience.

b. In those cases where the sponsoring organization is unable to provide a certified individual with an appropriate position, such sponsoring organization shall facilitate employment with an affiliated organization in a position comparable to the positions of other employees in such affiliated organization. In providing such a position, the affiliated organization shall consider the responsibility associated with a particular position and such certified individual's training and work experience.

c. The sponsoring organization shall provide case management to participants employed by such organization or by such organization's affiliated organization. The affiliated organization shall not be responsible for providing case management to the participant.

d. Neither a sponsoring nor an affiliated organization may place a certified individual in a position with a for-profit employer.

e. A community-based organization that is a trade union may only place certified individuals in apprenticeship and pre-apprenticeship programs that are offered by such trade unions.

f. A community-based organization shall certify to the commissioner that such organization has not, in the past five years, been convicted of a felony or a misdemeanor the underlying basis of which involved workplace safety and health or labor standards. Such community-based organization shall also certify to the commissioner as to all violations issued by the New York state department of labor. A community-based organization that submits false information under this subdivision shall not be permitted to be a sponsoring or affiliated organization in the transitional jobs program.

a. Participation in the transitional jobs program shall be for a period not to exceed twelve months.

b. A participant who is not a member of a collective bargaining unit shall receive a salary of not less than fifty percent of the Lower Living Standard Income Level (LLSIL), as established annually by the United States department of labor and adjusted by the New York state department of labor for the New York city area using the New York city area LLSIL hourly rate based on a thirty-hour workweek in full-year employment for a family of three. Notwithstanding such minimum salary requirement, a participant may not be compensated at a rate of pay that is less than that of other employees of the sponsoring or affiliated organization employing such participant, who are performing the same or comparable work.

c. A participant who is not a member of a collective bargaining unit shall be entitled to the same paid holidays and benefits permissible by law as other employees of the sponsoring or affiliated organization employing such participant, who are performing the same or comparable work.

d. A participant who is a member of a collective bargaining unit shall, consistent with collective bargaining laws and agreements, receive, at a minimum, the salary and benefits provided for in subdivisions b, c and e of this section, provided however, that such subdivisions shall not be construed to limit the collective bargaining unit's right to negotiate more favorable wages and/or any other terms and conditions of employment.

e. A participant shall work the standard work hours required by the sponsoring or affiliated organization which employs such participant, except that in no instance shall a participant be required to work more than forty hours per week. A participant shall be excused, when necessary, for up to an average of eight hours per week from their scheduled work hours to participate in adult education, job training, and job readiness or placement services. The sponsoring organization shall prepare the participant's work schedule and may allocate additional hours during any work week to be spent on adult education, job training, and job readiness or placement services, so long as over the course of the participant's employment, no more than an average of eight hours per week is allocated to these activities. A participant shall be compensated as set forth in subdivision b of this section when such participant engages in adult education, job training, or job readiness and placement services as provided for in this subdivision.

f. A participant shall be considered an employee for purposes of the city's human rights and collective bargaining laws and any other applicable local laws, unless otherwise prohibited by law; provided, however, that nothing herein shall limit the participant's rights under any applicable federal or state law. In implementing the transitional jobs program, the mayor or his or her designee, shall take any necessary and/or appropriate actions to classify participants employed by local government agencies in accordance with all applicable civil service laws and consistent with the purposes of this chapter.

§ 21-507 Grievance procedure. The commissioner shall establish and maintain a grievance procedure for the filing and resolution of complaints by participants who are not members of a collective bargaining unit. Such grievance procedure shall provide for a hearing within twenty business days after the filing of a participant's complaint. The commissioner shall notify the participant of the date, time, and place of the hearing within five business days after the filing of such compliant. The commissioner may attempt to informally resolve any complaint prior to the hearing, but any such attempt shall not delay the date of the hearing, unless a participant specifically consents in writing to a postponement of such hearing. A written decision shall be issued within ten business days after the hearing. Nothing in this section shall be construed to limit the right of any participant, including a participant who is a member of a collective bargaining unit or a participant represented by a designated employee spokesperson, from pursuing other available remedies under any applicable collective bargaining agreement, or any federal, state or local law.

§ 21-508 Reports to the mayor and city council. On April first of the years two thousand two, two thousand three, and two thousand four, the commissioner shall issue a report to the mayor and the city council evaluating the program. The report shall include, but not be limited to:

1. The name and description of each sponsoring and affiliated organization, and a summary of each organization's accomplishments;

2. The total number of certified individuals and participants in the transitional jobs program;

3. An analysis of the impact of the transitional jobs program on the permanent workforce within each sponsoring or affiliated organization, including, but not limited to, a change in the number of non-participant employees, the number of hours worked by non-participant employees, the amount of overtime required of non-participant employees, the number of promotions awarded to non-participant employees and the amount of wages earned by non-participant employees;

4. The average length of time a participant is employed.

5. A summary of the education and training, career counseling and related services provided to participants;

6. The number and percentage of participants who were able to secure permanent employment after their participation in the transitional jobs program, and their wage and benefit levels;

7. The estimated dollar value of the jobs created by the transitional jobs program;

8. The estimated local economic impact of the jobs created by the transitional jobs program;

9. The estimated savings by federal, state and local governments as a result of reductions in social services and public assistance benefits that would otherwise have been provided to a participant and his or her family were it not for his or her participation in the transitional jobs program;

10. The estimated tax revenues received by federal, state and local governments from participants;

11. The estimated state and federal earned income tax credit received by participants;

12. An analysis of the impact of the transitional jobs program on the overall welfare of participants and their families;

13. The amount of funds appropriated and expended on the administration of the transitional jobs program; and

14. Whether the transitional jobs program has met the criteria established by the United States health and human services department for participation in the welfare bonus program in order to receive bonus funding available to selected states that successfully place welfare recipients in jobs as provided for by the Personal Responsibility and Work Opportunity Reconciliation Act of 1996.

§ 21-509 Displacement of employees.

a. A certified individual may be employed by a sponsoring or affiliated organization only if:

1. such employment would not result in (i) the displacement of any currently employed worker or the loss of a position (including partial displacement such as reduction in the hours of non-overtime work, wages or employment benefits) or the impairment of existing contracts for services or collective bargaining agreements; (ii) any infringement of the promotional opportunities of any current employees; (iii) the performance, by such certified individual, of a substantial portion of the work ordinarily and actually performed by regular employees; or (iv) the loss of a bargaining unit position as a result of a participant performing, in part or in whole, the work normally performed by a regular employee;

2. such employment is not at any work site at which regular employees are on a legal strike or are being subjected to lock out by the sponsoring or affiliated organization;

3. no other regular employee is available for reinstatement, recall or reemployment following an approved leave of absence, furlough, layoff or suspension from the same or substantially equivalent job; or

4. the sponsoring or affiliated organization has not terminated the employment of any regular employee or otherwise reduced its workforce with the effect of filling the vacancy or vacancies so created with certified individuals.

b. Community-based organizations who are awarded contracts to become a sponsoring organization shall at the time of award provide written notification to its employees' collective bargaining representatives, if any, regarding such plan. The notice shall include, at a minimum, the participants' expected work locations, job duties, approximate salaries, and the approximate number of hours to be worked.

c. Local government agencies planning to enter into an agreement with the department to become a sponsoring organization shall provide written notification to its employees' collective bargaining representatives, if any, regarding such plan. The notice shall include, at a minimum, the participants' expected work locations, job duties, approximate salaries, and the approximate number of hours to be worked.

§ 21-510 Rules. The commissioner shall make and promulgate such rules and regulations as are necessary to carry out the provisions of this chapter.

§ 21-511 Severability. If any section, subsection, sentence, clause, phrase or other portion of this local law is, for any reason, declared unconstitutional or invalid, in whole or in part, by any court of competent jurisdiction such portion shall be deemed severable, and such unconstitutionality or invalidity shall not affect the validity of the remaining portions of this law, which remaining portions shall continue in full force and effect.

Reports of the Committee on Governmental Operations

Int. No. 316-A

Report of the Committee on Governmental Operations in favor of approving and adopting, as amended, a local law to amend the administrative code of the city of New York in relation to the establishment of a grievance procedure for participants in the city's work experience program.

The Committee on Governmental Operations to which it was referred on May 21, 1998 (Minutes, page 1578) the annexed amended local law respectfully

REPORTS:

Participants in the New York City's Work Experience Program ("WEP") have not been given the opportunity to informally resolve disputes with the sponsoring agency prior to the reporting of an alleged failure or refusal to comply with program requirements to the local social services district. Proposed Int. No. 316-A establishes a grievance procedure to ensure that WEP participants are permitted to address grievances that may arise out of their work assignments and to provide the opportunity to have these grievances resolved within the sponsoring agency in an expeditious and just manner.

By omitting direct regulation of local sponsoring agencies in New York State Social Services Law, the State Legislature recognized the strong local interest in designing alternatives not specifically provided by State Law, in order to meet the needs of the local community. The purpose of Proposed Int. No. 316-A is to meet the legitimate local interests of New York City in providing for WEP participants to informally resolve disputes that may arise with local sponsoring agencies, prior to the involvement of the local social services district.

The New York City Human Resources Administration ("HRA") pursuant to New York State Social Services Law §341, has established a conciliation procedure for individuals who are alleged to have violated work activities requirements and a procedure to resolve other disputes related to participation in work activities. However, this State-mandated procedure for individuals who are alleged to have violated work activities requirements does not provide a means for participants and sponsoring agencies to resolve such disputes at the level of the sponsoring agency prior to involvement of the social services district. Proposed Int. No. 316-A establishes such a grievance procedure which neither overlaps with nor directly affects the procedures established by HRA pursuant to New York State law and regulations.

The grievance procedure established in Proposed Int. No. 316-A is applicable to all sponsoring agencies and WEP participants.

Grievance Procedure

Proposed Int. No. 316-A establishes a three step grievance procedure:

Step 1 — A participant's grievance shall be made verbally or in writing to his or her Step 1 supervisor not later than five (5) days after the act or omission complained of. The participant and the supervisor shall work together to resolve the dispute and higher level supervisors may be called in the help with the resolution process. A written decision shall be given to the participant within five working days after the grievance was presented to the participant's Step 1 supervisor.

Step 2 — Within seven working days after the participant has received a copy of the Step 1 written decision, the participant may appeal the decision verbally or in writing by requesting a discussion of the grievance with the sponsoring agency WEP coordinator. The participant and the sponsoring agency WEP coordinator shall work jointly for a mutually satisfactory resolution of the grievance. A written determination of the appeal shall be given to the participant three working days after the appeal has been made.

Step 3 — If a grievance is not resolved at Step 2 to the satisfaction of the participant, the participant may appeal the decision verbally or in writing to the social services district pursuant to New York State Social Services Law § 341.

The bill also provides that a participant grieving a work assignment or working conditions shall continue to work at their assigned sponsoring agency. If the grievance involves a claim that the assignment or condition is injurious to the participant's health or safety or that it exceeds his or her medical limitations, the sponsoring agency shall reassign the participant to a work assignment that is not injurious to the participant's health or safety or their claimed medical limitations. At any stage of the grievance procedure established by Proposed Int. No. 316-A, a participant shall have the right to representation by legal counsel, or by a relative, friend, or other spokesperson, or may represent him or herself.

New York State Social Services Law § 341

A participant may elect to pursue a grievance pursuant to proposed Int. No. 316-A prior to the initiation of conciliation under New York State Social Services Law § 341. The sponsoring agency shall notify each participant orally and in writing at the start of each work assignment of the participant's rights and responsibilities under this procedure, including the right to resolve grievances under such procedure prior to the initiation of conciliation under New York State Social Services Law § 341. The name, work address, telephone number of and locations to submit a grievance to the participant's Step 1 supervisor and the sponsoring agency WEP coordinator shall also be provided at the start of each work assignment.

Notification to the Office of Employment Services

The sponsoring agency shall not notify the Office of the Employment Services ("OES") or any other designee of the local services district of an alleged failure to comply with program or work activities requirements by the participant unless and until the Step 1 supervisor or a higher-level supervisor first notifies the participant orally and in writing that the agency intends to do so and why, and then only after completion of the Step 1 and 2 procedures. Nothing herein shall limit the authority of the sponsoring agencies except as provided herein. This authority shall include the notification to OES of any other alleged failure to comply.

In the event there is an alleged failure by a participant to comply with a program or work activities requirement and no grievance is submitted during the appropriate time period, then the sponsoring agency may notify OES.

Supportive Services

Each sponsoring agency must provide work-related materials, safety equipment, clothing (including uniforms, footwear, outerwear and inclement weather gear), tools and other equipment necessary for a participant to perform his or her assignment in a safe, appropriate and efficient manner.

Failure of the sponsoring agency to comply with providing such supportive services shall be grievable.

Definitions

Proposed Int. No. 316-A defines the following terms:

a) "Participant" shall mean an applicant for or recipient of family assistance or safety net assistance who volunteers for or who has been required to participate in the Work Experience Program.

b) "Sponsoring Agency" shall mean a public agency or a private non-profit or for-profit organization providing an employment related activity(ies) or service(s) to a social services district or the department of social services through contract or agreement.

c) "Terms and conditions of work" shall encompass hours of work, transportation, training, health, safety, alleged failure to comply with program or work activities requirements, and any and all other terms and conditions of work for participants.

d) "Grievance" shall mean:

i. a dispute between a sponsoring agency and one or more WEP participants concerning any terms and conditions of work; or

ii. a claimed violation, misinterpretation or misapplication of the rules or regulations of a sponsoring agency affecting the terms and conditions of work;

e) "Work Experience Program" or "WEP" shall mean the program established by New York City pursuant to and governed by Title 9-B of the New York State Social Services Law Section 336-c and implementing regulations under which individuals receiving family assistance or safety net assistance who are assigned to the work experience program are required to work for a specified number of hours per week in a government or private not-for-profit or for-profit agency in order to maintain their eligibility for continued public assistance.

f) "Step 1 supervisor" shall mean the participant's immediate supervisor, unless the participant's immediate supervisor is represented for purposes of collective bargaining, in which case the sponsoring agency shall designate a supervisor who is not represented for purposes of collective bargaining to hear and resolve Step 1 grievances.

Severability

Should any provision or application of Proposed Int. No. 316-A be determined to be unlawful or unenforceable, all other provisions and applications of such proposed local law shall nevertheless continue in full force and effect.

Effective Date

Proposed Int. No. 316-A shall take effect immediately.

Fiscal Impact Statement:

	Effective FY00	FY Succeeding Effective FY01	Full Fiscal Impact FY01

Impact on Revenues: This legislation would have no impact on revenues.

Impact on Expenditures: It is anticipated that the impact of this legislation on expenditures would be minimal, as the proposed legislation only establishes an informal procedure for addressing and resolving disputes between a WEP participant and his or her sponsoring agency.

Accordingly, Your Committee recommends its adoption, as amended.

A LOCAL LAW to amend the administrative code of the city of New York in relation to the establishment of a grievance procedure for participants in the city's work experience program.

Be it enacted by the Council as follows:

Section 1. Declaration of Legislative Findings and Intent. The Council finds that certain recipients of public subsidies under the Family Assistance and Safety Net Assistance programs assigned by the city of New York to its Work Experience Program ("WEP") are required to work a specified number of hours each week in order to maintain their eligibility for continued public assistance. The Council further finds that WEP participants have not consistently been provided with appropriate terms and conditions of work. For example, participants have not consistently been provided with proper equipment and appropriate gear, such as, but not limited to: gloves, safety goggles, and proper clothing to protect them from the elements. In addition, participants have not consistently been given the opportunity to informally resolve disputes with the sponsoring agency prior to the reporting of alleged failure or refusal to comply with program requirements to the local social services district. The Council therefore believes that a grievance procedure must be codified to ensure that WEP participants are permitted to address grievances that may arise out of their work assignments and to provide the opportunity to have these grievances resolved within the sponsoring agency in an expeditious and just manner.

The Council finds that the conciliation provision of New York State Social Services Law and its implementing regulations do not address efforts by participants and sponsoring agencies to resolve disputes at the level of the sponsoring agency prior to involvement of the social services district. The Council further finds that the State Social Services Law expresses no need for state-wide uniformity in the administration of local Public Assistance Employment Programs. Rather, by omitting direct regulation of local sponsoring agencies, the State Legislature recognized the strong local interest in designing alternatives not specifically provided by state law, in order to meet the needs of the local community. The purpose of this local law is therefore to meet the legitimate local interest of the city of New York in providing a mechanism for its residents who are participants in WEP to informally resolve disputes that may arise with local sponsoring agencies, prior to the involvement of the local social services district.

The Council recognizes that, pursuant to New York State Social Services Law § 341, the New York City Human Resources Administration ("HRA") has established a conciliation procedure for individuals who are alleged to have violated work activities requirements and a procedure to resolve other disputes related to participation in work activities. However, the Council finds that the state-mandated procedure for individuals who are alleged to have violated work activities requirements does not provide a means for participants and sponsoring agencies to resolve such disputes at the level of the sponsoring agency prior to involvement of the social services district. The Council further finds that the HRA procedure to resolve disputes related to participation in work activities, to the extent it provides for sponsoring agency participation, is not enforceable by participants, and was not established pursuant to any powers or duties assigned or delegated to the HRA by the State of New York. Thus, the grievance procedure established by this local law neither overlaps with nor directly affects the procedures established by HRA pursuant to New York State law and regulations.

For all the foregoing reasons, the Council finds that the grievance procedure established by this local law is well within the powers of the Council under New York State Municipal Home Rule Law and the Charter of the City of New York.

§ 2. Title 21 of the administrative code of the city of New York is amended to add a new chapter 5 to read as follows:

Chapter 5

Work Experience Program Grievance Procedure

§ 21-501 Definitions. As used in this chapter:

"Work Experience Program" or "WEP" shall mean the program established by New York City pursuant to and governed by Title 9B of the New York State social services law section 336c and implementing regulations, under which individuals receiving family assistance or safety net assistance who are assigned to the work experience program are required to work for a specified number of hours per week in a government or private not-for-profit or for-profit agency in order to maintain their eligibility for continued public assistance.

f. "Step 1 supervisor" means the participants immediate supervisor, unless the participant's immediate supervisor is represented for purposes of collective bargaining, in which case the sponsoring agency shall designate a supervisor who is not represented for purposes of collective bargaining to hear and resolve Step 1 grievances.

*a. The following procedure shall be established in order to allow for the timely resolution of grievances. A participant may elect to pursue a grievance pursuant to this chapter prior to the initiation of conciliation under § 341 of New York State social services law. The sponsoring agency shall notify each participant orally and in writing at the start of each work assignment of the participant's rights and responsibilities under this procedure, including the right to resolve grievances under such procedure prior to the initiation of conciliation under § 341 of New York State social services law, and of the name, work address, telephone number of and locations to submit a grievance to the participant's Step 1 supervisor and the sponsoring agency WEP coordinator. The sponsoring agency shall not notify the office of employment services ("OES") or any other designee of the local social services district of an alleged failure to comply with program or work activities requirements by the participant unless and until the Step 1 supervisor or a higher-level supervisor first notifies the participant orally and in writing that the agency intends to do so and why, and then only after completion of the procedure set forth in Steps 1 and 2. In the event there is an alleged failure by a participant to comply with a program or work activity requirement and no grievance is submitted during the time period set forth below, then the sponsoring agency may notify OES. Nothing herein shall limit the authority of the sponsoring agencies except as provided herein.

b. General Procedure.

i. Step 1. A participant's grievance shall be made verbally or in writing to his or her step 1 supervisor not later than five (5) working days after the act or omission complained of. Discussion and consideration of the grievance may be assisted by a higher level supervisor(s), who may be called in to help with the resolution process. The participant and the supervisor(s) shall work together to resolve the dispute to the satisfaction of both the participant and the sponsoring agency. The grievance shall be considered and passed upon in writing within five (5) working days after it has been presented to the participant's step 1 supervisor. A copy of the written decision shall be given to the participant.

ii. Step 2. If a grievance is not resolved at step 1 to the satisfaction of the participant, within seven (7) working days after the participant has received a copy of the written decision rendered in step 1, the participant may appeal the initial decision verbally or in writing by requesting a discussion of the grievance with the sponsoring agency WEP coordinator. The participant and the sponsoring agency WEP coordinator shall work jointly for a mutually satisfactory resolution of the grievance. The appeal shall be considered and passed upon in writing within three (3) working days after the appeal has been made. A copy of the determination of the appeal shall be given to the participant.

iii. Step 3. If a grievance is not resolved at step 2 to the satisfaction of the participant, the participant may appeal the decision verbally or in writing to the social services district pursuant to social services law § 341.

*c. A participant grieving a work assignment or working conditions shall continue to work at their assigned sponsoring agency. If the grievance involves a claim that the assignment or condition is injurious to the participant's health or safety or that it exceeds his/her medical limitations, the sponsoring agency shall reassign the participant to a different work assignment that is not injurious to the participant's health or safety or claimed medical limitations.

d. At any stage of the grievance procedure established by this chapter, a participant shall have the right to representation by legal counsel, or by a relative, friend, or other spokesperson, or may represent him or herself.

§ 21-504. Supportive Services. Each sponsoring agency must provide such work-related materials, safety equipment, clothing (including uniforms, footwear, outerwear and inclement weather gear), tools and other equipment necessary in order for a participant to perform his or her assignment in a safe, appropriate and efficient manner.

Failure of the sponsoring agency to comply with this provision shall be grievable under this chapter.

Int. No. 450-A

Report of the Committee on Governmental Operations in favor of approving and adopting, as amended, a local law to amend the charter of the city of New York in relation to a system to distribute voter registration forms at certain agencies.

The Committee on Governmental Operations to which it was referred on October 8, 1998 (Minutes, page 3338) the annexed amended local law respectfully

REPORTS:

Current federal and state law requires that a sophisticated computerized voter registration plan be put in place in motor vehicle agencies. However, while more than 91% of New York State residents eighteen and over outside of New York City hold driver's licenses, less than 50% of City residents do. Int. No. 450 would require certain City agencies to distribute voter registration forms to clients when they first apply for services or when they recertify or change their address. This procedure has been found to be highly effective in registering new voters and updating voter registration rolls in places across the country that have implemented similar programs.

The following agencies are designated as participating voter registration agencies and must implement and administer a program of distributing voter registration forms pursuant to Int. No. 450-A:

— The Administration for Child Services
— The Civilian Complaint Review Board
— The Commission on Human Rights
— Community Boards
— The Department of Business Services
— The Department of Citywide Administrative Services
— The Department of Consumer Affairs
— The Department of Correction
— The Department of Employment
— The Department of Environmental Protection
— The Department of Finance
— The Department of Health
— The Department of Homeless Services
— The Department of Housing, Preservation and Development
— The Department of Mental Health
— The Department of Parks and Recreation
— The Department of Probation
— The Department of Transportation
— The Department of Youth and Community Development

Participating agencies shall include a mandate in all new or renewed agreements with those subcontractors having regular contact with the public in the daily administration of their business to follow the guidelines of Int. No. 450-A.

Participating agencies shall:

1) provide and distribute voter registration forms to all persons upon application for services, renewal or recertification for services and change of address relating to such services. Participating agency staff shall provide assistance in completing these distributed voter registration forms, if so requested. These forms must also be provided in agency communications regarding services sent through the United States mail; and a request for such forms must be incorporated through computer terminals, the World Wide Web or the Internet when such means are used regarding agency services; and

2) adopt such rules and regulations as may be necessary to implement Int. No. 450-A; and

3) transmit any completed application forms from all applicants who wish to have such forms transmitted to the Board of Elections of the City of New York within two weeks of the receipt of such completed forms; and

4) transmit a completed form to the Board of Elections of the City of New York not later than five days after the date of acceptance, if such form is accepted by the participating agency within five days before the last day to vote in a citywide election; and

5) at the earliest possible or next regularly scheduled printing of their forms, physically incorporate the voter registration forms with their own application forms in a manner that permits the voter registration portion to be detached therefrom; and

Employees of a participating agency who provide voter registration assistance shall not:

1) seek to influence an applicant's political preference or party designation;

2) display any political preference or party allegiance;

3) make any statement to the applicant or take any action the purpose or effect of which is to discourage the applicant from registering to vote; or

4) make any statement to an applicant the purpose or effect of which is to lead the applicant to believe that a decision to register or not to register has any bearing on the availability of services or benefits.

Each participating agency, department, division and office that makes available voter registration forms shall prominently display promotional materials designed and approved by the New York City or State Board of Elections.

The New York City Voter Assistance Commission shall prepare and distribute to participating agencies written advisory agency guidelines as to the implementation of Int. No. 450-A and may establish training programs for employees of participating agencies. Participating agencies may consider such advisory agency guidelines in the promulgation of their rules and regulations.

Int. No. 450-A contains a severability clause that states should any provision or application of Int. No. 450-A be determined to be unlawful or unenforceable, all other provisions and applications of Int. No. 450-A shall nevertheless continue in full force and effect.

Int. No. 450-A shall take effect ninety days after its enactment.

Fiscal Impact Statement:

	Effective FY00	FY Succeeding Effective FY01	Full Fiscal Impact FY01

Impact on Revenues: None.

Impact on Expenditures: The proposed legislation states that assistance with the completion of voter registration forms will be handled by existing agency staff only upon request. This indicates that no additional staff will be hired by the participating agencies. The cost of printing additional forms and distributing them to those agencies will be minimal.

A LOCAL LAW to amend the charter of the city of New York to establish a system to distribute voter registration forms at certain agencies.

Be it enacted by the Council as follows:

Section 1. Legislative intent and findings. Current federal and state law requires that a sophisticated computerized voter registration plan be put in place in motor vehicle agencies. However, while more than 91% of New York State residents eighteen and over outside of New York City hold driver's licenses, less than 50% of City residents do. In order to ensure that application forms be as widely and freely distributed as possible, this legislation requires certain City agencies to distribute voter registration forms to clients when they first apply for services or when they recertify or change their address. This procedure has been found to be highly effective in registering new voters and updating voter registration rolls in places across the country that have implemented similar programs. This program will serve to facilitate public access to voter registration forms, but not actually register anyone because only the Board of Elections may register a voter pursuant to State Election Law.

§ 2. Chapter forty-six of the charter of the city of New York is hereby amended to add a new section 1058 to read as follows:

§ 1058. Agency based voter registration. Each agency designated as a participating agency under the provisions of this section shall implement and administer a program of distribution of voter registration forms pursuant to the provisions of this section. The following offices are hereby designated as participating voter registration agencies: The administration for children's services, the civilian complaint review board, the commission on human rights, community boards, the department of business services, the department of citywide administrative services, the department of consumer affairs, the department of correction, the department of employment, the department of environmental protection, the department of finance, the department of health, the department of homeless services, the department of housing preservation and development, the department of mental health, the department of parks and recreation, the department of probation, the department of transportation and the department of youth and community development. Participating agencies shall include a mandate in all new or renewed agreements with those subcontractors having regular contact with the public in the daily administration of their business to follow the guidelines of this section. Such participating agencies shall be required to offer voter registration forms to all persons upon application for services, renewal or recertification for services and change of address relating to such services. Such agencies shall also be responsible for providing assistance to applicants in completing voter registration forms, if so requested. Such agencies may also receive and transmit the completed application form from any applicants who wish to have such form transmitted to the board of elections for the city of New York.

1. Participating agencies shall adopt such rules and regulations as may be necessary to implement this section. The New York city voter assistance commission shall prepare and distribute to participating agencies written advisory agency guidelines as to the implementation of this section and may establish training programs for employees of participating agencies. Participating agencies may consider such advisory agency guidelines in the promulgation of their rules and regulations.

2. Participating agencies shall provide and distribute voter registration forms to all persons upon application for services, renewal or recertification for services and change of address relating to such services. Participating agency staff shall provide assistance in completing these distributed voter registration forms, if so requested. Participating agencies shall also include a voter registration form with any agency communication sent through the United States mail for the purpose of supplying clients with application, renewal or recertification for services and change of address relating to such services materials. Any person indicating that they wish to be sent a voter registration application shall be sent such a form by the participating agency. Participating agencies shall also incorporate the request for a voter registration application into any application for services, renewal or recertification for services and change of address relating to such services provided on computer terminals, the World Wide Web or the Internet. Any person indicating that they wish to be sent a voter registration form, via computer terminals, the World Wide Web or the Internet shall be sent such a form by the participating agency, or directed to a bank on that system where such a form may be downloaded.

3. Participating agencies shall also:

a. at the earliest possible or next regularly scheduled printing of their forms, physically incorporate the voter registration forms with their own application forms in a manner that permits the voter registration portion to be detached therefrom. Until such time when the agency amends its form, each agency should affix or include a postage paid board of elections for the city of New York voter registration form to or with its application, renewal, recertification and change of address forms;

b. use the board of elections of the city of New York coded voter registration forms which designate such forms as originating from participating agencies; and

c. transmit any completed forms collected by participating agencies to the board of elections of the city of New York within two weeks of the receipt of such completed forms at the participating agency. If a completed form is accepted within five days before the last day for registration to vote in a citywide election, such completed form shall be transmitted by the participating agency to the board of elections of the city of New York not later than five days after the date of acceptance.

4. All persons seeking voter registration forms and information shall be advised that government services are not conditioned on being registered to vote. No statement shall be made nor any action taken by an agency employee to discourage the applicant from registering to vote or to enroll in any particular political party.

5. The completion of the voter registration form by an applicant is voluntary. Each participating agency shall, however, provide to each applicant the same degree of assistance with regard to the completion of the voter registration form if the applicant so requests. Such assistance shall include, but not be limited to, verbally answering applicant's questions and providing written materials.

6. Employees of a voter registration agency who provide voter registration assistance shall not:

a. seek to influence an applicant's political preference or party designation;

b. display any political preference or party allegiance;

c. make any statement to an applicant or take any action the purpose or effect of which is to discourage the applicant from registering to vote; or

d. make any statement to an applicant or take any action the purpose or effect of which is to lead the applicant to believe that a decision to register or not to register has any bearing on the availability of services or benefits.

7. Each participating agency, department, division and office that makes available voter registration forms shall prominently display promotional materials designed and approved by the board of elections for the city of New York or state board of elections for use in state agency programs.

§ 3. Severability. Should any provision or application of this local law be determined to be unlawful or unenforceable, all other provisions and applications of this local law shall nevertheless continue in full force and effect.

§ 4. This local law shall take effect ninety days after its enactment.

Accordingly, Your Committee recommends its adoption, as amended.

Report of the Committee on Housing and Buildings

Res. No. 879

Report of the Committee on Housing and Buildings in favor of filing a resolution calling upon the United States, the State of New York, and the City of New York to recognize and respond to the crisis of the Section 8 Project-Based Rental Assistance program, and calling upon the appropriate committee of the Council of the City of New York to conduct hearings on the impact of the non-renewal of Project-Based Section 8 contracts.

The Committee on Housing and Buildings to which it was referred on June 30, 1999 (Minutes, page 1835) the annexed resolution respectfully

REPORTS:

The United States Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) provides housing assistance through two programs that subsidize rents for poor tenants in privately-owned buildings. These two programs, commonly referred to as the "Section 8 Voucher Program" and "Project-Based Section 8" provide subsidies to income-eligible individuals and families with each assisting roughly one-half the total Section 8 units nationwide. In New York City the voucher program is responsible for approximately 60 percent of the total 123,275 unit Section 8 program. The Section 8 program has 48,819 units of Project-Based Section 8 housing in 448 projects, and 74,456 Section 8 vouchers that are distributed within New York City. The tenant-based program provides vouchers to individuals who then find their own apartments. The project-based program provides subsidies to specific properties so that anyone who rents an apartment in the project automatically receives a subsidy. In the project-based program the landlord must rent all the apartments to income-eligible residents. Regardless of the program, all Section 8 residents pay approximately one-third of their gross income in rent and the income eligibility is the same. Those who are income eligible include families whose income is 80 percent of median income for the area, or less. Some Section 8 programs target very-low income households, which are defined as households at or below 50 percent of median income for the area. Currently the median income for a family of four in New York City is $53,400. Therefore, HUD's income limits in New York City are as follows:

low-income family of one — $29,900, very low-income — $18,700;

low-income family of two — $34,200, very low-income — $21,350;

low-income family of three — $38,450, very low-income — $24,050;

low-income family of four — $42,700, very low-income — $26,700.

These numbers are adjusted annually.

Project-Based Section 8 Program

Starting in 1975, HUD signed 20-year contracts with private owners of residential properties to subsidize their properties with Section 8 funds. These contracts included rental amounts for each apartment that HUD would guarantee for the life of the contract. Often, these contracts provided landlords with rents that exceeded those for adjacent properties, especially in distressed neighborhoods. Each time these contracts expire the property owner and HUD renegotiate the rents to be paid for the units if the owner chooses to remain in the program. The expiration of significant numbers of project-based Section 8 contracts have produced concern about the number of properties that may elect to opt-out and become market rate rentals, and the number that will continue as affordable housing units.

Although contracts began expiring a number of years ago and the number of opt-outs to date has been limited, the recent boom in the New York City real estate industry, coupled with the reduction of rent paid by HUD in its "Mark Down To Market" [1] initiative create situations where close scrutiny is required lest the number of affordable housing units provided by this program be reduced.

A recent study by HUD stated that the unprecedented economic growth of the last six years has created a situation where, "rather than benefiting from the surging economy, low-income renters are left to compete for the dwindling supply of affordable housing available on the private market . . . With few places to turn, residents' fears about displacement from project-based Section 8 housing are magnified.[2]" This same study also reported that during the next five years, two-thirds of all project-based Section 8 contracts will expire, totaling almost 14,000 properties containing 1 million subsidized housing units. As contract expirations increase, so does the risk of losing affordable housing. In 1998, more than 17,000 subsidized units in over 300 properties left the project-based Section 8 program, more than 3 times the total from the year before. According to HUD data, which is reported by state, by September 2004, contracts will expire for 81,000 units in New York, 89,000 units in California, 69,000 in Ohio, 46,000 in Texas, 41,000 in Illinois, 40,000 in Pennsylvania, 35,000 each in Florida and Michigan, 34,000 in Massachusetts and 29,000 in Indiana. Each state in the country has contracts for more than 1,000 units expiring in the next five years[3].

While most properties remain as project-based Section 8 housing, the same HUD report indicated that roughly 10 percent "opt-out" and convert to unsubsidized housing; in New York City these convert to market rate rentals. Since October 1996, more than 30,000 subsidized units in over 500 project-based Section 8 properties have left the program including 1,800 units that have opted-out in New York, 4,000 in California, 3,500 in Texas, and 1,500 each in Florida and Pennsylvania.[4]

HUD provides protection to residents in properties that opt-out by providing vouchers to all income eligible residents. The residents can use the vouchers either to remain in their current units or to move to other housing. However, the standard voucher does not effectively protect residents in higher-rent neighborhoods because these vouchers are pegged to the Fair Market Rent (FMR) which may not be adequate to cover real rents in these areas. Currently, the FMR in New York City for a studio apartment is $704, for a one bedroom $785, for a two bedroom $891, for a three bedroom $1114 and for a four bedroom $1249. Because of the inadequacy of these rents in some areas, HUD has created an enhanced voucher that is not tied to the FMR. Instead, the value of the voucher is negotiated between the owner of the development and the administering public housing agency.[5] In most situations the owner is required to accept this enhanced voucher for at least one year. For contracts that are currently expiring, the length of the new contract is up to the owner of the property, who can elect to negotiate a new contract for a period of from one to five years, but the funding is subject to annual congressional appropriations. Each time the contract expires the owner can choose to opt-out.

[1] "Mark Down to Market" is a program where HUD reduces their rents to landlords where comparable housing is renting for less than the Section 8 apartments. Often in depressed neighborhoods the Section 8 housing is the best and most expensive housing around, therefore the reduction in the rents may cause major problems with regard to the ability to maintain existing developments on the reduced revenue.

[5] In New York City HUD can assign the New York City Housing Authority (NYCHA), the New York City Department of Housing Preservation and Development (HPD) or the New York State Division of Housing and Community Renewal (DHCR) as its administering public housing agency.

Background

The Housing Acts of 1965 and 1968 sought to privatize low-income housing by providing direct subsidies to developers who would build multi-family housing for low-income families. The federal government provided low-interest loans to developers and guaranteed the payment of rents to property managers.

By the early 1970's both the public and the public-private programs had become highly controversial at the local level. Critics cited examples of deterioration and lack of maintenance that were attributed to profiteering and "slumlord" practices. As a result of the criticism and concerns, a moratorium on the production of new public housing was put in place. However, to help counter a recession in the early 1970's the federal government placed more federal funds into housing production.

In 1974 a new approach to the provision of low-income housing was introduced, the Section 8 Rental Assistance Program. As previously stated this consisted of a Section 8 Voucher Program and the Project-Based component. The Voucher Program provided low-income families with a rent voucher that would pay for a portion of the rent in any privately owned rental housing unit where the landlord was willing to accept the voucher. Originally, families paid 25 percent of their gross income toward the rent and utilities (this was later increased to approximately one-third of the families' income) while the federal government paid the balance to a maximum level designated by HUD.

During the initial years of the Section 8 program, on average more than 200,000 units were added each year, with the tenant-based voucher program growing somewhat more quickly than the project-based program. However, starting in 1980, the growth in project-based subsidies accelerated, accounting for three-quarters of the average increase of 170,000 units per year until 1985. After 1985, vouchers took the lead again as new project-based subsidies were phased out, and growth overall slowed to under 90,000 units per year on average. Despite the slower growth, however, it was not until 1995 that Section 8 saw its first reduction in history. New vouchers were frozen from 1995 until 1998 when an additional 50,000 new vouchers were added.

According to the HUD report cited extensively herein, housing in the Section 8 project-based program is often placed in better neighborhoods than its occupants could otherwise access. "Although the vast majority of Section 8 residents are extremely-low-income—less than 30 percent of area median income—surprisingly few properties are located in low-income neighborhoods. Only half of project-based Section 8 properties are in census tracts with median incomes less than 80 percent of area median. Similarly, Section 8 properties are often in higher rent neighborhoods—about one-half of project-based properties are located in tracts where local rents are higher than 90 percent of area median.[6]"

Currently, the Section 8 program helps nearly 3 million families around the country afford decent housing, more than double the number of families assisted by the next largest housing program, public housing.

The Council waives the requirements of Sections 197-c and 197-d of the New York City Charter pursuant to Section 694 of the General Municipal Law.

The Council approves the Project as an urban development action area project pursuant to Section 694 of the General Municipal Law.

The Project shall be disposed of and developed upon the terms and conditions in the Project Summary that HPD has submitted to the Council, a copy of which is attached hereto.

Report of the Committee on Transportation

Int. No. 585-A

Report of the Committee on Transportation in favor of approving and adopting, as amended, a local law to amend the administrative code of the city of New York, in relation to prohibiting the operation of school buses with passengers standing.

The Committee on Transportation to which it was referred on July 12, 1999 (Minutes, page 2015) the annexed amended local law respectfully

REPORTS:

Proposed Int. No. 585-A would prohibit school buses from operating "upon any road, street, avenue, boulevard or highway in the city of New York when the number of passengers is greater than the number of seats available, unless the driver of that bus determines that the failure to transport any child who is entitled to transportation on that bus would require that one or more children remain at a location without appropriate adult supervision." Upon such circumstances, it would be permissible for a driver of a school bus to allow one or more children to board a school bus even if the number of passengers would thereafter be greater than the number of seats available.

Proposed Int. No. 585-A provides that a violation by any person, firm or corporation would be punishable by a fine not to exceed one hundred dollars pursuant to section 1800 of the Vehicle and Traffic Law. The provisions of Proposed Int. No. 585-A would only apply to those school buses which provide service pursuant to a contract with the New York City Board of Education and would take effect on October 1, 2000.

The following changes have been made to Int. No. 585 since it was first introduced: Subdivision (c) was added to make the bill applicable only to school buses providing service pursuant to a contract with the New York City Board of Education and the effective date was changed as noted above. Int. No. 585 would have taken effect immediately.

Fiscal Impact Statement:

Impact on Revenues: Even though this legislation allows for fines not to exceed $100 for violations, it is not expected to generate a significant amount of revenue.

Impact on Expenditures: It is not immediately known whether this legislation will have an impact on the bidding process if the Board determines there is a need for additional bus service. However, if contract costs for bus service are higher, it should not exceed five percent of total $400 million in contracts or an additional $20 million. Also, the Board of Education has determined that an additional $2.5 million over fiscal years 2000 and 2001 would be needed to survey school buses and enhance services. This funding includes the cost of two confidential inspectors, non-recurring technology development, and system support.

Accordingly, Your Committee recommends its adoption as amended.

A LOCAL LAW to amend the administrative code of the city of New York, in relation to prohibiting the operation of school buses with passengers standing.

Be it enacted by the Council as follows:

Section 1. Chapter 6 of title 19 of the administrative code of the city of New York is amended by adding thereto a new section 19-606 to read as follows:

§ 19-606 Standing on school buses prohibited. a. It shall be unlawful to operate a school bus upon any road, street, avenue, boulevard or highway in the city of New York when the number of passengers is greater than the number of seats available, unless the driver of that bus determines that the failure to transport any child who is entitled to transportation on that bus would require that one or more children remain at a location without appropriate adult supervision. Under such circumstances, it shall be permissible for a driver of a school bus to allow one or more children to board a school bus even if the number of passengers would thereafter be greater than the number of seats available.

b. Any person, firm or corporation who shall violate the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a traffic infraction punishable by a fine not to exceed one hundred dollars in accordance with section 1800 of the vehicle and traffic law.

c. The provisions of this section shall only apply to those school buses providing service pursuant to a contract with the board of education.

NOACH DEAR, Chairperson; JUNE EISLAND, A. GIFFORD MILLER, ANGEL RODRIGUEZ, MICHAEL NELSON—February 10, 2000

Introduction and Reading of Bills

Res. No. 1202

Resolution urging the United States Congress to pass HR 125, the Ethnic and Minority Bias Clearinghouse Act of 1999, a bill that would establish an ethnic and minority affairs section within the Federal Communications Commission.

By the Speaker (Council Member Vallone) and Council Members Malave-Dilan, Espada, Freed, Henry, Koslowitz, Marshall, Nelson, Reed, Warden and Watkins; also Council Members DiBrienza, Eisland, Foster, Harrison, Linares, McCaffrey, Michels, O'Donovan and Perkins

Whereas, The City of New York recognizes the diversity of its citizens as well as the invaluable roles played by ethnic and minority groups in the vitality of our City and nation; and

Whereas, Negative stereotypes of ethnic and minority groups are false and cause great harm to the members of those groups, as well as to the City and nation as a whole; and

Whereas, Negative portrayals of ethnic and minority groups on radio, television and cable television broadcast programming often perpetuate negative stereotypes about these groups; and

Whereas, HR 125, the Ethnic and Minority Bias Clearinghouse Act of 1999, is a bill currently before the United States House of Representatives that would establish an ethnic and minority affairs section within the Federal Communications Commission; and

Whereas, This section would collect information regarding the portrayal of ethnic and minority groups in radio, television and cable television broadcast programming, conduct an annual conference designed to focus public attention on such portrayals, prepare an annual report to be submitted to Congress regarding its activities and findings and establish a clearinghouse for complaints, grievances and opinions regarding the portrayal of ethnic and minority groups in broadcast programming; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Council of the City of New York urges the United States Congress to pass HR 125, the Ethnic and Minority Bias Clearinghouse Act of 1999, a bill that would establish an ethnic and minority affairs section within the Federal Communications Commission.

Referred to the Committee on General Welfare.

Res. No. 1203

Resolution calling upon the appropriate committee of the City Council to hold hearings on the thirteen percent increase in traffic fatalities from 1998 to 1999, and the enforcement by the New York City police department to ensure on-street safety for bicyclists, pedestrians and other roadway users.

By Council Members Carrion, Malave-Dilan, Freed, Henry, Koslowitz, Marshall and Nelson; also Council Members Eisland, Espada, Foster, Harrison, Leffler, McCaffrey, Michels, Perkins, Quinn and Sabini

Whereas, New York City has a highly visible traffic enforcement program that includes the forfeiture of vehicles driven aggressively and/or by alcohol and drug abusers, and periodic crackdowns on violations of traffic and parking regulations; and

Whereas, In addition, the City has sought to promote safety by modifying the street crossing patterns of pedestrians in mid-town Manhattan and other busy intersections in the rest of the City; and

Whereas, Traffic fatalities are one of the most important measure of success of a traffic safety program, and by this indicator, 1999 represented a setback with 419 persons killed—49 more persons than in 1998; and

Whereas, The 13% increase in traffic fatalities occurred even though the number of deaths caused by drunk drivers fell from 34 in 1998 to 23 in 1999; and

Whereas, By far the biggest increase in the number of fatalities was to cyclists, 34 of whom were killed in 1999, a 70% increase from 1998; and

Whereas, The previous high for cyclist fatalities was in 1997 when 24 cyclists died; and

Whereas, The New York Times of January 8, 2000 in an article entitled, "Cyclist Fatalities Increased 75% in 1999, Puzzling Police," reported that the supervisor of the Police Department's accident investigation unit, Inspector Vincent Kennedy, stated the "primary contributing factor" in 74% percent of the cyclist fatalities was "cyclist error;" and

Whereas, The Daily News of January 9, 2000 in an article entitled, "Streets Get Deadlier Cyclist fatalities lead way, with 70% increase," similarly reported that Police Deputy Inspector Robert Sharpe, commander of the "City's Traffic Management Center," a joint operation of the City Transportation Department and the New York City Police Department, called for an educational campaign directed at cyclists because they were partly responsible for the accidents; and

Whereas, The advocates for pedestrians' rights were reported in the New York Times to believe that Police Department analyses of traffic accidents involving cyclists are overly reliant on the drivers' version of the accidents and the Department has a "behind-the-windshield perspective, a mistaken belief that the streets belong to the driver rather than both the driver and the cyclist;" and

Whereas, The Council should determine if New York City Police Department Accident-prone Location data has been used systematically to identify locations most dangerous for cyclists and other roadway users; and

Whereas, Improvements in street safety requires the systematic identification of sites which are prone to the greatest number of motor vehicle/bicycle accidents in order to guide on-street safety improvements aimed at reducing these accidents; and

Whereas, Bicyclists, pedestrians and the public deserve safe conditions on the City's streets; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the appropriate committee of the City Council hold hearings on the thirteen percent increase in traffic fatalities from 1998 to 1999, and the enforcement by the New York City police department to ensure on-street safety for bicyclists, pedestrians and other roadway users.

Referred to the Committee on Transportation.

Res. No. 1204

Resolution calling upon the United States House of Representatives' Subcommittee on Immigration and Claims to examine the issue of placing a temporary nationwide moratorium on any and all Immigration and Naturalization raids targeting undocumented immigrants while Census 2000 enumeration is underway.

By Council Members Clarke, Henry, Carrion, Malave-Dilan, Espada, Freed, Linares, Lopez and Quinn; also Council Members Foster, Michels, Perkins and Watkins

Whereas, The Census, administered once every ten years by the United States Census Bureau, records the statistical and demographic make-up of individual households and businesses of citizens and resident non-citizens; and

Whereas, An accurate census helps to determine important resource allocations and other vital needs for communities; and

Whereas, The United States Census Bureau has made a great effort to address the undercounting of people of color and minorities in the Census 2000; and

Whereas, Undocumented residents in the United States are fearful that participating in a census may result in being reported to the Immigration and Naturalization Service; and

Whereas, Such fear may harm the efforts achieved in reducing the numbers of people who are not counted during the census process; and

Whereas, The United States Census Bureau has recognized in Title 13 of the United States Code the private and sensitive nature of the information that it solicits in order to conduct the Census; and

Whereas, A moratorium on raids by the Immigration and Naturalization Service would convey sensitivity to the experience of immigrant families and would send a strong signal that participating in the census is safe, secure and conveys the idea that everyone counts; and

Whereas, The Committee on Immigration Policy of the American Federation of Labor and Congress of Industrial Organizations (AFL-CIO) has recently passed a similar resolution calling on Congressional action giving amnesty to all undocumented immigrants currently residing in the United States as well as businesses which employ them; now therefore be it

Resolved, That the United States House of Representatives' Subcommittee on Immigration and Claims examine the issue of placing a temporary nationwide moratorium on any and all Immigration and Naturalization raids targeting undocumented immigrants while Census 2000 enumeration is underway.

Referred to the Committee on General Welfare.

Res. No. 1205

Resolution calling upon the appropriate committee of the Council of the City of New York to hold hearings on the disparity in quality of textbooks utilized by English speaking students and non-English speaking students.

By Council Members Cruz, Miller, Malave-Dilan, Freed, Henry, Lopez, Marshall, Quinn, Reed and Stabile; also Council Members DiBrienza, Espada, Harrison, Michels, O'Donovan, Perkins and Warden

Whereas, Last year, the State Education Commissioner, with the approval of the Board of Regents, instituted higher standards in order for students to be promoted from one grade to the next and stricter graduation requirements; and

Whereas, Students are required to pass a number of Regents examinations in many subject areas; and

Whereas, All students should be given equal opportunity and the tools to learn everything they need in the classroom in order to be able meet the new standards and to pass the required exams; and

Whereas, Updated textbooks, with the most current information, are essential for all students to learn the necessary information; and

Whereas, According to a November 30, 1999 Daily News article entitled "Bad textbooks cheat English-limited students" (the "article"), the quality of textbooks given to non-English speaking high school students falls significantly below the quality of textbooks given to English-speaking students; and

Whereas, The article claims that textbooks given to non-English speaking students often contain inaccurate translations, are one-third the length of other textbooks, and have outdated information; and

Whereas, According to the article, Burt Posner, director of high school bilingual and English as a Second Language programs for high schools, conceded that such textbooks are of inferior quality, but blamed the publishing companies, alleging that they are not investing the money to produce textbooks of higher quality; and

Whereas, According to the article, only 20% of the 6,330 non-English speaking students who started ninth grade in September 1996 have passed the Regents English language arts exam, compared with 55% of English-speaking students; and

Whereas, It should be a priority of the City to ensure that all students are receiving the same, high quality education, so that they all have the same opportunities to become successful and contributing members of society; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Council of the City of New York calls upon the appropriate committee of the Council of the City of New York to hold hearings on the disparity in quality of textbooks utilized by English speaking students and non-English speaking students

Referred to the Committee on Education.

Section 1. The following street name is hereby designated as hereafter indicated.

Res. No. 1206

Resolution recognizing the month of March, 2000 as Women's History Month and urging all New Yorkers to observe this month with appropriate ceremonies and activities.

By Council Members Eisland, Lopez, Freed, Provenzano, Eldridge, Boyland, Harrison, Malave-Dilan, Espada, Henry, Koslowitz, Marshall, Nelson and Quinn; also Council Members DiBrienza, Fisher, Leffler, McCaffrey, Michels, O'Donovan, Perkins, Spigner, Watkins, Wooten, Abel and Ognibene

Whereas, The Century that has just ended saw women make great strides in advancing their social, political and economic situation and in the years to come, these advances must be solidified; and

Whereas, The 20th Century was the breakthrough century for women rights, achievement and progress, building upon the Seneca Falls Convention of 1848, which was the initial start of the Women's Rights Movement; and

Whereas, It should be recognized that women have been in the forefront of every major progressive social change movement, not only to secure their own right of suffrage and equal opportunity, but also, the civil rights movement, the labor union movement, the consumer movement, human rights and the peace movement among others; and

Whereas, Women of every race, class and ethnic background and sexual orientation have played a crucial role in every aspect of the life of this nation, state and city; and

Whereas, Great attention must be paid to women's health issues with emphasis placed on prevention; including mammography screening for breast cancer, and widespread education programs; and

Whereas, The 20th Century has brought women to the highest levels of government, as Justices of the Supreme Court, in the Cabinet, the United States Congress, State legislatures and local legislative bodies; and

Whereas, At the turn of the century women were laced into corsets, had a life expectancy of just 51 years, and very few legal rights, and now women are commanding space ships, working on a par with men in business, setting policy in government leadership positions, and expecting equal opportunity and recognition for their daughters and granddaughters; and

Whereas, There is now more attention paid to women's issues including health, legal rights in the workplace and economic equality; national campaigns like Breast Health Awareness Month have brought great awareness to the issue of health among women; and

Whereas, The New York City Commission on the Status of Women has declared this year's theme "An Extraordinary Century for Women - Now, Imagine the Future"; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Council of the City of New York declares the month of March, 2000, to be Women's History Month and urges that all New Yorkers observe this month with appropriate ceremonies and activities.

Adopted.

State Leg. Res. No. 191

State Legislation Resolution requesting the New York State Legislature to pass bills introduced by Senators Schneiderman, Montgomery, Sampson, Stachowski, S.1649, and Assembly Members Dinowitz, Klein, Ramirez, Greene, Kaufman, et al, A.2798, "AN ACT to dedicate the Jerome Park Reservoir tract in the Bronx as parkland".

By Council Members Eisland, Espada and Quinn; also Council Member Harrison

Whereas, bills have been introduced in the New York State Legislature by Senators Schneiderman, Montgomery, Sampson, Stachowski, S.1649, and Assembly Members Dinowitz, Klein, Ramirez, Greene, Kaufman, et al, A.2798, "AN ACT to dedicate the Jerome Park Reservoir tract in the Bronx as parkland"; and

Whereas, The enactment of the above State Legislation requires the concurrence of the Council of the City of New York as the local legislative body; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Council of the City of New York, in accordance with the provisions of Section 2 of Article 9 of the Constitution of the State of New York, does hereby request the New York State Legislature to enact into law the aforesaid pending bills.

Referred to the Committee on State and Federal Legislation.

Res. No. 1207

Resolution calling upon the New York State Legislature to abolish the New York City Board of Education and the office of the New York City School's Chancellor and institute a borough-based educational system for the City of New York.

By Council Members Fiala, Espada and Stabile; also Council Members Abel and Ognibene

Whereas, Under the current Board of Education and Chancellor, our children's academic performance has remained well under the national average; and

Whereas, The minimal progress in reading and math scores that we have seen must now be called into question because of alleged cheating by teachers and principals; and

Whereas, A recent state report by the Moreland Act Commission claimed that the education system was rife with "widespread, systematic fraud" that was not due to mere negligence but due to "conscious fraud" which evinces "an entire culture of cheating"; and

Whereas, Our school system has the duty to not only teach our children fundamental academics, but to instill in them a sense of right and wrong; and

Whereas, The current system has failed in its obligation to teach academics, and now apparently has failed in its moral obligation to our children by showing them that a culture of cheating is acceptable; and

Whereas, The Chancellor is the chief executive of this system, and, therefore must ultimately shoulder the blame for this failing system; and

Whereas, This bureaucracy is attempting to administrate the education of over one million students in over one thousand schools from one central office; and

Whereas, The current system provides for no effective local input into the education of our children; and

Whereas, For all the above reasons, and many more, the current education system has failed our children; and

Whereas, A borough-based educational system that provides for five separate borough boards of education, each comprised of seven members—four appointed by the mayor and three by the borough president—would provide for more accountability and local input into the education process; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Council of the City of New York calls upon the New York State Legislature to abolish the New York City Board of Education and the office of the New York City School's Chancellor and institute a borough-based educational system for the City of New York.

Referred to the Committee on Education.

By Council Members Harrison, Clarke, Espada, Freed, Henry, Koslowitz, Lopez and Nelson; also Council Members DiBrienza, Leffler, Linares, McCaffrey, Michels and Quinn

Whereas, According to the League for the Hard of Hearing, fifty-four million Americans live with a disability, one in ten Americans lives with some degree of hearing loss, one in four people over the age of sixty-five lives with a hearing loss, and approximately 300,000 people in New York City are over the age of sixty-five and live with a hearing loss; and

Whereas, Unaddressed hearing loss, can negatively affect a person's ability to make use of City, State and Federal services and programs; and

Whereas, Under the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990 (ADA), places o public accommodation and State and Local government programs, activities and services must be accessible to all people with disabilities; and

Whereas, In order to serve the people that they are intended to serve, all New York City departments and agencies should come into compliance with the ADA, with respect to all programs, services and accommodations, as defined by the ADA, that they provide; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Council of the City of New York calls upon all New York City departments and agencies to come into compliance with the terms and conditions of the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990.

Referred to the Committee on General Welfare.

Res. No. 1209

Calling upon the United States Congress to amend the Medicare legislation so that it includes coverage of the cost of hearing aids.

By Council Members Harrison, Lopez, Clarke, Dear, Malave-Dilan, Espada, Freed, Henry, Koslowitz, Marshall, Nelson and Stabile; also Council Members DiBrienza, Eisland, Fisher, Leffler, Linares, McCaffrey, Michels, O'Donovan, Perkins, Quinn and Abel

Whereas, The Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990 (ADA) is the single most inclusive and important law ever passed regarding equal access for people with disabilities, which includes people with hearing impairments; and

Whereas, According to the League for the Hard of Hearing, approximately 28 million Americans have a hearing loss, and about one in four persons over the age of 65 suffers from a hearing loss; and

Whereas, Hearing aids are the third most widely used assistive devices, following eye glasses and canes; and

Whereas, Untreated hearing loss may have serious emotional and social consequences for older persons, including depression, isolation, anxiety, paranoia and emotional distress; and

Whereas, According to the League for the Hard of Hearing, research estimates that 25% of older people present significant symptoms of mental health illness and that 10% of that group are actually diagnosed as mentally ill; and

Whereas, For many of those with mental health problems, hearing loss is either a precipitating or contributing factor; and

Whereas, Medicare does not cover the cost of hearing aids and this exclusion has a significant negative effect on many of the lives of the 28 millions Americans who suffer from hearing loss and on many of the 300,000 people over the age of 65 living in New York City who suffer from this disability; and

Whereas, According to the League for the Hard of Hearing, hearing aid consumers purchase new hearing aids every 5.25 years, which means that annually 171,000 Medicare beneficiaries would benefit from expanded coverage of Medicare that includes assistive hearing devices; and

Whereas, Such assistive hearing devices should be partially covered by Medicare at the rate of $500.00 per hearing-impaired person, less any amount received as a partial benefit for hearing aids through a managed care program; and

Whereas, Congress should include sufficient funding in the national budget to pay $500.00 to each hearing-impaired consumer covered by Medicare, of which approximately 28.6% of the total number of enrollees are persons aged 65 and older; and

Whereas, In taking this step of covering a portion of the total cost of hearing aids, Congress will have finally extended the benefits of the ADA to 28 million Americans it intended to help, those who are sufficiently hearing-impaired as to require the use of necessary hearing aids; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Council of the City of New York calls upon the United States Congress to amend the Medicare legislation so that it includes coverage of the cost of hearing aids.

Res. No. 1210

Resolution calling upon the Legislature of the State of New York to take all such measures as are required to meet the standards demanded by Mothers Against Drunk Driving and by Guide One Foundation to achieve a rating of "A" in the organization's Report Card Survey.

By Council Members Harrison, Dear, Espada, Freed, Henry, Marshall, Nelson and Stabile; also Council Members Eisland, Michels, O'Donovan and Perkins

Whereas, Mothers Against Drunk Driving (MADD) and its sister organization, Guide One Foundation, seek to "stop drunk driving and support victims of this violent crime"; and

Whereas, In New York State during 1998, 365 persons lost their lives in alcohol-related traffic fatalities; and

Whereas, MADD has been instrumental in making the term "designated driver" a household word, and been an advocate of programs that have reduced alcohol-related traffic deaths in its estimation "more than 40 percent in the past two decades"; and

Whereas, MADD seeks continued improvements in traffic safety so that drunk driving and underage-drinking problems become "problems of the past"; and

Whereas, In November 1999 shortly before MADD's 20th anniversary in 2000, MADD released a "report card survey" that rates the drunk driving program in each state; and

Whereas, The survey examines 11 key categories related to the impaired-driving problem: political leadership, statistics and records, financial self-sufficiency for DUI/DWI programs, victims' issues, key and priority laws, alcohol-related fatality trends, law enforcement, administrative measures and criminal sanctions, regulatory control of the sale of alcohol, legislation and prevention efforts to combat underage drinking and impaired driving, and public awareness and education programs; and

Whereas, In order for a state to receive an "A" on the report card survey, MADD requires "an administrative license revocation law, a .08 Blood Alcohol Content (BAC) law, and primary or standard enforcement seat-belt law, in addition to other legislative measures"; and

Whereas, California is the only state with an A rating, and New York has B- rating, although MADD notes it is one of the states with the "greatest decreases in fatal crashes involving drunk drivers in the period from 1996 to 1998"; and

Whereas, The legislative priorities of the New York Chapter of Mothers Against Drunk Driving are: 1) A4775 sponsored by the Majority Leader of the State Assembly Michael J. Bragman and S4552 sponsored by State Senator James W. Wright that creates the "B" felony crime of aggravated Driving While Intoxicated for those motorists whose BAC is above .20, 2) A4776 sponsored by the Majority Leader of the State Assembly Michael J. Bragman and S4179 sponsored by State Senator Patricia K. McGee which provides for the permanent revocation of a driver's license for a person with three alcohol-related incidents within a five-year period or four within a ten-year period, 3) A5060 sponsored by Assembly Member Joseph E. Robach and S183 sponsored by State Senator James S. Alesi which increases the license revocation periods for chemical test refusals, 4) A2112 by Assembly Member Paul A. Tokasz and S1409 by State Senator Dale M. Volker which elevates vehicular assault and vehicular manslaughter in the second degree to a first degree offense when in addition to existing provisions regarding unlicensed operation, any of the following elements exist: death or serious physical injury resulted to more than one person or the defendant was previously convicted of an alcohol-related offense where death or serious injury resulted, 5) A1064 sponsored by Assembly Member David Koon and S3608 sponsored by State Senator Dale M. Volker which authorizes placement of signs along state highways identifying persons killed in alcohol-related crashes, 6) A2341 sponsored by Assembly Member Elizabeth A. Connelly which lowers the per se level of intoxication for operation of all vehicles from the current .10 standard to .08; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Council of the City of New York calls upon the Legislature of the State of New York to take all such measures as are required to meet the standards demanded by Mothers Against Drunk Driving and by Guide One Foundation to achieve a rating of "A" in the organization's Report Card Survey.

State Legislation Resolution requesting the New York State Legislature to pass a bill introduced by Committee on Rules, A.8962, "AN ACT authorizing the city of New York to reconvey its interest in certain real property acquired by in rem tax foreclosure in the borough of Brooklyn to former owner Vincent Frangello, notwithstanding expiration of the two year period within which application may be made to the city to release its interest in property thus acquired; Block No. 5228, Lot No. 37 on tax map for the borough of Brooklyn ".

By Council Member Henry; also Council Member Abel

Whereas, a bill has been introduced in the New York State Legislature by Committee on Rules, A.8962, "AN ACT authorizing the city of New York to reconvey its interest in certain real property acquired by in rem tax foreclosure in the borough of Brooklyn to former owner Vincent Frangello, notwithstanding expiration of the two year period within which application may be made to the city to release its interest in property thus acquired; Block No. 5228, Lot No. 37 on tax map for the borough of Brooklyn"; and

Whereas, The enactment of the above State Legislation requires the concurrence of the Council of the City of New York as the local legislative body; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Council of the City of New York, in accordance with the provisions of Section 2 of Article 9 of the Constitution of the State of New York, does hereby request the New York State Legislature to enact into law the aforesaid pending bill.

Res. No. 1211

Resolution calling upon the State Legislature and Governor to amend the State Tax Law to temporarily suspend the state sales tax on home heating oil and to allow the City of New York to suspend its local portion of the sales tax on home heating oil until March 31, 2001.

By Council Members Leffler, Freed, Henry, Marshall, Nelson and Stabile; also Council Members Berman, Eisland, Fisher, Harrison, Linares, Michels and Watkins

Whereas, The price of crude oil has nearly tripled since last winter when it reached a low of just over $11.00 a barrel to a high in February 2000 of approximately $30 per barrel; and

Whereas, The price of home heating oil has therefore also soared this winter to a high of over $2 dollar per gallon, an amount which is approximately double last year's low; and

Whereas, This surge in price affects homeowners in the Northeast more than those in other parts of the country, because homeowners in the Northeast generally, and in New York in particular, disproportionately rely on oil to heat their homes; and

Whereas, This dramatic increase in home heating oil prices, which in some cases translates into hundreds of dollars per month for a homeowner, disproportionately affects persons of low and middle income, many of whom are struggling to keep their homes heated; and

Whereas, These dramatic price increases are most likely attributable to a cut in oil output by The Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC), as well as other factors such as stronger than expected demand due to this winter's cold-spells and lower reserves at many refineries because of last year's milder winter and lower prices; and

Whereas, Section 1105 of the state Tax Law imposes a state sales and use tax of 4% on the receipts from the sale of home heating oil, and section 1210 of such law authorizes cities to impose sales and use taxes which correspond to the state taxes, which New York City has done pursuant to section 11-2002 of the Administrative Code; and

Whereas, During this period of constricted supply and exorbitant prices which are adversely affecting so many New York homeowners, some measure of temporary relief can be provided by state and local government in the form of a suspension of both the state and local portions of the sales tax on home heating oil which together would total 8¼%; now, therefore, be it;

Resolved, That the Council of the City of New York calls upon the State Legislature and Governor to amend the State Tax Law to temporarily suspend the state sales tax on home heating oil and to allow the City of New York to suspend its local portion of the sales tax on home heating oil until March 31, 2001.

Res. No. 1212

Resolution calling upon the appropriate committee of the City Council to hold an oversight hearing on the introduction of articulated buses by MTA New York City Transit to discuss their impact on service and safety in communities throughout the City.

By Council Members Miller, Moskowitz, Freed, Quinn and Reed; also Council Members Eisland, Fisher, Harrison and Michels

Whereas, The introduction of articulated bus service on the M79 and M86 crosstown bus routes in Manhattan commenced in November 1999 and is expected to be complete by March 2000; and

Whereas, Articulated buses are replacing standard buses at the ratio of three articulated buses for every four standard length buses during peak hours, and four for every five at non-peak hours, resulting in a severe reduction in bus service; and

Whereas, Articulated buses are twenty feet longer than standard buses, requiring MTA New York City Transit to lengthen or remove certain stops to accommodate them and inconvenience riders, especially senior citizens, such as those visiting Beth Israel Hospital on 88th Street between York and East End Avenues; and

Whereas, The longer buses have greater carrying capacity, requiring more time to load and discharge passengers causing longer waits at stops and thereby further slowing down service and exacerbating bus bunching; and

Whereas, Passengers report that when exiting the rear of an articulated bus, they must often disembark into a lane of traffic instead of at the curb because the rear section of the bus remains in the outer lane, raising serious safety concerns; and

Whereas, Riders also report a hazardous situation resulting from articulated buses attempting to make sharp turns on heavily congested streets, such as those on Manhattan's Upper East Side, tying up traffic and endangering pedestrians and passengers alike; and

Whereas, Interior safety concerns include fewer drop handles on the bar for standing passengers to hold onto, a bar that is excessively high for many riders to reach and too few poles to hold onto while the bus is in motion; and

Whereas, While on standard buses wheelchair accessibility is available through the rear doors of the bus, the Multiple Sclerosis Society, in correspondence submitted to the City Council on January 26, 2000, has concluded that the front door wheelchair accessibility on articulated buses is more time-consuming, cumbersome, requires additional passenger cooperation and causes the disabled greater difficulty in maneuvering onto and off the bus; and

Whereas, MTA New York City Transit failed to hold hearings or notify the community in advance of their intention to remove stops and introduce articulated buses; now, therefore, be it

Resolved that the appropriate committee of the City Council hold an oversight hearing on the introduction of articulated buses by MTA New York City Transit to discuss their impact on service and safety in communities throughout the City.

Section 3-717. Receipt of post election contributions from previous contributors for debt repayment.

1. Four years after the date of any covered election, a participating candidate, who has incurred debt as a result of his or her participation in such covered election and has not been a participating candidate in a subsequent covered election, may accept contributions from contributors who previously contributed to the participating candidate's campaign for such covered election for purposes of debt repayment only. Debt payment shall include expenses incurred in maintaining a Committee until debt is repayed and expenses incurred as a result of repaying the debt.

An intermediary need not be reported for any contribution that was collected from a contributor in connection with a party or other candidate-related event held at the residence of the person delivering the contribution, unless the expenses at such events at such residence for such candidate exceed five hundred dollars or the aggregate contributions received from that contributor at such events exceed five hundred dollars. Contributions pursuant to paragraph one aggregating not more than ninety-nine dollars from any one contributor need not be separately itemized in disclosure reports submitted to the campaign finance board on behalf of a participating candidate. For purposes of this section, the treasurer of the designated committee need not collect or disclose the occupation, employer, and business address of any contributor pursuant to paragraph one making contributions aggregating not more than ninety-nine dollars. Such reports shall be submitted at such times and in such form as the campaign finance board shall require and shall be clearly legible. The committee designated to accept contributions pursuant to paragraph one of this section shall maintain any additional records of receipts and debt repayment expenditures as required by the campaign finance board.*

3. A participating candidate accepting contributions pursuant to paragraph one of this section shall not accept and his or her designated committee shall not accept, either directly or by transfer, any contribution or contributions from any one individual, partnership, political committee, employee organization or other entity which in the aggregate: (i) for the office of mayor, public advocate or comptroller, shall exceed four thousand five hundred dollars, or (ii) for borough president, shall exceed three thousand five hundred dollars, or (iii) for member of the city council, shall exceed two thousand five hundred dollars; provided that a candidate and his or her designated committee may accept post election contributions which do not exceed one half the amount of the applicable limitation for the repayment of debt incurred as the result of participation in any run-off primary election, additional day for voting held pursuant to section 3-108 of the election law, special election to fill a vacancy, or election held pursuant to court order as set forth in this section; and provided further that if state law prescribes a contribution limitation of a lesser amount, this paragraph shall not be deemed to authorize acceptance of a contribution in excess of such lesser amount. The maximum post election contributions set forth in this subdivision shall be adjusted in accordance with the COLA provisions of subdivision seven of section 3-703.

4. After debt repayment is realized, the participating candidate shall no longer accept contributions pursuant to this section. If any excess funds remain after debt repayment is realized, the participating candidate shall return such excess funds to contributors in reverse order of contribution, beginning with the most recent contributor, until the excess funds are exhausted.

Res. No. 1213

Resolution recommending that a sister city relationship be established between New York City and Lagos.

By Council Members Pinkett, Clarke, Henry, Lopez and Marshall; also Council Members Harrison, Leffler, Michels and Wooten

Whereas, Like New York City, Lagos, the largest industrialized city in Nigeria and one of the largest in sub-Saharan Africa, is the cultural, commercial and financial center of its country and formerly its country's political center; and

Whereas, Its evolution as a city is constantly in motion, fueled by the momentum and enthusiasm of its people who continue to work towards achieving their dreams, in maintaining financial stability, educational advancement and political security in the face of great adversity—in the wake of a brutal military dictatorship that folded less than one year ago; and

Whereas, Now, with Nigeria under a new democratically elected government, Lagosians, who are known for embodying a determined and ambitious spirit, are living in an exciting time, where hope is very much alive in the historic African port city; and

Whereas, The battle for democracy, much of which was fought out in the City of Lagos, was helped tremendously by key organizations like the United Committee to Save Nigeria (U.C.S.N.) under the chairmanship of Olajumoke Ogunkeyede and the National Democratic Coalition (N.A.D.E.C.O.) and the Movement for National Reformation (N.N.R.), both under the chairmanship of Chief Anthony Enahoro; and

Whereas, Like New York City, Lagos is a mosaic of different cultures and ethnic groups and like New York it has emerged as a unique city with its own distinct characteristics; and

Whereas, Like any city of the Lagos' size, which is probably 10 to 13 million people strong, it is rife with urban problems and harbors a large indigent population that struggles to survive; and

Whereas, Now more than ever, the people and government of Lagos can benefit from the dialogue and the exchange of ideas from the people and government from a city like New York; and

Whereas, New York City can also learn from Lagos, the stories of its people, their history, perseverance and unwavering spirit; our City has already been enriched by the thousands of Nigerian-Americans and native Lagosians that have settled here; and

Whereas, Through educational and cultural exchanges on everything from government structure to social infrastructure to the arts, the cities of Lagos and New York can gain great insights from one another, promote understanding and strengthen the all-important ties between Africa and America; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Council of the City of New York recommends that a sister city relationship be established between New York City and Lagos.

HOW TO READ CR PROCUREMENT NOTICES

Procurement Notices in the CR are arranged by alphabetically listed Agencies, and within Agency, by Division if any. The notices for each Agency (or Division) are further divided into three subsections: Solicitations: Awards; and Lists & Miscellaneous notices. Each of these subsections separately lists notices pertaining to Goods, to Services, or to Construction. Notices of Public Hearings on Contract Awards appear at the end of the Procurement Section. At the end of each Agency (or Division) listing is a paragraph giving the specific address to contact to secure, examine and/or to submit bid or proposal documents, forms, plans, specifications, and other information, as well as where bids will be publicly opened and read. This address should be used for the purpose specified UNLESS a different one is given in the individual notice. In that event, the directions in the individual notice should be followed. The following is a SAMPLE notice and an explanation of the notice format used by the CR.

A job order contract is an indefinite quantity contract pursuant to which the contractor will perform a series of projects at various wastewater treatment plants and facilities within Regional Group 1 in New York City. The bid documents include a book of construction tasks with preset unit prices and related specifications. The contractors will competitively bid two adjustment factors to be applied to the unit prices. The first adjustment factor is for performing work during Normal Working Hours and a second adjustment factor is for performing work during Other Than Normal Working Hours. The cost for each individual project is determined by multiplying the preset unit prices and the appropriate quantities by one of the competitively bid adjustment factors.

Interested bidders must attend two mandatory pre-bid conferences. The first mandatory pre-bid conference will be held June 20, 2000, at 10:00 am at the Fire Department Training Academy Auditorium on Randall's Island, for the purpose of discussing the specifics of the contract, how the contract will be administered, and the type of projects that will be performed. The second mandatory pre-bid conference will be held June 23, 2000, at 10:00 am at the Fire Department Training Academy Auditorium on Randall's Island, for the purpose of discussing the book of construction tasks, unit prices, and the calculation of the adjustment factor. DEVELOPMENT TRANSITIONAL RESIDENCES FOR HOMELESS ADULTS AND FAMILIES AND DROP IN CENTERS FOR ADULTS – CSP – PIN# 071-00S003262 – The Department of Homeless Services is soliciting proposals from organizations interested in developing and operating transitional residences for homeless adults and families and drop-in centers for adults. This is an open-ended solicitation; there is no due date for submission. Proposals will be reviewed by the Department as they are received and contracts will be awarded on an on-going basis, until the agency's capacity needs are met. DHS reserves the right to award a contract on the basis of initial offers received without discussion. Contracts will be awarded to responsible applicants whose negotiated offers are determined to be the most advantageous to the City, taking into consideration the price and other such factors and criteria set-fourth in the RFP. Contract award will be subject to the timely completion of contract negotiations between the agency and the selected proposer.

It is anticipated that the transitional residence contracts will range from 5 to 30 years and the drop-in centers will be for three years with one three year option to renew.

Pursuant to Section 312(c)(1)(ii) of the New York City Charter, the Competitive Sealed Bid procurement method is not the most advantageous method because judgement is required in evaluating competing proposals, and it is in the best interest of the city to require a balancing of price, quality and other factors.

Thus, pursuant to Section 3-03(c) of the Procurement Policy Board Rules, the open ended RFP will be used because the Department will select qualified providers to develop and operate transitional residences in order to address the need to create additional shelter capacity citywide. In addition, this open-ended method will provide interested applicants an opportunity to propose sites for the targeted population, as they become available for shelter development.

All proposers must meet the following minimum qualifications 1) must have a tax exempt status under 501 (c) (3) of the Internal Revenue Code and or be legally incorporated and 2) must demonstrate that they have, or can obtain by the contract start date, site control of the proposed facility location.

Any organization that believes it can provide these services may contact: Calvin Pitter, Deputy Agency Chief Contracting Officer at the Department of Homeless Services at (212) 361-8000, 33 Beaver Street 13th Flr., New York, NY 10004, to request a copy of the application, which is available for pick-up only Monday through Friday on business days between the hours of 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

DESIGN & CONSTRUCTION

■ NOTICE

DETERMINATION AND FINDINGS PURSUANT TO SECTION 201-204 OF THE EMINENT DOMAIN PROCEDURE LAW

Whereas, the acquisition in fee of certain real property for street areas described as a portion of Weed Avenue from Tysens Lane to Ebbitts Street, Cuba Avenue from Isernia Avenue to Ebbitts Street, Manila Place from Diaz Place to Ebbitts Street, Isernia Avenue from Cuba Avenue to Weed Avenue and Diaz Place from Weed Avenue to Manila Place, in the Borough of Staten Island, has been proposed by the City of New York, Department of Design and Construction and

Whereas, effective July 1, 1978, the state legislature enacted the Eminent Domain Procedure Law ("EDPL") which law provides for a uniform procedure for condemnation by municipalities and others throughout the state and

Whereas, the City of New York, acting through the Department of Design and Construction, is required to hold a public hearing to determine whether a public use would be served by the proposed acquisition of the above mentioned property and the impact of such acquisition on the environment and residents of the locality where the project is to be constructed, and,

Whereas, the Department of Design and Construction held such hearing on March 22, 2000 at its offices on 4434 Amboy Road, in the Borough of Staten Island.

Now therefore, be it known that the Department of Design and Construction pursuant to section 204 of the EDPL determines and finds:

1. The public use of this project is to acquire fee title to the described properties for the construction of public streets, sidewalks, and curbs, and for the installation of new storm sewer to alleviate the flooding in the area.

2. The location of the proposed acquisition is Weed Avenue from Tysens Lane to Ebbitts Street, Cuba Avenue from Isernia Avenue to Ebbitts Street, Manila Place from Diaz Place to Ebbitts Street, Isernia Avenue from Cuba Avenue to Weed Avenue and Diaz Place from Weed Avenue to Manila Place, in the Borough of Staten Island.

3. The proposed project is consistent with local planning and environmental objectives in that it provides for the construction of streets with sidewalks, roadways, curbs and lights and drainage structures together with street grading. All streets will be fully reconstructed with new asphalt pavement, sidewalks, curbs, street lighting and traffic signals, if required. The project area is below legal grade and will need to be raised in order to provide sufficient cover for the storm sewers. This will bring the street grade to the level of the surrounding community. The public project is expected to alleviate the severe flooding that has affected the area for a number of years.

4. To minimize the impact of street reconstruction, Isernia Avenue will be acquired to a right-of-way width of 50 feet, rather than the originally proposed 60 feet. The Department of Design and Construction is working to alleviate any special problems which may arise as a result of project construction.

Copies of the above determination and findings of the Department of Design and Construction are available upon request.

INVOCATION

Men and Woman of the City Council,

Tonight is the festive holiday of Purim during which we read the book of Esther. In It is contained the evil plot of Haman to exterminate a people that is "diverse and spread about the land". We celebrate the foiling of this plot even to the present day.

Let us also celebrate the privilege of living in a land dedicated to the tolerance of diversity. And let us renew our commitment to a government charged with the responsibility of preserving this tolerance.

Amen.

Council Member Povman Moved that the Invocation be spread in full upon the Minutes and adopted.

Council Member Fiala Moved that the Minutes of the Stated Meeting of Tuesday, February 8, 2000, be adopted as printed.

Communication from the Mayor — Mayor's veto and disapproval message of Introductory Number 316-A, in relation to the establishment of a grievance procedure for participants in the City's Work Experience Program.

March 13, 2000

Hon. Carlos Cuevas
City Clerk and Clerk of the Council
Municipal Building
New York, New York 10007

Dear Mr. Cuevas:

Pursuant to Section 37 of the New York City Charter, I hereby disapprove Introductory Number 316-A, in relation to the establishment of a grievance procedure for participants in the City's Work Experience Program (WEP). This legislation threatens the effective and efficient administration of WEP, would impose an unnecessary and bureaucratic mandate on City agencies and is preempted by state law.

Under this bill, WEP participants would be able to file verbal or written grievances with their agencies for any complaint they may have about their work assignments. The legislation outlines two steps, an initial hearing and then an appeals hearing, a process that could delay the start of the state mandated grievance procedure at the Human Resources Administration (HRA) for up to 30 days.

If a participant files a grievance and then refuses to work, the bill expressly forbids agencies from informing HRA of the participant's failure to work until after the grievance procedure set out in the legislation is complete. HRA is the agency charged with enforcing work requirements for WEP participants and has the ability to sanction WEP participants for the failing to comply with WEP requirements.
